Warren Appointment Hailed

Eisenhower Will Not Ask For Sales Tax

Possibility Of Levy On Manufacturers' Products Is Raised

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the administration will not ask congress for a retail sales tax which critics contend hits the little fellow harder than the millionaire.

But the President didn't rule out the possibility of a general tax on the goods that manufacturers produce—a tax which could be passed on to the public in higher prices.

Some senators immediately hit a manufacturers' tax as a concealed sales tax and expressed disappointment Eisenhower didn't bar it, too.

Tax Problem Under Study

The whole tax problem still is under study, the President told his first news conference in 10 weeks, and the goal is levies that will be fair and just and still produce the necessary revenue. He didn't say how much will be needed or whether the net result will be a boost or cut in taxes.

But he did declare Congress won't be called back into special session to boost the ceiling on the national debt unless there is "some radical change" in the government's financial situation.

A crowd of 239 reporters, overflowing into a balcony, turned out for a conference that ranged over these various topics:

Supreme court: The President announced the appointment of Gov. Earl Warren of California to be chief justice of the United States, an appointment that had been widely predicted.

Never Broke Word, Ike Says

Durkin: With a show of heat, Eisenhower said that to his knowledge he never in his life had broken an agreement with an associate and anyone with evidence to the contrary could take the floor and make a speech. That was in response to a request for his version of the resignation of Martin Durkin as secretary of labor, followed by Durkin's charge that the President had broken his word on changing the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Hydrogen bomb: Russia's H-bomb know-how, Eisenhower said, is of utmost importance to the world and makes us more interested than ever in learning Soviet intentions. The President said he will report to the American people frankly when he straightens the issue out in his own mind and reaches definite conclusions.

Army Refuses POW Mothers Trip To Korea

Plan For Personal Appeals Described As Not Practical

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP) — The Army today rejected a proposal that mothers of American soldiers who refused to return home after release from Communist prison camps be allowed to go to Korea to plead personally with their sons.

In a statement, the Army said it considered the proposal "neither practical nor advisable."

Zone Under U. N. Command

Among other factors, the Army said, the militarized zone where the men would be interviewed by their relatives is not under United States but under United Nations command and the men themselves are in the custody of the Neutral Repatriation Commission.

The Army said that under the armistice agreement the United States has the authority to explain to the men their rights as American citizens and soldiers and the fact that they are still free to return to the United States.

Teams To Make Explanations

These explanations will be made by "explainer teams" which, under the armistice terms, are limited to seven men per 1000 nonrepatriated. This provision, the Army commented, "restricts the number of persons who may participate in such explanations."

The Army statement said:

"We are doing everything we can to assure that the explanations are made free from any duress or coercion from the other side and in an atmosphere most favorable for each of these 23 men to exercise his right of free choice. No man will fail to return home unless it is by his own free will."

Dock Strike Set; President Hints T-H Intervention

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower hinted today he may invoke the Taft-Hartley law against a costly East Coast dock strike set for midnight tonight.

The law provides an 80-day cooling off period.

However, there was some question whether government could get a Taft-Hartley injunction through the courts in the few remaining hours before the strike deadline. Strike leaders have said they will abide by an injunction, if one is issued.

Eisenhower told a news conference the Labor Department is preparing to advise him on a course of action.

Talks Deadlocked

Shortly after noon, the International Longshoremen's Association announced that wage contract talks still were deadlocked. The old contract expires at midnight.

"The strike is on," said Patrick J. Connolly, the union's executive vice president. "We're setting up a strike committee.

"Every port from Portland, Me., to Hampton Roads, Va., will be shut down at midnight tonight."

Tugboat crewmen were expected to back up striking longshoremen and further cripple the world's largest port.

A 1951 wildcat strike of the same union lasted 25 days, tied up a billion dollars worth of cargo and cost the Port of New York alone 40 million dollars in losses.

Strike Aimed At 12 Cities

A new strike is expected to cost $1,500,000 a day and—if prolonged—to affect 800,000 persons in New York alone whose jobs depend in whole or in part on the shipping industry.

The new strike is aimed at 12 Eastern seaboard cities — New York; Portland; Boston; Providence, R. I.; New London, New Haven and Bridgeport, Conn.; Wilmington, Del.; Philadelphia and Chester, Pa.; Baltimore, Md.; and Hampton Roads.

This time the ILA was without the support of the AFL, which kicked the union out last week for racketeering.

Average 63 Years

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP) — The average age of the nine Supreme Court justices, with the new Chief Justice Earl Warren on the bench, will be 63 years.

This compares with an average age of about 71½ in 1937 when President Roosevelt sought unsuccessfully to enlarge the court at that time referred to as "the nine old men."

Vishinsky Warns Action May Doom Peace Meeting

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—The U. N. Political Committee beat down today a new Soviet bloc attempt to force an immediate and full debate in the U. N. Assembly on the Korean peace conference.

Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky had warned that this action doubtless would doom the peace conference. But the 60-nation committee ignored his statement that there was little possibility that the parley would be held at all unless the committee reconsidered last month's Assembly decision barring neutrals from it.

By a vote of 48-6, the committee put the Korean issue at the bottom of a list of seven items before the committee. This meant Korea will not be taken up until some time late in November at the earliest, well after the Oct. 28 deadline set for opening the peace talks, unless the delegates decide to revise its work program.

Moroccan Debate Oct. 7

The committee delegates adjourned until Oct. 7 when they may start debate on the French Moroccan question.

Just before the session ended, Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., United States, declared that if Communist China and North Korea believe the issue is urgent they should send their representatives to meet U. N. representatives and arrange to start the peace talks.

Vishinsky, who accused the majority of acting like "sleeping beauty" and trying to "pigeonhole" the Korean issue, replied that Lodge had addressed his remarks to the wrong place. He said Lodge should talk to the belligerents and not to "any one here."

Lodge snapped back that an "international filibuster" apparently is in progress. He charged the Reds were using dilatory tactics in seeking to have the U. N. re-debate and reconsider decisions made just a month ago.

Red Signal Charge Charged

Lodge also accused the Communists of changing signals. He said that during the armistice negotiations they insisted only the belligerents should take part in the peace conference but now they want it enlarged to include neutrals. The Reds have proposed that India, the Soviet Union, Burma, Pakistan and Indonesia take part.

Vishinsky vigorously denied any change by the Communists. He held up the armistice agreement and challenged Lodge to "show me" where the Communist side agreed to limit it to belligerents. Lodge leaned over and pointed "right there," indicating paragraph 60 of the armistice agreement. Lodge maintains that paragraph limits the conference to those who fought in the war, but Vishinsky said it does not.

Calif. Governor Is Named Chief Justice By Ike

Republican, Chosen To Succeed Vinson, Takes Over Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP) — Earl Warren, attorney and California governor but never before a judge, was named today the 14th chief justice of the United States.

President Eisenhower announced his selection of Warren to succeed the late Fred M. Vinson, whose unexpected death Sept. 8 opened the way for the first Supreme Court appointment by a Republican president in 20 years.

In Warren, the President picked a man whose political philosophy is generally considered middle-of-the-road—a lifelong Republican but one with such liberal views that former President Truman once said "He's really a Democrat and doesn't know it."

Warren Wires Acceptance

From Sacramento, Warren promptly wired his acceptance of the appointment and told newsmen he would assume the new post Monday.

On that day the court opens its regular fall term facing decisions on a number of important issues. Top among them is the validity of segregation of white and Negro pupils in public schools, which will be argued a second time in December.

Warren has supported a federal fair employment practices law and has tried unsuccessfully to have a similar measure passed in California. He has expressed the view that the prime purpose of government is "to insure equal opportunity in life for Americans of every racial origin and creed."

Appointment Praised

He has spoken strongly against Communist infiltration, but has also criticized "the blanket accusations" of Communist activity made by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Such comment as was available immediately highly favored the Warren appointment.

Eisenhower expressed confidence that Warren will make a great chief justice. In New York, Gov. Dewey called it "a fine appointment" and said Warren "will make a superb chief justice."

Sen. Ives (R-NY) and Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo) called it "excellent," as did Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee. Sen. Green (D-RI) said he hoped Warren "will make a good chief justice."

Silence Cloaks Fate Of Kidnaped 6-Year-Old Boy

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 30 (AP)—An ominous silence closed in tonight about the fate of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease whose wealthy parents waited in the seclusion of their fashionable home for his kidnapers to make a ransom move.

The trail of the son of Robert C. Greenlease, multi-millionaire automobile dealer outwardly led nowhere two days after his abduction from a private Catholic school here by a woman who passed herself off as his aunt.

Police Believe Boy Alive

Police retained a hands-off attitude. But they indicated they had reason to believe the brown-haired boy still was alive.

Police Chief Bernard Brannon said:

"If there was reason to believe otherwise we would take the wraps off. Right now we are giving the family a chance to deal with the kidnapers. After all the child's life is the important thing."

Today appeared to be one of watchful waiting for the parents. Their big home was closed to visitors. Inside Mrs. Greenlease, the mother who is in her mid-40s, still was under a physician's care.

Phone Line Kept Open

Police were significantly quiet, too. They insisted they had no new clues. The family said it has not been in contact with the kidnapers.

But the telephone line into the home was kept open in hopes the kidnaper or kidnapers would get in touch with the 71-year-old father, reputedly one of the 10 richest men in Kansas City.

The father has expressed willingness to go to any length to get his son back. He has made arrangements to get currency to meet a heavy ransom demand, day or night.

British Warships Collide; 32 Hurt

LONDON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Two British warships crippled themselves by colliding in the darkness of the North Atlantic early today during naval exercises testing the free world's sea defenses.

Thirty-two sailors aboard the 8,000 ton cruiser Swiftsure were injured. The Swiftsure suffered extensive damage on the starboard side around the bridge structure. Some ammunition was exploded, a dispatch from the scene said, and fire broke out, but was quickly extinguished.

The other vessel was the 2,610-ton destroyer Diamond, the first warship added to the royal Navy under Queen Elizabeth II. The Diamond suffered damage forward, but no casualties among her personnel.

The collision occurred south of Iceland as the two ships, blacked out from stem to stern to simulate wartime conditions, plowed through towering seas to refuel before joining other units of an "enemy striking force" assigned to attack Allied shipping in the giant NATO exercises.

Alan Ladd Breaks Ankle Bone While Playing With Son

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Alan Ladd, rugged movie hero, broke a bone in his right ankle yesterday while playing with his 6-year-old son, David, in an Ottawa hotel room.

The actor boarded the liner Queen Elizabeth in a wheelchair today on his way to Spain to make a picture. He was accompanied by his wife, the boy, and daughter Alana.

Ladd said he tripped over a chair while playing with the boy. The accident happened just after Ladd completed without a scratch a movie in which he played a Royal Canadian mounted policeman and engaged in vigorous horseback riding and "fights" with villains.

Bickering Delays POW Interviews

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Oct. 1 (AP)—Bickering today put off indefinitely the questioning of nearly 23,000 Korean War prisoners—a vast majority of them anti-Communist—who refuse to go home.

The U. N. command drafted a protest that the decision on rules of procedure, announced Wednesday by the five-nation Neutral repatriation Commission, gave in to every Communist demand.

"The Communists got everything but the lists of names of the prisoners," an Allied spokesman declared after a first look at rules compelling each prisoner to listen to explanations whether he wants to or not.

Explanations had been due to begin Sept. 23, were first put off until last Saturday and then until today.

France Receives U. S. Aid To Push Indochina War

PARIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Assured of a stronger French war effort, the United States came through today with a 385 million dollar increase in its contributions to help crush the Communists in Indochina.

The two nations jointly announced plans to step up the campaign against the Red-led Vietminh and a Foreign Ministry spokesman said France will never negotiate for a settlement of the 7-year-old war without participation of the United States.

Weeks Of Negotiations

The formal announcement of the extra aid agreement climaxed weeks of intensive French-American negotiations. The 385 million dollars will be spent over the next 15 months to buy guns, ammunition, planes and other equipment for the French and their Indochinese allies.

The U. S. National Security Council recommended the arrangement to back up an allocation of 400 million dollars voted by Congress earlier this year for defense of Southeast Asia's strategic gateway. President Eisenhower approved it, despite his administration's determination to economize and keep foreign aid at a minimum.

8,100 Men To Be Transferred

The French intend to send nine battalions of troops—8,100 men—from Europe to join the French Union forces and to speed recruiting for the armies of the Associated States of Indochina, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. The newspaper Le Monde said the reinforcing battalions will be made up of Moroccans and Algerians now stationed in Germany.

France does not send French conscripts to Indochina. She uses the Foreign Legion, African troops and only volunteers from metropolitan France. Regular French army officers are in command.

Two 4-Year-Old Boys Die In Old Ice Box

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 30 (AP) — Two 4-year-old boys died tonight within minutes after they were found locked inside an abandoned ice box.

They were Andrew Stachen and Harold Cooney who were discovered by a neighbor after dozens of persons had searched for them for more than four hours.

Death Demanded For Farouk Aide

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 30 (AP)—The prosecution today demanded a death sentence for ex-Premier Ibrahim Abdel Hadi, 57, accused before a revolutionary court of high treason and other crimes dating back to his service as the chief of King Farouk's royal cabinet.

Hadi declined an order by the three-man court to testify concerning his side of the case, protesting: "I have not the means and facilities to defend myself. My fate is in your hands."

His lawyer, Mustafa Mareis, withdrew yesterday, charging that the court had not given him sufficient time to present the defense in this first of a series of treason trials ordered by President Gen. Mohamed Naguib's government two weeks ago.

The court, headed by War Minister Abdel Latif Baghdady, may deliver its verdict tomorrow. Two dozen other cases are pending before it. The judges are hearing only in secret key testimony concerning a purported plot by some foreign power, never officially identified, to promote a counter-revolution that would restore Farouk to the throne he lost 14 months ago.

Interstate Phone Rates Increased

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commisper cent boost in interstate long distance telephone rates effective at midnight tonight.

The new schedules provide for increases of 5 to 10 cents in the initial 3-minute period rates for night and Sunday calls involving most distances between 41 and 2,300 miles.

The Bell Telephone System, comprising the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and its subsidiaries, had requested the increase last month.

The FCC said it had considered protests by some telephone users, but decided that the raises were justified. The agency estimated the changes will give the Bell System about 65 million dollars more revenue a year.

Cooler Air Chases Autumn Heat Wave

(By The Associated Press)

Cooler air from the Pacific spread across the Midwest Wednesday in the wake of a record-breaking autumn heat wave.

Afternoon temperatures ranged from the 60s in the Northern Lakes to the 70s in the Lower Lakes and Central Plains.

Hot weather continued south of the Ohio Valley and in the Southern Plains states with readings in the 90s or higher.

Temperatures were near normal in the East and West.

Polar Warning System

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—First experimental units of a new type radar system, designed to give at least six hours warning of aircraft approaching over the North Pole, are nearing completion in the polar region, the Western Electric Co. reported today.

Ike Makes History Of Sort By Uttering "No Comment"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—At 11:44 a.m. today President Eisenhower made history of a sort.

For at that precise moment he used, for the first time, those two little words so beloved by public officials.

No comment, said President Eisenhower.

Until that moment he had avoided those two words for 14½ news conferences.

Eisenhower showed he was aware he was adding a footnote to history.

He was asked what qualifications he was looking for in a secretary of labor. Apparently he felt this would reopen the controversy on who said what to whom in the events leading to the resignation of Martin P. Durkin.

For Eisenhower said he was going to do something he never had done before. No comment, he said.

And yet, oddly, he didn't make it stick. For later he was asked if he wanted to give his views on the Durkin resignation.

First, he said he wasn't going to get into personalities. Then he said he could say this: that no one could say he knowingly ever had broken his word.

At this point he invited reporters to get into the act. If anyone here, the President said, knew of his breaking his word, he could have the floor and make a speech.

Nobody took the floor.

It's strange about news. Probably Eisenhower never has given out any more important news than the item he gave reporters today; that he had named Gov. Earl Warren of California chief justice of the United States.

Yet do you know how he broke it?

At the start of the conference, after a joking reference to the importance of the World Series, he said he was confirming what had been in the newspapers, and that Warren would get the position.

President Is World's No. 1 Public Relations Man, Truman Says

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said today "the most important public relations man in the world is the president of the United States."

"He spends more time kissing people than anybody in the world trying to get them to do the things that they ought to do anyway," Truman told the 39th annual convention of the National Consumer Finance Association.

Truman said he was asked recently how it felt to be a private citizen but "I couldn't tell them because I haven't gotten there yet." The reception he has received since he left the White House has been such, Truman said, "that I have begun to think that even kindness can be a burden."

Revenue Office Places Lien On Haymes' Pay

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30 (AP)—The U. S. internal revenue office here said today it had placed a lien on singer Dick Haymes' night club salary to apply against his unpaid income taxes.

Joseph Mayer, director of the Eastern Pennsylvania district, said the Internal Revenue Service's California office "asked us to collect $9,600 in back income taxes owed by Haymes."

Haymes, who married Hollywood film star Rita Hayworth in Las Vegas, Nev., last week, is appearing at the Latin Casino, a night club here. Owner Dallas Gerson confirmed Haymes' salary was being withheld on orders of the government.

"Hal" Block Fined $30

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP) — Harold (Hal) Block, radio and television figure, paid $30 in fines today after a judge convicted him of speeding and driving without a driver's license. A charge of drunken driving was dismissed.

Piccards Plunge Two Miles Beneath Sea, New Record

ISLAND OF PONZA, Italy, Sept. 30 (AP)—Two miles beneath the surface of the sea there is a grave-like calm and stygian blackness broken only by ghostly flickers of phosphorescence hinting at unknown forms of life.

That was the word brought back today by Prof. Auguste Piccard and his son, Jacques, from the greatest depth living man has ever reached.

"There was nothing else to see," the frail, 69-year-old professor said when he returned to the surface in the steel diving boat he calls a bathyscafe. "Even our powerful searchlight greyed away in the silent, sunless darkness of the abyss."

The wispy scientist, who 20 years ago invaded the stratosphere by flying up 10 miles in a balloon, bobbed back to the rain-swept surface of the Tyrrenhian Sea too excited and too tired to tell of his experiences immediately.

He cupped his oil-stained hands and howled gleefully across 100 feet of sea to correspondents in an Italian corvette:

"Three thousand one hundred and fifty meters!"

That's 10,339 feet — only a bit under two miles.

Later, rested, Piccard talked eagerly.

"We are so happy," he said. "So happy — and so tired.

"But that doesn't matter. I can tell you nothing now, scientifically. Not until we can study the instruments and the results of this test.

"But one thing is certain: Our adventure does not end here. Science never has a point of beginning and a point of end. We have just reached the greatest depth in the Mediterranean. But we have not yet gone as far as the bathyscafe is capable of going."

No Real Labor Party Unity, Action Shows

MARGATE, England, Sept. 30 (AP)—Britain's big trade unions today bludgeoned the Labor party conference into rejecting overwhelmingly resolutions calling for nationalization of the land and vast new sections of industry.

Arthur Deakin, head of the giant transport and general workers union, led the assault against the leftist-sponsored resolutions.

In doing so, he proved these two things:

1. There is no real unity in the Labor party, regardless of the attempts to present a picture of harmony.

2. Deakin emerged as the policy determining power at this conference.

The Reds have proposed that India, the Soviet Union, Burma, Pakistan and Indonesia take part.

Vishinsky vigorously denied any change by the Communists. He held up the armistice agreement and challenged Lodge to "show me" where the Communist side agreed to limit it to belligerents. Lodge leaned over and pointed "right there," indicating paragraph 60 of the armistice agreement. Lodge maintains that paragraph limits the conference to those who fought in the war, but Vishinsky said it does not.

Calif. Governor Is Named Chief Justice By Ike

Republican, Chosen To Succeed Vinson, Takes Over Monday

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP) — Earl Warren, attorney and California governor but never before a judge, was named today the 14th chief justice of the United States.

President Eisenhower announced his selection of Warren to succeed the late Fred M. Vinson, whose unexpected death Sept. 8 opened the way for the first Supreme Court appointment by a Republican president in 20 years.

In Warren, the President picked a man whose political philosophy is generally considered middle-of-the-road—a lifelong Republican but one with such liberal views that former President Truman once said "He's really a Democrat and doesn't know it."

Warren Wires Acceptance

From Sacramento, Warren promptly wired his acceptance of the appointment and told newsmen he would assume the new post Monday.

On that day the court opens its regular fall term facing decisions on a number of important issues. Top among them is the validity of segregation of white and Negro pupils in public schools, which will be argued a second time in December.

Warren has supported a federal fair employment practices law and has tried unsuccessfully to have a similar measure passed in California. He has expressed the view that the prime purpose of government is "to insure equal opportunity in life for Americans of every racial origin and creed."

Appointment Praised

He has spoken strongly against Communist infiltration, but has also criticized "the blanket accusations" of Communist activity made by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Such comment as was available immediately highly favored the Warren appointment.

Eisenhower expressed confidence that Warren will make a great chief justice. In New York, Gov. Dewey called it "a fine appointment" and said Warren "will make a superb chief justice."

Sen. Ives (R-NY) and Sen. Hunt (D-Wyo) called it "excellent," as did Adlai Stevenson, the 1952 Democratic presidential nominee. Sen. Green (D-RI) said he hoped Warren "will make a good chief justice."

Silence Cloaks Fate Of Kidnaped 6-Year-Old Boy

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 30 (AP)—An ominous silence closed in tonight about the fate of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease whose wealthy parents waited in the seclusion of their fashionable home for his kidnapers to make a ransom move.

The trail of the son of Robert C. Greenlease, multi-millionaire automobile dealer outwardly led nowhere two days after his abduction from a private Catholic school here by a woman who passed herself off as his aunt.

Police Believe Boy Alive

Police retained a hands-off attitude. But they indicated they had reason to believe the brown-haired boy still was alive.

Police Chief Bernard Brannon said:

"If there was reason to believe otherwise we would take the wraps off. Right now we are giving the family a chance to deal with the kidnapers. After all the child's life is the important thing."

Today appeared to be one of watchful waiting for the parents. Their big home was closed to visitors. Inside Mrs. Greenlease, the mother who is in her mid-40s, still was under a physician's care.

Phone Line Kept Open

Police were significantly quiet, too. They insisted they had no new clues. The family said it has not been in contact with the kidnapers.

But the telephone line into the home was kept open in hopes the kidnaper or kidnapers would get in touch with the 71-year-old father, reputedly one of the 10 richest men in Kansas City.

The father has expressed willingness to go to any length to get his son back. He has made arrangements to get currency to meet a heavy ransom demand, day or night.

Alan Ladd Breaks Ankle Bone While Playing With Son

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Alan Ladd, rugged movie hero, broke a bone in his right ankle yesterday while playing with his 6-year-old son, David, in an Ottawa hotel room.

The actor boarded the liner Queen Elizabeth in a wheelchair today on his way to Spain to make a picture. He was accompanied by his wife, the boy, and daughter Alana.

Ladd said he tripped over a chair while playing with the boy. The accident happened just after Ladd completed without a scratch a movie in which he played a Royal Canadian mounted policeman and engaged in vigorous horseback riding and "fights" with villains.

Bickering Delays POW Interviews

PANMUNJOM, Thursday, Oct. 1 (AP)—Bickering today put off indefinitely the questioning of nearly 23,000 Korean War prisoners—a vast majority of them anti-Communist—who refuse to go home.

The U. N. command drafted a protest that the decision on rules of procedure, announced Wednesday by the five-nation Neutral repatriation Commission, gave in to every Communist demand.

"The Communists got everything but the lists of names of the prisoners," an Allied spokesman declared after a first look at rules compelling each prisoner to listen to explanations whether he wants to or not.

Explanations had been due to begin Sept. 23, were first put off until last Saturday and then until today.

Revenue Office Places Lien On Haymes' Pay

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 30 (AP)—The U. S. internal revenue office here said today it had placed a lien on singer Dick Haymes' night club salary to apply against his unpaid income taxes.

Joseph Mayer, director of the Eastern Pennsylvania district, said the Internal Revenue Service's California office "asked us to collect $9,600 in back income taxes owed by Haymes."

Haymes, who married Hollywood film star Rita Hayworth in Las Vegas, Nev., last week, is appearing at the Latin Casino, a night club here. Owner Dallas Gerson confirmed Haymes' salary was being withheld on orders of the government.

"Hal" Block Fined $30

France Receives U. S. Aid To Push Indochina War

PARIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Assured of a stronger French war effort, the United States came through today with a 385 million dollar increase in its contributions to help crush the Communists in Indochina.

The two nations jointly announced plans to step up the campaign against the Red-led Vietminh and a Foreign Ministry spokesman said France will never negotiate for a settlement of the 7-year-old war without participation of the United States.

Weeks Of Negotiations

The formal announcement of the extra aid agreement climaxed weeks of intensive French-American negotiations. The 385 million dollars will be spent over the next 15 months to buy guns, ammunition, planes and other equipment for the French and their Indochinese allies.

The U. S. National Security Council recommended the arrangement to back up an allocation of 400 million dollars voted by Congress earlier this year for defense of Southeast Asia's strategic gateway. President Eisenhower approved it, despite his administration's determination to economize and keep foreign aid at a minimum.

8,100 Men To Be Transferred

The French intend to send nine battalions of troops—8,100 men—from Europe to join the French Union forces and to speed recruiting for the armies of the Associated States of Indochina, Viet Nam, Laos and Cambodia. The newspaper Le Monde said the reinforcing battalions will be made up of Moroccans and Algerians now stationed in Germany.

France does not send French conscripts to Indochina. She uses the Foreign Legion, African troops and only volunteers from metropolitan France. Regular French army officers are in command.

Two 4-Year-Old Boys Die In Old Ice Box

WINDSOR, Ont., Sept. 30 (AP) — Two 4-year-old boys died tonight within minutes after they were found locked inside an abandoned ice box.

They were Andrew Stachen and Harold Cooney who were discovered by a neighbor after dozens of persons had searched for them for more than four hours.

Death Demanded For Farouk Aide

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 30 (AP)—The prosecution today demanded a death sentence for ex-Premier Ibrahim Abdel Hadi, 57, accused before a revolutionary court of high treason and other crimes dating back to his service as the chief of King Farouk's royal cabinet.

Hadi declined an order by the three-man court to testify concerning his side of the case, protesting: "I have not the means and facilities to defend myself. My fate is in your hands."

His lawyer, Mustafa Mareis, withdrew yesterday, charging that the court had not given him sufficient time to present the defense in this first of a series of treason trials ordered by President Gen. Mohamed Naguib's government two weeks ago.

The court, headed by War Minister Abdel Latif Baghdady, may deliver its verdict tomorrow. Two dozen other cases are pending before it. The judges are hearing only in secret key testimony concerning a purported plot by some foreign power, never officially identified, to promote a counter-revolution that would restore Farouk to the throne he lost 14 months ago.

Interstate Phone Rates Increased

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Federal Communications Commisper cent boost in interstate long distance telephone rates effective at midnight tonight.

The new schedules provide for increases of 5 to 10 cents in the initial 3-minute period rates for night and Sunday calls involving most distances between 41 and 2,300 miles.

The Bell Telephone System, comprising the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. and its subsidiaries, had requested the increase last month.

The FCC said it had considered protests by some telephone users, but decided that the raises were justified. The agency estimated the changes will give the Bell System about 65 million dollars more revenue a year.

Cooler Air Chases Autumn Heat Wave

[By The Associated Press]

Cooler air from the Pacific spread across the Midwest Wednesday in the wake of a record-breaking autumn heat wave.

Afternoon temperatures ranged from the 60s in the Northern Lakes to the 70s in the Lower Lakes and Central Plains.

Hot weather continued south of the Ohio Valley and in the Southern Plains states with readings in the 90s or higher.

Temperatures were near normal in the East and West.

Polar Warning System

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—First experimental units of a new type radar system, designed to give at least six hours warning of aircraft approaching over the North Pole, are nearing completion in the polar region, the Western Electric Co. reported today.

Ike Makes History Of Sort By Uttering "No Comment"

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—At 11:44 a.m. today President Eisenhower made history of a sort.

For at that precise moment he used, for the first time, those two little words so beloved by public officials.

No comment, said President Eisenhower.

Until that moment he had avoided those two words for 14½ news conferences.

Eisenhower showed he was aware he was adding a footnote to history.

He was asked what qualifications he was looking for in a secretary of labor. Apparently he felt this would reopen the controversy on who said what to whom in the events leading to the resignation of Martin P. Durkin.

For Eisenhower said he was going to do something he never had done before. No comment, he said.

And yet, oddly, he didn't make it stick. For later he was asked if he wanted to give his views on the Durkin resignation.

First, he said he wasn't going to get into personalities. Then he said he could say this: that no one could say he knowingly ever had broken his word.

At this point he invited reporters to get into the act. If anyone here, the President said, knew of his breaking his word, he could have the floor and make a speech.

Nobody took the floor.

It's strange about news. Probably Eisenhower never has given out any more important news than the item he gave reporters today: that he had named Gov. Earl Warren of California chief justice of the United States.

Yet do you know how he broke it?

At the start of the conference, after a joking reference to the importance of the World Series, he said he was confirming what had been in the newspapers, and that Warren would get the position.

President Is World's No. 1 Public Relations Man, Truman Says

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman said today "the most important public relations man in the world is the president of the United States."

"He spends more time kissing people than anybody in the world trying to get them to do the things that they ought to do anyway," Truman told the 39th annual convention of the National Consumer Finance Association.

Truman said he was asked recently how it felt to be a private citizen but "I couldn't tell them because I haven't gotten there yet." The reception he has received since he left the White House has been such, Truman said, "that I have begun to think that even kindness can be a burden."

Moose Leader Dies

AURORA, Ill., Sept. 30 (AP)—Malcolm R. Giles, 59, director general of the Loyal Order of Moose, died of a heart attack.

Piccards Plunge Two Miles Beneath Sea, New Record

ISLAND OF PONZA, Italy, Sept. 30 (AP)—Two miles beneath the surface of the sea there is a grave-like calm and stygian blackness broken only by ghostly flickers of phosphorescence hinting at unknown forms of life.

That was the word brought back today by Prof. Auguste Piccard and his son, Jacques, from the greatest depth living man has ever reached.

"There was nothing else to see," the frail, 69-year-old professor said when he returned to the surface in the steel diving boat he calls a bathyscafe. "Even our powerful searchlight greyed away in the silent, sunless darkness of the abyss."

The wispy scientist, who 20 years ago invaded the stratosphere by flying up 10 miles in a balloon, bobbed back to the rain-swept surface of the Tyrrenhian Sea too excited and too tired to tell of his experiences immediately.

He cupped his oil-stained hands and howled gleefully across 100 feet of sea to correspondents in an Italian corvette:

"Three thousand one hundred and fifty meters!"

That's 10,339 feet — only a bit under two miles.

Later, rested, Piccard talked eagerly.

"We are so happy," he said. "So happy — and so tired.

"But that doesn't matter. I can tell you nothing now, scientifically. Not until we can study the instruments and the results of this test.

"But one thing is certain: Our adventure does not end here. Science never has a point of beginning and a point of end. We have just reached the greatest depth in the Mediterranean. But we have not yet gone as far as the bathyscafe is capable of going."

No Real Labor Party Unity, Action Shows

MARGATE, England, Sept. 30 (AP)—Britain's big trade unions today bludgeoned the Labor party conference into rejecting overwhelmingly resolutions calling for nationalization of the land and vast new sections of industry.

Arthur Deakin, head of the giant transport and general workers union, led the assault against the leftist-sponsored resolutions.

In doing so, he proved these two things:

1. There is no real unity in the Labor party, regardless of the attempts to present a picture of harmony.

2. Deakin emerged as the policy determining power at this conference.

Gen. Patton's Widow, 67, Killed In Fall From Horse

Simulated Hunt Ends In Tragedy

HAMILTON, Mass., Sept. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Beatrice Ayer Patton, 67, widow of Gen. George S. Patton of World War II fame, plunged to swift death today from the saddle of a spirited hunter.

Ironically, the chestnut gelding was sired by one of several German thoroughbreds the general saved from destruction and sent to this country. Mrs. Patton purchased the mount about a year ago.

The direct cause of death was attributed to a ruptured blood vessel near the heart. Medical Examiner Whitman G. Stickney said he believed the fall responsible, but conceded that in a woman Mrs. Patton's age, there was a remote possibility the rupture occurred earlier. Such an injury, he said, is almost instantly fatal.

Dr. Stickney listed death as accidental. It occurred shortly after the start of an early morning drag hunt—a simulated fox hunt—from exclusive Myopia Hunt Club.

Such hunts are held by the club as often as thrice weekly, and Mrs. Patton, vigorous for her years, participated in all of them when at her nearby Hamilton home.

Mrs. Patton's brother, Frederick Ayer, and his wife were close behind and they jumped to the ground as they saw her fall. Mrs. Patton's head was in her brother's lap when she died.

Mrs. Gordon C. Prince of Wenham, a physician, also was riding on the hunt and she said:

"We had just taken the first jump and were nearing the second jump near the top of a hill when a riderless horse went past me. I turned around and rode back and saw Mrs. Patton on the ground.

"I felt her pulse. I could get neither pulse nor heartbeat. I knew she was gone."

Mrs. Patton's death was another in a series of fatal accidents to members of her family.

Her famous husband died in a jeep accident in Mannheim, Germany, enroute to a hunting trip in 1945 and Mrs. Patton's niece, Mrs. Gilbert Steward, was killed in a fall from a horse while riding out of this same Myopia Hunt Club in 1951. Mrs. Steward was the daughter of Charles Ayer, Mrs. Patton's brother.

MITE SURVIVES RARE OPERATION—Doctors said a rare operation—one they called the first of its kind—saved the life of Colleen Gale Johnson, who sleeps peacefully in the arms of her mother, Mrs. Charles Johnson, at American Hospital, Chicago. Colleen was born Sept. 22 and it was found that her pancreas gland was wrapped tightly around the duodenum, which leads from the stomach into the intestines. Dr. Paul M. Egel, hospital surgeon, said examination showed the baby would die without corrective surgery which he performed when Colleen was two days old.

'Ledge Woman' Sent To Mental Hospital

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—A woman who terrified thousands by threatening to jump from the 20th floor of Tribune Tower was committed to a state hospital today for mental treatment.

She is Miss Millicent Armin, 36, whose two-hour self imprisonment on a ledge of the skyscraper was viewed over television a week ago today.

County Judge John C. Cowing committed her to a hospital after her father, Sigmund, said he could not afford private hospital treatment.

100,000 NATO Troops Battle "A-Invasion"

NAPLES, Italy, Sept. 30 (AP)—More than 100,000 fighting men of five North Atlantic treaty nations went into action today in a make-believe defense against an atomic war waged from east of the Iron Curtain.

It's part of "Operation Weldfast," a training maneuver to weld the land, sea and air forces of Turkey, Greece, Italy, the United States and Britain into a firm defense of the East and Central Mediterranean.

Bohlen Moscow-Bound

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Charles E. Bohlen, United States ambassador to the Soviet Union, left Idlewild Airport today enroute back to Moscow after two days of consultations in Washington.

He's Going Straight

Youngster, 9, Decides He'll End Safecracking Career

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—A cute little boy of nine took stock of himself today and decided to give up a budding career of safecracking and burglary.

"I want to go straight," the lad told police here. "I want to get on the smooth road."

The boy, not named because of his age, was picked up early this week as the leader of a gang of small boys who netted $1,330 in 29 burglaries since last February.

Detectives said the youngsters learned the lingo of gangland from television and acted at the station house like seasoned underworld thugs.

The blond 9-year-old cracked a police department safe in a demonstration that had veteran cops wide-eyed.

"I listen to the tumblers fall in place," the boy explained.

In questioning the boy, cops asked him:

"What were you taught in school about boys who tell lies?"

"They go to hell," replied the little prisoner.

"Where do good boys go?"

"To heaven."

"Well, where do you think you'll go?"

"I guess I'll go to hell," said the boy.

Detective Charles McKay said the juvenile gangsters "don't realize what they did."

"They're good kids," he added. "The trouble is they didn't have enough to keep their minds occupied or to expend their energy. They'll grow up and be swell citizens.

"All these kids have TV sets. When they came in here to the police station they all knew their rights—knew they didn't have to talk and that they could demand lawyers."

Balkan Defense Pact Agreement Reached

BELGRADE, Sept. 30 (AP) — The Balkan alliance of Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia reached agreement today on the machinery for operating their mutual defense pact.

Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency, reported that a full text, covering the establishment of a permanent secretariat for the alliance, had been sent to the Greek and Turkish governments and would be made public next month.

The secretariat will begin functioning next month when representatives of the three countries meet here.

Reynolds Hurts Back, May Not Pitch In Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Allie Reynolds, star Yankee righthander hurt his back in the third inning today and may be through for the series.

The chief said after today's game that he wrenched his back in the third inning "and this may finish me for the series."

Manager Casey Stengel was downcast about the injury but hopeful that he might be able to get a little more help from his ace.

"Maybe I'll stick him in there to strike out one man in a pinch," said Stengel.

Collis Heads Guild

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP) — Joseph F. Collis, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., newsman, was elected president of Guild today by a narrow margin over Harry Martin of Memphis, Tenn.

Ike Declares He Never Broke His Word To Durkin

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP) — President Eisenhower insisted angrily today he never knowingly broke his word in his life—a reply to charges made by his resigned secretary of labor, Martin Durkin.

Durkin, an AFL union leader and Democrat, quit three weeks ago and accused Eisenhower of breaking a pledge to recommend to Congress a set of union-wanted amendments to the Taft-Hartley law.

Asked for his version of the controversy, Eisenhower told a news conference he always refused to engage in personalities but he would say this: To his knowledge, he'd never broken an agreement with any associate in his life.

With eyes flashing and jaw jutting, Eisenhower went on to say that if he ever had broken an agreement it was something he never understood had been made.

The President then challenged anyone at his news conference who had evidence to the contrary, to take the floor and make a speech. No one spoke up.

Durkin, asked for comment on Eisenhower's remarks, said he still stood on his statement to the AFL convention in St. Louis on Sept. 22. In that speech Durkin said Eisenhower gave his word personally at a New York City meeting Aug. 19 to provide administration support for a series of 19 proposed Taft-Hartley law amendments. Later, Durkin told the AFL convention, Eisenhower changed his mind and informed him he couldn't go along with the amendments.

"My answer is the same as it was on the 22nd," Durkin told a reporter today after hearing of Eisenhower's remarks.

Thus the controversy seems to have boiled down to a "you did, I didn't" standoff.

Yugoslavia Charges Italian Air Violations

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 30 (AP) — Yugoslavia claimed tonight Italian military planes violated this country's air space three times today.

The official radio reported the actions brought to 10 the number of such violations since late August when Italian troops were sent to the border after reports spread that this country planned to annex the Trieste B zone.

Lloyd Uses Bebop In Commenting On Vishinsky Tirade

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Britain's Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd slipped from his usually meticulous English today to indulge in a little bebop language in commenting on Andrei Y. Vishinsky's tirade against U. N. proposals for a Korean peace conference.

"If I may use the idiom of bebop, dig that broken record," Lloyd remarked, adding: "And I would be very interested to learn how the translators handle that remark."

Atomic Aircraft Design Studied

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP) — The Air Force announced today that Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Burbank, Calif., is making a "preliminary design study on nuclear-powered aircraft."

"No details may be revealed as to the scope of the Lockheed project," said the terse announcement, which gave neither the amount of the contract nor the date it was awarded.

An Air Force spokesman said, however, that the project represents a "broadening" of the field of study of types of aircraft which might use atomic power.

Other nuclear aircraft studies currently in progress, under contracts awarded in 1951, include:

1. General Electric Co. aircraft gas turbine division, Lockland, Ohio, and Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Corp., East Hartford, Conn., for nuclear engine designs.

2. Consolidated Vultee Corp., San Diego, and Boeing Airplane Co., Seattle, for engineering studies "of the application of nuclear power plants to aircraft." Consolidated's task was to work on designs for the air frame or airplane body shell for the General Electric engine, and Boeing's product would house the Pratt-Whitney power plant.

Ike Watches Series Between Appointments

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP) — President Eisenhower watched part of the first World Series baseball game today on television.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen the President saw snatches of the game in his office in between visits by official callers.

Eisenhower quipped at his news conference this morning that there was no more important news today than the World Series game.

1,500 More German POWs Near Freedom

CAMP FIREDLAND, Germany, Sept. 30 (AP) — Three more groups totaling 1,500 German POWs repatriated from the Soviet Union are expected to arrive at this West German transit camp tomorrow and Friday.

This will bring to 3,000 the number returned to West Germany since last Saturday.

All prisoners have been serving labor camp sentences for alleged war crimes.

Four Rail Unions Will Open Wage Hike Drive Today

CLEVELAND, Sept 30 (AP)—The four big independent rail unions, representing nearly one-third of a million men who operate the nation's railroad trains, open a drive tomorrow for higher wages.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers announced tonight it is seeking a flat 30 per cent increase. General chairmen of the union on each road will present the demands to the individual railroad offices tomorrow.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors are seeking a wage increase of 37½ cents an hour. Their demands had been announced earlier and notices of their desire for a change are going out in the mail.

The engineers' announcement hinted the demand would be backed up by strike action if necessary.

It quoted Grand Chief Engineer Guy L. Brown as saying the brotherhood has taken measures to "set wheels in motion making available the full economic strength of the engineers" to achieve progress in getting its demands.

Before any of the rail unions could call a strike, a vote of the membership would be necessary.

Stevenson To Report To Ike

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson came to town today to report to President Eisenhower on his seven-month world tour, and took the opportunity to visit a couple of Democratic party gatherings.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, who flew in from Chicago, will go to the White House at 12:30 p.m. Other guests will include Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson, Harold E. Stassen, head of the Foreign Operations Administration, Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and a number of White House aides and other officials.

The former Illinois governor told reporters that his principal purpose was to answer any questions the President might have about things he had observed abroad.

"I just want to be helpful," he said.

The king cobra is considered the most poisonous snake.

"I felt her pulse. I could get neither pulse nor heartbeat. I knew she was gone."

Mrs. Patton's death was another in a series of fatal accidents to members of her family.

Her famous husband died in a jeep accident in Mannheim, Germany, enroute to a hunting trip in 1945 and Mrs. Patton's niece, Mrs. Gilbert Steward, was killed in a fall from a horse while riding out of this same Myopia Hunt Club in 1951. Mrs. Steward was the daughter of Charles Ayer, Mrs. Patton's brother.

MITE SURVIVES RARE OPERATION—Doctors said a rare operation—one they called the first of its kind—saved the life of Colleen Gale Johnson, who sleeps peacefully in the arms of her mother, Mrs. Charles Johnson, at American Hospital, Chicago. Colleen was born Sept. 22 and it was found that her pancreas gland was wrapped tightly around the duodenum, which leads from the stomach into the intestines. Dr. Paul M. Egel, hospital surgeon, said examination showed the baby would die without corrective surgery which he performed when Colleen was two days old.

'Ledge Woman' Sent To Mental Hospital

CHICAGO, Sept. 30 (AP)—A woman who terrified thousands by threatening to jump from the 20th floor of Tribune Tower was committed to a state hospital today for mental treatment.

She is Miss Millicent Armin, 36, whose two-hour self imprisonment on a ledge of the skyscraper was viewed over television a week ago today.

County Judge John C. Cowing committed her to a hospital after her father, Sigmund, said he could not afford private hospital treatment.

100,000 NATO Troops Battle "A-Invasion"

NAPLES, Italy, Sept. 30 (AP)—More than 100,000 fighting men of five North Atlantic treaty nations went into action today in a make-believe defense against an atomic war waged from east of the Iron Curtain.

It's part of "Operation Weldfast," a training maneuver to weld the land, sea and air forces of Turkey, Greece, Italy, the United States and Britain into a firm defense of the East and Central Mediterranean.

Bohlen Moscow-Bound

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Charles E. Bohlen, United States ambassador to the Soviet Union, left Idlewild Airport today enroute back to Moscow after two days of consultations in Washington.

He's Going Straight

Youngster, 9, Decides He'll End Safecracking Career

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—A cute little boy of nine took stock of himself today and decided to give up a budding career of safecracking and burglary.

"I want to go straight," the lad told police here. "I want to get on the smooth road."

The boy, not named because of his age, was picked up early this week as the leader of a gang of small boys who netted $1,330 in 29 burglaries since last February.

Detectives said the youngsters learned the lingo of gangland from television and acted at the station house like seasoned underworld thugs.

The blond 9-year-old cracked a police department safe in a demonstration that had veteran cops wide-eyed.

"I listen to the tumblers fall in place," the boy explained.

In questioning the boy, cops asked him:

"What were you taught in school about boys who tell lies?"

"They go to hell," replied the little prisoner.

"Where do good boys go?"

"To heaven."

"Well, where do you think you'll go?"

"I guess I'll go to hell," said the boy.

Detective Charles McKay said the juvenile gangsters "don't realize what they did."

"They're good kids," he added. "The trouble is they didn't have enough to keep their minds occupied or to expend their energy. They'll grow up and be swell citizens.

"All these kids have TV sets. When they came in here to the police station they all knew their rights—knew they didn't have to talk and that they could demand lawyers."

Balkan Defense Pact Agreement Reached

BELGRADE, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Balkan alliance of Greece, Turkey and Yugoslavia reached agreement today on the machinery for operating their mutual defense pact.

Tanjug, the official Yugoslav news agency, reported that a full text, covering the establishment of a permanent secretariat for the alliance, had been sent to the Greek and Turkish governments and would be made public next month.

The secretariat will begin functioning next month when representatives of the three countries meet here.

Reynolds Hurts Back, May Not Pitch In Series

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Allie Reynolds, star Yankee righthander hurt his back in the third inning today and may be through for the series.

The chief said after today's game that he wrenched his back in the third inning "and this may finish me for the series."

Manager Casey Stengel was downcast about the injury but hopeful that he might be able to get a little more help from his ace.

"Maybe I'll stick him in there to strike out one man in a pinch," said Stengel.

Collis Heads Guild

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—Joseph F. Collis, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., newsman, was elected president of Guild today by a narrow margin over Harry Martin of Memphis, Tenn.

Ike Declares He Never Broke His Word To Durkin

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower insisted angrily today he never knowingly broke his word in his life—a reply to charges made by his resigned secretary of labor, Martin Durkin.

Durkin, an AFL union leader and Democrat, quit three weeks ago and accused Eisenhower of breaking a pledge to recommend to Congress a set of union-wanted amendments to the Taft-Hartley law.

Asked for his version of the controversy, Eisenhower told a news conference he always refused to engage in personalities but he would say this: To his knowledge, he'd never broken an agreement with any associate in his life.

With eyes flashing and jaw jutting, Eisenhower went on to say that if he ever had broken an agreement it was something he never understood had been made.

The President then challenged anyone at his news conference who had evidence to the contrary, to take the floor and make a speech. No one spoke up.

Durkin, asked for comment on Eisenhower's remarks, said he still stood on his statement to the AFL convention in St. Louis on Sept. 22. In that speech Durkin said Eisenhower gave his word personally at a New York City meeting Aug. 19 to provide administration support for a series of 19 proposed Taft-Hartley law amendments. Later, Durkin told the AFL convention, Eisenhower changed his mind and informed him he couldn't go along with the amendments.

"My answer is the same as it was on the 22nd," Durkin told a reporter today after hearing of Eisenhower's remarks.

Thus the controversy seems to have boiled down to a "you did, I didn't" standoff.

Yugoslavia Charges Italian Air Violations

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia, Sept. 30 (AP)—Yugoslavia claimed tonight Italian military planes violated this country's air space three times today.

The official radio reported the actions brought to 10 the number of such violations since late August when Italian troops were sent to the border after reports spread that this country planned to annex the Trieste B zone.

Quake Is Recorded

PASADENA, Calif., Sept. 30 (AP)—A strong earthquake, probably somewhere on the North American continent, was recorded today by seismographs at the California Institute of Technology.

$22,857 "Dream Car"

PARIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—French automobile body builder Jacques Saoutchik today put the finishing touches on a $22,857 convertible for King Iben Saud of Saudi Arabia. The dream car is 24 feet long.

Lloyd Uses Bebop In Commenting On Vishinsky Tirade

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Sept. 30 (AP)—Britain's Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd slipped from his usually meticulous English today to indulge in a little bebop language in commenting on Andrei Y. Vishinsky's tirade against U. N. proposals for a Korean peace conference.

"If I may use the idiom of bebop, dig that broken record," Lloyd remarked, adding: "And I would be very interested to learn how the translators handle that remark."

Atomic Aircraft Design Studied

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Air Force announced today that Lockheed Aircraft Corp., Burbank, Calif., is making a "preliminary design study on nuclear-powered aircraft."

"No details may be revealed as to the scope of the Lockheed project," said the terse announcement, which gave neither the amount of the contract nor the date it was awarded.

An Air Force spokesman said, however, that the project represents a "broadening" of the field of study of types of aircraft which might use atomic power.

Other nuclear aircraft studies currently in progress, under contracts awarded in 1951, include:

1. General Electric Co. aircraft gas turbine division, Lockland, Ohio, and Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Corp., East Hartford, Conn., for nuclear engine designs.

2. Consolidated Vultee Corp., San Diego, and Boeing Airplane Co., Seattle, for engineering studies "of the application of nuclear power plants to aircraft." Consolidated's task was to work on designs for the air frame or airplane body shell for the General Electric engine, and Boeing's product would house the Pratt-Whitney power plant.

Ike Watches Series Between Appointments

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower watched part of the first World Series baseball game today on television.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen the President saw snatches of the game in his office in between visits by official callers.

Eisenhower quipped at his news conference this morning that there was no more important news today than the World Series game.

1,500 More German POWs Near Freedom

CAMP FIREDLAND, Germany, Sept. 30 (AP)—Three more groups totaling 1,500 German POWs repatriated from the Soviet Union are expected to arrive at this West German transit camp tomorrow and Friday.

This will bring to 3,000 the number returned to West Germany since last Saturday.

All prisoners have been serving labor camp sentences for alleged war crimes.

Four Rail Unions Will Open Wage Hike Drive Today

CLEVELAND, Sept. 30 (AP)—The four big independent rail unions, representing nearly one-third of a million men who operate the nation's railroad trains, open a drive tomorrow for higher wages.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers announced tonight it is seeking a flat 30 per cent increase. General chairmen of the union on each road will present the demands to the individual railroad offices tomorrow.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors are seeking a wage increase of 37½ cents an hour. Their demands had been announced earlier and notices of their desire for a change are going out in the mail.

The engineers' announcement hinted the demand would be backed up by strike action if necessary.

It quoted Grand Chief Engineer Guy L. Brown as saying the brotherhood has taken measures to "set wheels in motion making available the full economic strength of the engineers" to achieve progress in getting its demands.

Before any of the rail unions could call a strike, a vote of the membership would be necessary.

Stevenson To Report To Ike

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson came to town today to report to President Eisenhower on his seven-month world tour, and took the opportunity to visit a couple of Democratic party gatherings.

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee, who flew in from Chicago, will go to the White House at 12:30 p.m. Other guests will include Secretary of State Dulles, Secretary of Defense Wilson, Harold E. Stassen, head of the Foreign Operations Administration, Allen W. Dulles, director of the Central Intelligence Agency, and a number of White House aides and other officials.

The former Illinois governor told reporters that his principal purpose was to answer any questions the President might have about things he had observed abroad.

"I just want to be helpful," he said.

The king cobra is considered the most poisonous snake.

Housewife Innocent In Death Of Husband

ELKTON, Md., Sept. 30 (AP)—Mrs. Ella Elizabeth Gray, 24-year-old housewife described by her attorney "as faithful as a dog is faithful to his master," was found innocent today of murdering her husband.

A Cecil County Circuit Court jury of seven men and five women deliberated 30 minutes at the end of a two-day trial.

When the foreman announced a verdict of acquittal, the tall, attractive brunette quietly buried her face in her handkerchief, then rose and left the room.

State's Attorney J. Albert Roney Jr., who contended the shooting of Philip Gray, 23, was "wilful, deliberated and premeditated," had asked for a first degree murder verdict in his opening statement to the jurors yesterday.

But in his summation this afternoon, Roney asked for a verdict of second degree murder. He said all evidence pointed to murder in the second degree but there was "not enough evidence" for first degree.

Roney had presented 19 witnesses, several of whom testified they had heard Mrs. Gray threaten to kill her husband because he was "running around" with another woman.

Mrs. Gray, composed throughout her testimony, said threats she made to kill her husband were uttered because she was "so mad" but were "just a figure of speech."

Gray met his death the night of June 17 on a lonely road near Charter Hall, a hunting lodge for which Gray was caretaker.

Mrs. Gray maintained the gun went off accidentally as she and her husband argued over another woman he was dating.

Charlie Chaplin Sells Studio At Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 30 (AP) — Charlie Chaplin has sold his movie studio, long a landmark here, to a New York real estate firm.

Loyd Wright, Sr., of a law firm representing the comedian-producer said today the purchase price was $650,000 cash and that the deal has gone into escrow.

The purchasers are Webb & Knapp, developers of the property on which the United Nations building stands and owners of many properties in the United States including the Chrysler Building in New York City.

Churchill, Eden Back In London

LONDON, Sept. 30 (AP) — Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden returned tonight from Mediterranean holidays amid reports that Britain plans new moves for an East-West parley.

Looking bronzed and rested, Churchill flew in from the French Riviera, where he had spent a two-week vacation. Three months ago his doctors had ordered him to rest up at once or risk collapse.

Eden came in from Greece, where he had wound up a six-month absence from his foreign office desk. He looked healthier and seemed to have regained much of the weight he lost after undergoing three gall bladder operations.

"I am fit and ready for work," Eden said.

Informed sources reported today that British policymakers are thinking of asking the United States and France to reconsider their opposition to an early, informal and top-level meeting with Russia. The British government, however, has not yet decided whether to do so.

Some government leaders are known to favor quick action in the hope of breaking the East-West deadlocks over the Korean, German and Austrian peace settlements.

One junior minister, expressing a purely personal view, said today Churchill may yet declare his readiness to meet Russian Premier Georgi Malenkov alone—if such a step would help.

Aides reported that the British leader has been working on a major policy statement he will deliver to the annual conference of the Conservative party in Margate next week.

40 Years Of Income Tax

The present federal income tax on individuals is 40 years old on Saturday. It was on October 3, 1913, that the Underwood Tariff Act of that year, carrying an income-tax provision, became law by signature of President Wilson.

The slight importance ascribed to the tax as a revenue-producer in 1913 was attested by the fact that it was carried in a tariff act, instead of in a separate revenue act. Certainly the 1913 rates were not such as either to make the Treasury rejoice or the taxpayer groan.

In that happy day a single person was exempt from the tax if his income was under $3,000 and a married person if his income was under $4,000. Even above those incomes the rates were infinitesimally low.

They were only one per cent on net income (after exemptions and credits) up to $20,000, then two per cent up to $50,000. The maximum rate was seven per cent, applicable only when net income was over $500,000 a year.

No wonder that only 358,000 individuals had to file returns that first year. They paid altogether only slightly over $40 million—an average payment of little more than $100. In 1950 (latest year for detailed returns) no less than 53 million returns were filed, for an average payment of $481.

Back there in 1913 a married person with net income of $10,000 and two dependents besides his wife paid exactly $60 in federal income tax (today, he pays over $1,900). Even if he was so fortunate as to have a net income of $100,000 in 1913, he paid only $2,500 in federal income tax (today, over $55,000). Those were the days!

That income tax levied in 1913 was made possible by the ratification of the 16th (income-tax) Amendment to the Constitution in that year. The amendment had been submitted to the states in 1909 and required over 3½ years for ratification. Three state legislatures voted to reject it—in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Utah.

A personal income tax had been imposed by the federal government during the Civil War, was ruled constitutional, was abandoned after 10 years. Another was imposed in 1894, in the Gorman Tariff Act of that year.

In 1895 the Supreme Court at first allowed the tax (except on income from real estate) to stand by an evenly divided opinion, four to four. But on a rehearing the Court ruled by five to four that the tax was unconstitutional because not apportioned among the states by population. In this second decision a new justice voted to uphold the tax, but another who had earlier voted to uphold it reversed himself.

The microscopic rates of 1913 were raised slightly in 1916, to help pay for strengthening the national defenses (in the phrase of that day, "preparedness"). With the entrance of the United States into World War I the rates were boosted sharply and the exemptions lowered, but even so only about 5½ million individuals had to pay.

Even at the acme of the World War I taxation a married person with two dependents and a net income of $10,000 had to pay only $782 in federal income tax, less than one-half of what he pays today. On a net income of $50,000 his maximum World War I tax liability was around $11,000, about 40 per cent of what he pays today.

Oh, well, each of the many dollars being paid in federal income tax today is worth in purchasing power only about one-third as much as each of the few dollars paid in the tax 40 years ago.

Buildup In Korea

The North Korean air force lieutenant who flew a Russian-built MIG-15 into the U. S. Air Force base near Seoul confirmed what U. S. intelligence had already known. The Russian controlled North Korean government is continuing, with the cooperation of the Red Chinese government, a military buildup of considerable proportions on the north side of the truce line.

The North Korean flier confirmed what radar surveillance has shown—that great numbers of planes have moved into North Korea from behind the Yalu, in direct violation of the truce terms. Intelligence brought through the lines by Koreans also reveals feverish rebuilding of airfields and work on the roads.

Coupled with the tactics of Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky in the UN this makes the pattern painfully clear. The Communists are continuing the old game of applying pressure to obtain concessions. While Vishinsky confuses the issue of a Korean peace conference by arguing about who shall participate and where it shall be held, and stalling around in general, the physical pressure is building up in North Korea.

The threat of an offensive backed for the first time by air power will keep the U. S. tied down, thus maintaining the drain on the nation's manpower, military equipment and money. The Russians are playing a game of bluff and threat on a gigantic scale across the globe. Anyone who is so naive as to think appeasement would result in anything but disaster for this country can only be described as soft toward Russia and communism.

The Russians are as slimy and tricky as ever, and only increased vigilance can meet the challenge they direct toward the United States.

Big Families Are Fun

It is obvious that modifications are necessary in indices by which experts have been predicting changes in populations. For example, it was forecast that the number of births would now be falling because the low birthrate of the 1930s would reduce the number of marriages in the 1950s.

It just hasn't worked out that way. Couples who are being married are younger, on the average, than in the last decade or two, and they are having more children. There is no slackening in the birthrate.

Economics seem to be the explanation, now as always. Big families on the farm, years ago, are ascribed to the fact that children were needed as workers and thus became economic assets. The larger families of today cannot be explained by a theory that they are economic assets. Perhaps the explanation is partly negative—children are not being regarded as liabilities. This attitude of young couples is made possible because of high incomes and employment.

But there is more to it than that. The facts would indicate what a great many healthy, confident, well-balanced young people have always known—that it is fun to have a big family of kids and watch 'em grow up.

Economics, then, is in no wise discounted as the prime mover of population change, up or down. But the theorists had better be careful in attributing a healthy birthrate to economics alone. People who just naturally feel happy and well adjusted are the ones to reckon with.

How To Keep Well

Potential Hypertensives

High blood pressure "runs in families." But the disorder is complex and the question often is raised as to just what factor in hypertension is passed from one generation to the next. Is it the nervous system, the condition of the blood vessels, the tendency to driive one's self, the body build, or the disposition? Perhaps it is a combination because the trait does not necessarily exist in all the offspring and it has a tendency to develop in some whose parents and grandparents never had the disease.

In an effort to clarify this situation, a study was done on a series of medical students from Johns Hopkins. The entire student body was quizzed on the family history and in 84 of the group one or both parents had high blood pressure. The students were then subjected to a series of tests and the outcome was compared with the results of similar tests performed on 100 classmates whose parents had normal blood pressures.

Dr. C. B. Thomas, who did the survey, selected tests the medical profession considers capable of uncovering the potential victim of high blood pressure. This seemed logical as students with a hypertensive pedigree should react in a positive fashion if heredity were a dominant factor in disturbances of this nature. On the other hand, the results should be just the opposite in the 100 students used as controls.

Five well known determinations were utilized. The first consisted of taking the blood pressure while resting. Those destined for hypertension often have a higher reading than usual for their age bracket, even when resting. These are the people whose blood pressure goes up whenever they have a physical examination. It goes down after resting for 30 minutes, but it is believed that in many instances the temporary rise indicates future trouble along this line, and that they already are on the way to becoming hypertensives. The same can be said of the pulse, which is faster than the average rate despite complete relaxation for 5 to 10 minutes. These transient attacks of high blood pressure and rapid pulse also were considered signs of a jumpy circulatory system, and so was overweight because the two are so frequently associated.

The last test given the Johns Hopkins students was the cold pressor test in which the blood pressure is taken after the arms are immersed in ice water for 1 minute. When the rise exceeds 20 millimeters the individual is considered a hyperreactor. More marked changes were noted in the offspring of hypertensives than in those of nonhypertensive parents. Thus, 39.3 per cent of the subjects with a positive history were hyperreactors as compared with 16 per cent of the controls. Furthermore, not all of the hyperreactors had a positive response to all the tests. The high resting blood pressure was the most frequent finding and occurred in 31 per cent of the positive group. The cold pressor test was positive in only 25 per cent.

Knowing in advance that the blood pressure will go up as the years pass has its advantages and disadvantages. By looking ahead the man or woman may be able to plot a course relatively free from stress and strain. In this way he may be able to live longer and more comfortably and instill moderation into everyday living, not only for himself but for his offspring.

SWIMMING AND POLIO

M. C. writes: I read where Franklin D. Roosevelt became afflicted with polio while swimming in the lake. What was wrong with the lake?

REPLY

No one knows how polio is transmitted but in the case of the late President Roosevelt the chilling and fatigue that followed his swim were considered factors rather than the water (the bay of Fundy, off New Brunswick), in which he swam.

SUGAR DISEASE

L. H. writes: I'm suffering from sugar diabetes. The doctor claims the shock of my father's death is what caused it. Do you think this is so? My father had it on his side of the family altho he did not have it.

REPLY

Diabetses is hereditary and in this respect shock may have played a role in bringing the condition to your attention but it was not the cause. You have a family history of the disease and so far as your parents are concerned, they might have developed it had they lived 10 years longer.

REDUCE

Mrs. B. E. writes: Is it possible to get rid of a double chin by massage and exercise? If so, is it safe for a person with heart disease to take these massages and exercises?

REPLY

So long as exercise is confined to the neck, you need not worry about your heart. The best plan is to lose weight all over, not only to eliminate the double chin but to lessen the load on the heart.

Wheat Intended For Pakistan Refugees Goes Astray; Ike Has Keen Eye For Press Relations; No More Budget Cuts Planned By GOP

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower hit the ceiling the other day when Foreign Operations Administrator Stassen told him that of the $100,000,000 worth of wheat the United States sent to Pakistan, not a bushel had reached Pakistan refugees — as the United States had officially specified.

Furthermore, 10 per cent of the wheat had been stolen, and 25 per cent had been used by Pakistan officials for speculation.

Stassen had heard this report from a representative of CARE, following which he cabled the American ambassador in Karachi, who confirmed it.

The wheat had been dumped in Pakistan by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Foreign Operations Administration without making any provision for distribution, and with only the assurance of Pakistan officials that it would reach the needy — especially the refugees. The latter are Mohammedans who fled from non-Mohammedan India after British India was chopped up into Mohammedan and non-Mohammedan nations.

Stassen asked Paul French, efficient director of CARE, to see if he could work out a plan with the Pakistan embassy for more efficient distribution of the wheat, and it looks as if some of the wheat program might now be saved. The Pakistan government flatly opposes any supervision by U. S. officials in distributing wheat but has no objection to supervision by private Americans such as agents for CARE. A plan somewhat like this was worked out in Yugoslavia when the United States sent wheat to that country.

NOTE — U. S. wheat has frequently been dumped in foreign countries, steamer after steamer, without the American people getting credit for their generosity. It was the manner in which the Soviet unloaded only one cargo of wheat in Marseilles with parades and acclaim while American ships were unloading unnoticed beside it that inspired this writer in 1947 to suggest a Friendship Train of food which would be genuinely people to people.

Ike's Press Relations

President Eisenhower, unlike Harry Truman, has a keen sense of what is or what is not good press relations for his cabinet. His press relations having been of the best during his entire Army and political careers, he takes time to keep a weather eye on what makes a good press for his official family.

At one cabinet meeting he remarked: "I don't want any of you appearing on this 'Meet the Press' program."

"But Mr. President," spoke up Secretary of the Interior Doug McKay, "it just so happens that I've recently agreed to appear on 'Meet the Press' and it may be a little awkward if I back out at the last minute."

"All right," replied Ike, "go ahead. But look out for that fellow Spivak."

NOTE — Lawrence Spivak is the chief cross-examiner on "Meet the Press."

No More Budget Cutting

You can write it down as certain that military budget-cutting by the Eisenhower administration is out the window at least for the next couple of years. Along with it will probably go the new hard-money policy.

Signs of scrapping the hard-money policy were evident even last week when the Federal Reserve Board poured $110,000,000 of government money into the market to support the price of government bonds; and when interest rates on Treasury certificates were slightly decreased. It has been the upping of interest on U. S. Government bonds by the Treasury which has helped tighten money all over the country.

Reason behind the end of budget-cutting is worry over the hydrogen bomb and fear that the Republicans will be blamed for cutting too deeply — especially the Air Force.

Reason behind the tapering off of the hard-money policy is warnings from White House economic advisers that business is in for a downward skid if the policy continues.

This does not mean that the budget is going to be deliberately thrown out of balance. Heroic efforts will be made to get it in balance. But at the present moment, the means of doing so are neither decided nor apparent. The chances are, however, that it will mean continued high taxes.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Is the Democratic party going to become known as the anti-American party —the party that puts the interests and claims of European and Asian nations above those of the United States?

Former President Truman may not have intended to convey that impression, but the speech he delivered in New York City on Monday—if it can be taken as an official expression of Democratic party doctrine—certainly contains a good deal of criticism of his fellow Americans and not a word of criticism of the so-called Allies who have deserted the moral principles they once held and who now ask America to yield those principles.

Mr. Truman attacked what he calls the "isolationists" of today and says they are no different from the "die-hard isolationists of 12 years ago." But he hasn't a word of criticism against the various governments of the world that left the United States virtually isolated in the Korean War while they pursued their trade with the enemy in such strategic goods as rubber.

Other Nations Selfish

"Isolationism" has been rightly condemned again and again in America as an extreme doctrine of indifference to world cooperation, but Mr. Truman must know that no considerable group of citizens feels that way about international policies today. The current criticism is that America isn't getting the cooperation it deserves because of the selfishness of other governments. What he doesn't realize is that there is arising in America—and also inside the Democratic party — a sentiment that official Washington must not give away its billions in aid to Europe and at the same time find itself isolated when a war like that in Korea breaks out.

If the former President wants to know the name of some real Americans who happen to be members of the Democratic party and have criticized our allies severely, he might refer to some recent statements by Senator Walter George of Georgia about foreign aid and by Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the leader of the Democratic party in the United States Senate.

If Mr. Truman cares to look it up, he will find that Democrats almost to a man supported the resolution adopted in the last Congress warning the United Nations members that the government of Red China must not be admitted to the Security Council.

If Mr. Truman, who appears to be so bitter against what he calls the "investigative frenzy" on the part of congressional committees, wants to discover the basic cause of it all, he need only examine the record of his own administration toward Alger Hiss and other Communists who held high places inside the government of the United States.

If Mr. Truman will send for a copy of a recent report from the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee concerning subversion inside our government, he will find that, on November 28, 1945, the FBI sent a comprehensive memorandum to the White House and to top officials naming certain persons highly placed in the government as Communists and as agents of Soviet Russia. But Mr. Truman did nothing about that FBI report until the House Committee on Un-American Activities three years later caught Alger Hiss in a lie concerning his Communist connections. Mr. Truman will recall that he characterized the work of the House committee then as a "red-herring."

In this connection, Attorney General Brownell said on September 5 to a convention of the American Veterans of World War II:

Evidence Gathered Dust

"As attorney general, I have dedicated myself and the department of Justice to use every legal weapon to expose and punish the conspirators in this great deception. Fortunately, the FBI, that most respected unit of our government, has been working hard over the years in its investigation of communism. Unfortunately, much of what the FBI uncovered, gathered dust in the Department of Justice files. Now, the dust is being removed and lawyers in the criminal division are working long hours each day to bring actions against those who would destroy us."

Thus the Truman administration by its neglect of the issues brought about so-called "McCarthyism"—a spectacular campaign to awaken the American people to the insidious operations of Communists and their henchmen in the government, the press, the clergy, the colleges and the scientific world. What is even worse, the failure by a so-called "liberal" administration to act caused many unthinking persons unjustly to associate sincere liberals and Socialists with Soviet conspirators. To this day the repeated attacks by Trumanites on those who are anti-Communist is rarely accompanied by any such vehement criticism of the Communists who have been infiltrating the institutions of various countries of the world, including the United States.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A Farmer's Lament

We temporary farmers who, with the first breeze of spring, rush from the city to push a seed into the soil, depart from our farms in the autumn when the leaves turn red and golden.

The mixed life of city dweller and farmer, of woodman and taxi-rider, of eating the fruits of one's labors or the French concoctions of the Colony Restaurant—it is a life of contrasts. Today I write in peace and solitude, except for the call of a catbird, the cooing of pigeons and the rustling of the wind through the leaves; tomorrow I shall hear the incessant clang of steel on steel, the dull grind of a parade of automobiles, a million radios blaring their varied echoes through a million open windows, the conversations that rise from nowhere but are heard all over as the sound of the city.

One sometimes wonders why any of us return to the vast cities; yet, I have seen prospective Thoreaus vegetate on the countryside. The intention is always to produce a great work, to sit upon a rock and gaze upon the heavens whence comes inspiration. And only too often one gazes until ideas flee like the humming bird. The mind relaxes and the work that was intended remains an intention.

I recall when sometime in the 1920's, I sat upon a rock on the island of Cinsan in the Yangtse River watching the waters of that mighty stream swirl in a torrent and then meekly disappear in the wide stream. I wrote about it then and said that a Buddhist priest told me that it was like washing the brain. That was the first time I had heard the expression, and it was right that it should come from a Buddhist, for that is their objective in life, to achieve Nirvana, the sum total of nothingness, which is perfection.

And that, too, I have noted here in the country where it is possible to sit quietly and wash one's mind of the accumulations of trivia. Who really cares, I ask you, if these two celebrated morons are married or divorced or whether having publicly quarrelled, they have as publicly become reconciled? The robins, too, quarrel and mate and mate and quarrel and nobody bothers with it but the robins. The crow flies high and roars his song, but no press-agent announces the news. The skunk goes by and leaves his calling card everywhere like some humans.

In the country, one can take refuge in the beauty that a Divine Intelligence paints everlastingly in perfect symmetry. The other day, weary of reading long and trying reports, to be digested and used in this small column, I could not help but wonder why only the human race glories in the ugly. What foul and stupid things are said and done in the name of civilization!

The statesmen and historians call it war and the scientists devise instruments of torture and death and all in the name of civilization. Yet, what can be the value of our efforts, if it is not to bring peace and contentment to ourselves and our neighbors? Why do the statesmen still believe that great empires, achieved by holocausts, are worth the cost in human life? Do they not know that their empires will crumble like hard-pan under a pick-ax? All empires crumble and leave behind them islands of forgotten little nations.

The robins are gone and so much else goes wtih them. The birds gather upon telephone wires, hundreds of them, to take a last look at the lovely land where they sang away the summer. The chipmunk and rabbit and squirrel will stay behind, having filled their bins with food for the winter. The woodchuck burrows deep in his hole where he will sleep away his time until spring calls again.

It is even like those races of man who cross continents and seas in search of greatness and somewhere stop to find happines.

And so back to the grind of the city, to endless talk and conferences and meetings and dinners and banquets and the search for amusement. Both ways of living have their purposes and their reasons and if one can live both ways, in different seasons, he has perhaps discovered a law of life, namely, that all things must be in balance to be of value.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

The Truce's Ugly Meaning

HONG KONG

Before his appointment as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. Arthur Radford was well known to believe that the Free World could not afford to allow the consolidation and development of Communist power in China.

Here in Hong Kong, the Free World's best window on China, it is all too easy to understand Radford's view. And it is equally difficult to understand the motives and purposes of the American and other Western leaders, who were so eager to grant the Chinese Communists a Korean truce on their own terms.

The main result of the truce in Korea will be to permit precisely the consolidation and growth of Chinese Communist power that Radford so much feared. The stages of this process are not easily predictable, but its consequences may be predicted with almost complete confidence. Before very long, the growing strength of the Chinese Communist regime will altogether upset the fragile power balance of Asia.

What has been and is now happening to the Chinese armed forces, is enough to indicate the trend. Great change is going on, almost unnoticed even by the Washington policy makers.

Three years ago the Chinese Communist armies were still the same vast, inchoate masses of half-armed manpower that had beaten Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The famous "human sea" attacks of the early days in Korea were in fact cold bloodedly planned to overcome weakness in firepower by lavish expenditure of manpower. But very early in the Korean fighting, the Chinese generals and their Russian advisors evidently decided that this kind of Chinese army was not good enough.

Two-Year Reorganization Job

The sign of this decision at the time was a flood of reports that the capable and ruthless Russian-trained Gen. Lin Piao had been dismissed and disgraced. What actually happened was that Gen. Lin Piao was transferred from his former command, and placed in charge of vast military re-organization and re-equipment program. In consequence, Lin Piao is now China's chief military figure, while the hero of the guerrilla years, Gen. Chu Teh, has become a picturesque figurehead.

The forces Gen. Lin Piao has had to work with fall into two main parts. There are the "kung" or security divisions, comprising in all about a million men. These security divisions have the sole responsibility of crushing opposition and maintaining order throughout China. Thus they release for purely military tasks the Chinese regular army, which number at least 2¼ million men.

The table of organization and equipment adopted by Gen. Lin Piao and his Soviet co-workers for this huge regular army is carefully fitted to Chinese conditions. An infantry division of about 10,000 men, with about three quarters of the firepower of a Soviet rifle division, is the basic building block. The infantry divisions are in turn backed up by a powerful engineer element, more limited numbers of armored, heavy artillery, rocket launching and anti-aircraft division, plus a skeleton supply organization skilled in directing great press gangs of local labor in the work of supply movement.

Hitherto only the 800,000 Chinese soldiers in Korea have felt the benefits of this program. But now the entire Chinese regular army will be reorganized and re-equipped. The best informed forecasters here, American and British as well as Chinese, think the job will be completed within about two years.

Larger Air Force Likely

Two years from now, therefore, Peking will command a force of something like 170 infantry divisions, perhaps 20 armored divisions, perhaps 15 heavy artillery divisions and the rest in proportion. Heavy equipment will still have to be obtained from Russia, but the Chinese arsenals will be able to supply all this large forces needs in the way of light weapons. And this very large regular army will be usable in any way Peking chooses, since the numerous security divisions will still take care of the police work in China.

A similar process, though on a much smaller scale, must be expected to take place in the Chinese Communist air force. Today, the Chinese Communists have less than 100 IL-28 jet bombers, perhaps 200 more medium bombers of the obsolete TU-2A type, and less than 700 MIG-15s. But Chinese air training schools are currently graduating from 1,200 to 2,000 finished pilots every six months. A larger air force equipped with Russian castoff aircraft is plainly in prospect.

The Korean truce gives these figures and projections a vivid and ugly meaning. On the one hand, the end of the drain in Korea, which was on the whole heavier for the Chinese than for us, will allow the military buildup to be greatly expedited. On the other hand, Korea will no longer tie down all the modernized and really effective forces that China has.

Even today, the limited Chinese Communist air force is quite big enough to challenge the American 7th Fleet's control of the Formosa strait, if re-deployed for this purpose. Even today the Chinese divisions in Korea would produce a political earthquake, if they were simply transferred to the Indo-China-Burma border. China's military weight is already great enough but because of Korea it is still wrongly placed for fullest effect. Because of the truce in Korea, China military weight will grow much greater, and will soon be distributed, no doubt, in the most efficient manner possible.

More than enough power on the Chinese Communist side of the line to overwhelm the slight power on the other side of the line—that is the future prospect in Asia. And as Adolf Hitler's successive early triumphs proved, overwhelming power can often gain great ends without a shot being fired.

40 Years Of Income Tax

The present federal income tax on individuals is 40 years old on Saturday. It was on October 3, 1913, that the Underwood Tariff Act of that year, carrying an income-tax provision, became law by signature of President Wilson.

The slight importance ascribed to the tax as a revenue-producer in 1913 was attested by the fact that it was carried in a tariff act, instead of in a separate revenue act. Certainly the 1913 rates were not such as either to make the Treasury rejoice or the taxpayer groan.

In that happy day a single person was exempt from the tax if his income was under $3,000 and a married person if his income was under $4,000. Even above those incomes the rates were infinitesimally low.

They were only one per cent on net income (after exemptions and credits) up to $20,000, then two per cent up to $50,000. The maximum rate was seven per cent, applicable only when net income was over $500,000 a year.

No wonder that only 358,000 individuals had to file returns that first year. They paid altogether only slightly over $40 million—an average payment of little more than $100. In 1950 (latest year for detailed returns) no less than 53 million returns were filed, for an average payment of $481.

Back there in 1913 a married person with net income of $10,000 and two dependents besides his wife paid exactly $60 in federal income tax (today, he pays over $1,900). Even if he was so fortunate as to have a net income of $100,000 in 1913, he paid only $2,500 in federal income tax (today, over $55,000). Those were the days!

That income tax levied in 1913 was made possible by the ratification of the 16th (income-tax) Amendment to the Constitution in that year. The amendment had been submitted to the states in 1909 and required over 3½ years for ratification. Three state legislatures voted to reject it—in Connecticut, Rhode Island, Utah.

A personal income tax had been imposed by the federal government during the Civil War, was ruled constitutional, was abandoned after 10 years. Another was imposed in 1894, in the Gorman Tariff Act of that year.

In 1895 the Supreme Court at first allowed the tax (except on income from real estate) to stand by an evenly divided opinion, four to four. But on a rehearing the Court ruled by five to four that the tax was unconstitutional because not apportioned among the states by population. In this second decision a new justice voted to uphold the tax, but another who had earlier voted to uphold it reversed himself.

The microscopic rates of 1913 were raised slightly in 1916, to help pay for strengthening the national defenses (in the phrase of that day, "preparedness"). With the entrance of the United States into World War I the rates were boosted sharply and the exemptions lowered, but even so only about 5½ million individuals had to pay.

Even at the acme of the World War I taxation a married person with two dependents and a net income of $10,000 had to pay only $782 in federal income tax, less than one-half of what he pays today. On a net income of $50,000 his maximum World War I tax liability was around $11,000, about 40 per cent of what he pays today.

Oh, well, each of the many dollars being paid in federal income tax today is worth in purchasing power only about one-third as much as each of the few dollars paid in the tax 40 years ago.

Buildup In Korea

The North Korean air force lieutenant who flew a Russian-built MIG-15 into the U. S. Air Force base near Seoul confirmed what U. S. intelligence had already known. The Russian controlled North Korean government is continuing, with the cooperation of the Red Chinese government, a military buildup of considerable proportions on the north side of the truce line.

The North Korean flier confirmed what radar surveillance has shown—that great numbers of planes have moved into North Korea from behind the Yalu, in direct violation of the truce terms. Intelligence brought through the lines by Koreans also reveals feverish rebuilding of airfields and work on the roads.

Coupled with the tactics of Deputy Soviet Foreign Minister Vishinsky in the UN this makes the pattern painfully clear. The Communists are continuing the old game of applying pressure to obtain concessions. While Vishinsky confuses the issue of a Korean peace conference by arguing about who shall participate and where it shall be held, and stalling around in general, the physical pressure is building up in North Korea.

The threat of an offensive backed for the first time by air power will keep the U. S. tied down, thus maintaining the drain on the nation's manpower, military equipment and money. The Russians are playing a game of bluff and threat on a gigantic scale across the globe. Anyone who is so naive as to think appeasement would result in anything but disaster for this country can only be described as soft toward Russia and communism.

The Russians are as slimy and tricky as ever, and only increased vigilance can meet the challenge they direct toward the United States.

Big Families Are Fun

It is obvious that modifications are necessary in indices by which experts have been predicting changes in populations. For example, it was forecast that the number of births would now be falling because the low birthrate of the 1930s would reduce the number of marriages in the 1950s.

It just hasn't worked out that way. Couples who are being married are younger, on the average, than in the last decade or two, and they are having more children. There is no slackening in the birthrate.

Economics seem to be the explanation, now as always. Big families on the farm, years ago, are ascribed to the fact that children were needed as workers and thus became economic assets. The larger families of today cannot be explained by a theory that they are economic assets. Perhaps the explanation is partly negative—children are not being regarded as liabilities. This attitude of young couples is made possible because of high incomes and employment.

But there is more to it than that. The facts would indicate what a great many healthy, confident, well-balanced young people have always known—that it is fun to have a big family of kids and watch 'em grow up.

Economics, then, is in no wise discounted as the prime mover of population change, up or down. But the theorists had better be careful in attributing a healthy birthrate to economics alone. People who just naturally feel happy and well adjusted are the ones to reckon with.

Thus, 39.3 per cent of the subjects with a positive history were hyperreactors as compared with 16 per cent of the controls. Furthermore, not all of the hyperreactors had a positive response to all the tests. The high resting blood pressure was the most frequent finding and occurred in 31 per cent of the positive group. The cold pressor test was positive in only 25 per cent.

Knowing in advance that the blood pressure will go up as the years pass has its advantages and disadvantages. By looking ahead the man or woman may be able to plot a course relatively free from stress and strain. In this way he may be able to live longer and more comfortably and instill moderation into everyday living, not only for himself but for his offspring.

SWIMMING AND POLIO

M. C. writes: I read where Franklin D. Roosevelt became afflicted with polio while swimming in the lake. What was wrong with the lake?

REPLY

No one knows how polio is transmitted but in the case of the late President Roosevelt the chilling and fatigue that followed his swim were considered factors rather than the water (the bay of Fundy, off New Brunswick), in which he swam.

SUGAR DISEASE

L. H. writes: I'm suffering from sugar diabetes. The doctor claims the shock of my father's death is what caused it. Do you think this is so? My father had it on his side of the family altho he did not have it.

REPLY

Diabetses is hereditary and in this respect shock may have played a role in bringing the condition to your attention but it was not the cause. You have a family history of the disease and so far as your parents are concerned, they might have developed it had they lived 10 years longer.

REDUCE

Mrs. B. E. writes: Is it possible to get rid of a double chin by massage and exercise? If so, is it safe for a person with heart disease to take these massages and exercises?

REPLY

So long as exercise is confined to the neck, you need not worry about your heart. The best plan is to lose weight all over, not only to eliminate the double chin but to lessen the load on the heart.

Wheat Intended For Pakistan Refugees Goes Astray; Ike Has Keen Eye For Press Relations; No More Budget Cuts Planned By GOP

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower hit the ceiling the other day when Foreign Operations Administrator Stassen told him that of the $100,000,000 worth of wheat the United States sent to Pakistan, not a bushel had reached Pakistan refugees — as the United States had officially specified.

Furthermore, 10 per cent of the wheat had been stolen, and 25 per cent had been used by Pakistan officials for speculation.

Stassen had heard this report from a representative of CARE, following which he cabled the American ambassador in Karachi, who confirmed it.

The wheat had been dumped in Pakistan by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the Foreign Operations Administration without making any provision for distribution, and with only the assurance of Pakistan officials that it would reach the needy — especially the refugees. The latter are Mohammedans who fled from non-Mohammedan India after British India was chopped up into Mohammedan and non-Mohammedan nations.

Stassen asked Paul French, efficient director of CARE, to see if he could work out a plan with the Pakistan embassy for more efficient distribution of the wheat, and it looks as if some of the wheat program might now be saved. The Pakistan government flatly opposes any supervision by U. S. officials in distributing wheat but has no objection to supervision by private Americans such as agents for CARE. A plan somewhat like this was worked out in Yugoslavia when the United States sent wheat to that country.

NOTE — U. S. wheat has frequently been dumped in foreign countries, steamer after steamer, without the American people getting credit for their generosity. It was the manner in which the Soviet unloaded only one cargo of wheat in Marseilles with parades and acclaim while American ships were unloading unnoticed beside it that inspired this writer in 1947 to suggest a Friendship Train of food which would be genuinely people to people.

Ike's Press Relations

President Eisenhower, unlike Harry Truman, has a keen sense of what is or what is not good press relations for his cabinet. His press relations having been of the best during his entire Army and political careers, he takes time to keep a weather eye on what makes a good press for his official family.

At one cabinet meeting he remarked: "I don't want any of you appearing on this 'Meet the Press' program."

"But Mr. President," spoke up Secretary of the Interior Doug McKay, "it just so happens that I've recently agreed to appear on 'Meet the Press' and it may be a little awkward if I back out at the last minute."

"All right," replied Ike, "go ahead. But look out for that fellow Spivak."

No More Budget Cutting

You can write it down as certain that military budget-cutting by the Eisenhower administration is out the window at least for the next couple of years. Along with it will probably go the new hard-money policy.

Signs of scrapping the hard-money policy were evident even last week when the Federal Reserve Board poured $110,000,000 of government money into the market to support the price of government bonds; and when interest rates on Treasury certificates were slightly decreased. It has been the upping of interest on U. S. Government bonds by the Treasury which has helped tighten money all over the country.

Reason behind the end of budget-cutting is worry over the hydrogen bomb and fear that the Republicans will be blamed for cutting too deeply — especially the Air Force.

Reason behind the tapering off of the hard-money policy is warnings from White House economic advisers that business is in for a downward skid if the policy continues.

This does not mean that the budget is going to be deliberately thrown out of balance. Heroic efforts will be made to get it in balance. But at the present moment, the means of doing so are neither decided nor apparent. The chances are, however, that it will mean continued high taxes.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — Is the Democratic party going to become known as the anti-American party —the party that puts the interests and claims of European and Asian nations above those of the United States?

Former President Truman may not have intended to convey that impression, but the speech he delivered in New York City on Monday—if it can be taken as an official expression of Democratic party doctrine—certainly contains a good deal of criticism of his fellow Americans and not a word of criticism of the so-called Allies who have deserted the moral principles they once held and who now ask America to yield those principles.

Mr. Truman attacked what he calls the "isolationists" of today and says they are no different from the "die-hard isolationists of 12 years ago." But he hasn't a word of criticism against the various governments of the world that left the United States virtually isolated in the Korean War while they pursued their trade with the enemy in such strategic goods as rubber.

Other Nations Selfish

"Isolationism" has been rightly condemned again and again in America as an extreme doctrine of indifference to world cooperation, but Mr. Truman must know that no considerable group of citizens feels that way about international policies today. The current criticism is that America isn't getting the cooperation it deserves because of the selfishness of other governments. What he doesn't realize is that there is arising in America—and also inside the Democratic party — a sentiment that official Washington must not give away its billions in aid to Europe and at the same time find itself isolated when a war like that in Korea breaks out.

If the former President wants to know the name of some real Americans who happen to be members of the Democratic party and have criticized our allies severely, he might refer to some recent statements by Senator Walter George of Georgia about foreign aid and by Senator Lyndon Johnson of Texas, the leader of the Democratic party in the United States Senate.

If Mr. Truman cares to look it up, he will find that Democrats almost to a man supported the resolution adopted in the last Congress warning the United Nations members that the government of Red China must not be admitted to the Security Council.

If Mr. Truman, who appears to be so bitter against what he calls the "investigative frenzy" on the part of congressional committees, wants to discover the basic cause of it all, he need only examine the record of his own administration toward Alger Hiss and other Communists who held high places inside the government of the United States.

If Mr. Truman will send for a copy of a recent report from the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee concerning subversion inside our government, he will find that, on November 28, 1945, the FBI sent a comprehensive memorandum to the White House and to top officials naming certain persons highly placed in the government as Communists and as agents of Soviet Russia. But Mr. Truman did nothing about that FBI report until the House Committee on Un-American Activities three years later caught Alger Hiss in a lie concerning his Communist connections. Mr. Truman will recall that he characterized the work of the House committee then as a "red-herring."

In this connection, Attorney General Brownell said on September 5 to a convention of the American Veterans of World War II:

Evidence Gathered Dust

"As attorney general, I have dedicated myself and the department of Justice to use every legal weapon to expose and punish the conspirators in this great deception. Fortunately, the FBI, that most respected unit of our government, has been working hard over the years in its investigation of communism. Unfortunately, much of what the FBI uncovered, gathered dust in the Department of Justice files. Now, the dust is being removed and lawyers in the criminal division are working long hours each day to bring actions against those who would destroy us."

Thus the Truman administration by its neglect of the issues brought about so-called "McCarthyism"—a spectacular campaign to awaken the American people to the insidious operations of Communists and their henchmen in the government, the press, the clergy, the colleges and the scientific world. What is even worse, the failure by a so-called "liberal" administration to act caused many unthinking persons unjustly to associate sincere liberals and Socialists with Soviet conspirators. To this day the repeated attacks by Trumanites on those who are anti-Communist is rarely accompanied by any such vehement criticism of the Communists who have been infiltrating the institutions of various countries of the world, including the United States.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A Farmer's Lament

We temporary farmers who, with the first breeze of spring, rush from the city to push a seed into the soil, depart from our farms in the autumn when the leaves turn red and golden.

The mixed life of city dweller and farmer, of woodman and taxi-rider, of eating the fruits of one's labors or the French concoctions of the Colony Restaurant—it is a life of contrasts. Today I write in peace and solitude, except for the call of a catbird, the cooing of pigeons and the rustling of the wind through the leaves; tomorrow I shall hear the incessant clang of steel on steel, the dull grind of a parade of automobiles, a million radios blaring their varied echoes through a million open windows, the conversations that rise from nowhere but are heard all over as the sound of the city.

One sometimes wonders why any of us return to the vast cities; yet, I have seen prospective Thoreaus vegetate on the countryside. The intention is always to produce a great work, to sit upon a rock and gaze upon the heavens whence comes inspiration. And only too often one gazes until ideas flee like the humming bird. The mind relaxes and the work that was intended remains an intention.

I recall when sometime in the 1920's, I sat upon a rock on the island of Cinsan in the Yangtse River watching the waters of that mighty stream swirl in a torrent and then meekly disappear in the wide stream. I wrote about it then and said that a Buddhist priest told me that it was like washing the brain. That was the first time I had heard the expression, and it was right that it should come from a Buddhist, for that is their objective in life, to achieve Nirvana, the sum total of nothingness, which is perfection.

And that, too, I have noted here in the country where it is possible to sit quietly and wash one's mind of the accumulations of trivia. Who really cares, I ask you, if these two celebrated morons are married or divorced or whether having publicly quarrelled, they have as publicly become reconciled? The robins, too, quarrel and mate and mate and quarrel and nobody bothers with it but the robins. The crow flies high and roars his song, but no press-agent announces the news. The skunk goes by and leaves his calling card everywhere like some humans.

In the country, one can take refuge in the beauty that a Divine Intelligence paints everlastingly in perfect symmetry. The other day, weary of reading long and trying reports, to be digested and used in this small column, I could not help but wonder why only the human race glories in the ugly. What foul and stupid things are said and done in the name of civilization!

The statesmen and historians call it war and the scientists devise instruments of torture and death and all in the name of civilization. Yet, what can be the value of our efforts, if it is not to bring peace and contentment to ourselves and our neighbors? Why do the statesmen still believe that great empires, achieved by holocausts, are worth the cost in human life? Do they not know that their empires will crumble like hard-pan under a pick-ax? All empires crumble and leave behind them islands of forgotten little nations.

The robins are gone and so much else goes wtih them. The birds gather upon telephone wires, hundreds of them, to take a last look at the lovely land where they sang away the summer. The chipmunk and rabbit and squirrel will stay behind, having filled their bins with food for the winter. The woodchuck burrows deep in his hole where he will sleep away his time until spring calls again.

It is even like those races of man who cross continents and seas in search of greatness and somewhere stop to find happines.

And so back to the grind of the city, to endless talk and conferences and meetings and dinners and banquets and the search for amusement. Both ways of living have their purposes and their reasons and if one can live both ways, in different seasons, he has perhaps discovered a law of life, namely, that all things must be in balance to be of value.

Matter Of Fact

The Truce's Ugly Meaning

HONG KONG

Before his appointment as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. Arthur Radford was well known to believe that the Free World could not afford to allow the consolidation and development of Communist power in China.

Here in Hong Kong, the Free World's best window on China, it is all too easy to understand Radford's view. And it is equally difficult to understand the motives and purposes of the American and other Western leaders, who were so eager to grant the Chinese Communists a Korean truce on their own terms.

The main result of the truce in Korea will be to permit precisely the consolidation and growth of Chinese Communist power that Radford so much feared. The stages of this process are not easily predictable, but its consequences may be predicted with almost complete confidence. Before very long, the growing strength of the Chinese Communist regime will altogether upset the fragile power balance of Asia.

What has been and is now happening to the Chinese armed forces, is enough to indicate the trend. Great change is going on, almost unnoticed even by the Washington policy makers.

Three years ago the Chinese Communist armies were still the same vast, inchoate masses of half-armed manpower that had beaten Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. The famous "human sea" attacks of the early days in Korea were in fact cold bloodedly planned to overcome weakness in firepower by lavish expenditure of manpower. But very early in the Korean fighting, the Chinese generals and their Russian advisors evidently decided that this kind of Chinese army was not good enough.

Two-Year Reorganization Job

The sign of this decision at the time was a flood of reports that the capable and ruthless Russian-trained Gen. Lin Piao had been dismissed and disgraced. What actually happened was that Gen. Lin Piao was transferred from his former command, and placed in charge of vast military re-organization and re-equipment program. In consequence, Lin Piao is now China's chief military figure, while the hero of the guerrilla years, Gen. Chu Teh, has become a picturesque figurehead.

The forces Gen. Lin Piao has had to work with fall into two main parts. There are the "kung" or security divisions, comprising in all about a million men. These security divisions have the sole responsibility of crushing opposition and maintaining order throughout China. Thus they release for purely military tasks the Chinese regular army, which number at least 2¼ million men.

The table of organization and equipment adopted by Gen. Lin Piao and his Soviet co-workers for this huge regular army is carefully fitted to Chinese conditions. An infantry division of about 10,000 men, with about three quarters of the firepower of a Soviet rifle division, is the basic building block. The infantry divisions are in turn backed up by a powerful engineer element, more limited numbers of armored, heavy artillery, rocket launching and anti-aircraft division, plus a skeleton supply organization skilled in directing great press gangs of local labor in the work of supply movement.

Hitherto only the 800,000 Chinese soldiers in Korea have felt the benefits of this program. But now the entire Chinese regular army will be reorganized and re-equipped. The best informed forecasters here, American and British as well as Chinese, think the job will be completed within about two years.

Larger Air Force Likely

Two years from now, therefore, Peking will command a force of something like 170 infantry divisions, perhaps 20 armored divisions, perhaps 15 heavy artillery divisions and the rest in proportion. Heavy equipment will still have to be obtained from Russia, but the Chinese arsenals will be able to supply all this large forces needs in the way of light weapons. And this very large regular army will be usable in any way Peking chooses, since the numerous security divisions will still take care of the police work in China.

A similar process, though on a much smaller scale, must be expected to take place in the Chinese Communist air force. Today, the Chinese Communists have less than 100 IL-28 jet bombers, perhaps 200 more medium bombers of the obsolete TU-2A type, and less than 700 MIG-15s. But Chinese air training schools are currently graduating from 1,200 to 2,000 finished pilots every six months. A larger air force equipped with Russian castoff aircraft is plainly in prospect.

The Korean truce gives these figures and projections a vivid and ugly meaning. On the one hand, the end of the drain in Korea, which was on the whole heavier for the Chinese than for us, will allow the military buildup to be greatly expedited. On the other hand, Korea will no longer tie down all the modernized and really effective forces that China has.

Even today, the limited Chinese Communist air force is quite big enough to challenge the American 7th Fleet's control of the Formosa strait, if re-deployed for this purpose. Even today the Chinese divisions in Korea would produce a political earthquake, if they were simply transferred to the Indo-China-Burma border. China's military weight is already great enough but because of Korea it is still wrongly placed for fullest effect. Because of the truce in Korea, China military weight will grow much greater, and will soon be distributed, no doubt, in the most efficient manner possible.

More than enough power on the Chinese Communist side of the line to overwhelm the slight power on the other side of the line—that is the future prospect in Asia. And as Adolf Hitler's successive early triumphs proved, overwhelming power can often gain great ends without a shot being fired.

Ruling Sought On Revoking Tags Of Overweight Trucks

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP)—Thomas B. R. Mudd, state commissioner of motor vehicles, said today he would ask the attorney general to determine if he has the right to cancel license tags for trucks which frequently violate weight limits on Maryland highways.

In recent years, the Motor Vehicles Department has not kept tabs on weight violations nor taken action against overweight trucks.

Violations are noted on the licenses of drivers who exceed the weight limits, however.

Mudd said there is a precedent for revoking registration tags. During the 30's, he recalled, severe winter weather necessitated the posting of special weight limits on some Eastern Shore highways.

One trucking firm which persistently violated the limits lost the license plates for its trucks for a time.

Another state agency, the State Roads Commission, had been conducting a campaign against overweight trucks since February 1949.

Since then, the state has collected more than $500,000 in fines on overweight convictions.

Several trucking firms have been charged with repeated violations, and among the ten most frequent violators are seven Maryland operators.

578 Aliens Deported From U. S. This Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Justice Department disclosed today that 578 undesirable aliens brought to book in a quiet but relentless clean-up campaign have been deported from the United States since last January.

Emphasizing that the drive is a continuous process, Deputy Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers told an Immigration and Naturalization Service conference:

"We can well be proud of these figures and the number which will follow in the ensuing months."

Of the total actually shipped out of the country, 536 were described as criminal, immoral, or narcotic addicts, and the 42 others as subversives.

Newspaperboy Day Proclaimed

ANNAPOLIS, Sept. 30 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin nostalgically harking back to the days when little Teddy McKeldin earned pennies for the family, has proclaimed Oct. 3 as Newspaperboy Day in Maryland.

"Good soldiers," he called the thousands of youngsters who tramp their routes every day so folks may know what's going on in the world.

The governor was one himself, and recalls so in declaring:

"It is in honor of all of them—past and present—that I, Theodore R. McKeldin, governor now, but once a boy with a paper route, do hereby proclaim. . . "

The 52-year-old governor was 10th born of 11 children. His father was a stonecutter. The family lived in South Baltimore. With all those appetites to fill, extra pennies were important.

Young Teddy provided his share, delivering papers every day to keep the public informed in the days of William Howard Taft and the Wright brothers.

Baltimore Dock Workers May Not Join In ILA Strike

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP)—Baltimore's 8,000 longshoremen held union meetings tonight, but there were indications they would not join in the strike called in New York today by the International Longshoremen's Association.

The eight ILA locals on the Baltimore waterfront met to debate and vote on their affiliation with the ILA, as well as the course to be followed here in view of the strike.

The ILA recently was expelled by the American Federation of Labor on charges its New York locals and top management were infested with racketeers.

The question before the Baltimore dockers was whether to continue as members of the ILA or affiliate with a new longshoremen's union which the AFL is organizing.

Baltimore Firemen To Burn Down House

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP)—The city's firefighters are going to burn down a house Sunday afternoon.

The house is one that is to be torn down anyway, to make room for a slum clearance project. The stunt will mark the opening of Fire Prevention Week. Seventy-five volunteer fire companies from throughout Maryland, plus 20 bands and drum and bugle corps, have been invited to parade and see the fire-fighting demonstration.

Chief Engineer Michael Lotz of the Baltimore Fire Department said his men will put out the fire with new and experimental methods not yet adopted in Baltimore as standard practice.

Lewis, Moses Confer With Secretary McKay

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30 (AP) — John L. Lewis and Harry Moses, union and operator leaders in soft coal mining, conferred with Secretary of the Interior McKay and top aides yesterday. They said they talked over problems of the industry.

Lewis and Moses came out of the secretary's office after an hour-long meeting, obviously in very good humor.

Vet Asks "Sympathy" Mariage Annulment

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP)—An ailing World War II veteran today asked annulment of his marriage to a woman he said married him for sympathy and with no intention of living with him.

The annulment was asked in Circuit Court by Charles C. Beard, 34, of nearby Linthicum Heights. He said he and his 37-year-old wife, Helen, were married at Elkton, Md., Jan. 19, 1952 but had never lived together.

Beard contended through his attorney, Harold Lee Frankel, that his wife was not in love with him but was "confused by her delicate and tender and sympathetic feeling" for him.

The petition said he became acquainted with her just before he was readmitted to the Fort Howard Veterans Hospital for treatment of an illness and that she visited him there constantly.

Vet Asks "Sympathy" Mariage Annulment

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP)—An ailing World War II veteran today asked annulment of his marriage to a woman he said married him for sympathy and with no intention of living with him.

The annulment was asked in Circuit Court by Charles C. Beard, 34, of nearby Linthicum Heights. He said he and his 37-year-old wife, Helen, were married at Elkton, Md., Jan. 19, 1952 but had never lived together.

Beard contended through his attorney, Harold Lee Frankel, that his wife was not in love with him but was "confused by her delicate and tender and sympathetic feeling" for him.

The petition said he became acquainted with her just before he was readmitted to the Fort Howard Veterans Hospital for treatment of an illness and that she visited him there constantly.

Elementary Principals Name Chairmen For Year

Miss Elizabeth Flake presided and appointed her committees for the year at the first meeting of the fall season of the Elementary Principals Association Tuesday evening at Clary Club.

Program chairmen for the year are Mrs. Elsie Hill Roland, for November; Miss Catherine Thomas, January; Miss Lulu Blonsky, March, and Earl Brain, May. Miss Grace Filer is Welfare committee chairman, and Mrs. Gertrude Collins, Patrol committee chairman.

The theme for the year," Challenges for the Principal," was the topic of a talk by Ralph R. Webster. The challenges the speaker emphasized were knowing the individual child, helping the teacher, and public relations.

Each month the chairman will develop a different "challenge."

Miss Flake announced that the county commissioners have voted to take care of the expenses of the belts and badges for all county Patrol children.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Webster, other guests were Miss Jane Botsford and Miss Winifred Green, elementary supervisors.

Mrs. James R. Smith Heads Rural Women Short Course

The Rural Women's Short Course Club elected Mrs. James R. Smith president at the annual fall dinner meeting Tuesday evening in the recreational hall of Centre Street Methodist Church. Miss Winfield Harper was elected treasurer.

Mrs. Ernest M. Powell presided at the business session. Officers serving another year are Mrs. H. R. Aldridge, vice president; Mrs. G. Frank Malin, secretary; and Mrs. Adam Baer, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Holmes Cessna announced that the Achievement Day observance will be October 15 at Centre Street Church. Recognition was paid to Miss Maude A. Bean, honorary member of the class of 1926 and only representative of the class present; and to Mrs. E. C. Kilroy, vice president of the state Homemakers Club. Revision of the constitution was discussed.

Entertainment was under the direction of Mrs. John S. Cook. It featured a skit, Class of 1953, by Mrs. Charles Burley and Mrs. John Beckman.

There were 119 members present. The business session will be in April.

Polish Mt. 4-H Receives Invitations

Ways of raising money were discussed and reports given at the meeting of the Polish Mountain 4-H Girls Club, held at the home of Eleanor Smith, Polish Mountain.

It was decided for members to make aprons and waste baskets to raise funds for the club.

The girls were invited to bring their mothers and attend a cooking demonstration given by Miss Genevieve McCoy, Potomac Edison home demonstration agent. It will be held at 7:30 o'clock, October 12 at the home of Miss Smith.

Plans also were made to present a health play for the Polish Mountain Homemakers meeting November 10. Entitled "The Smith Family Talks about Cancer," the character of John Smith will be portrayed by Eleanor Smith; his wife, Mary, Virginia Shipway; Roy, the son, Darlene Davis; and Betty, the daughter, Patricia Smith.

The meeting was opened with the Flag salute and Darlene Davis was acting secretary. Eleanor Smith presided and reported on the county 4-H Camp, 4-H Club Week and the state fair. She told of Miss Shipway and herself winning the county demonstration blue ribbon, and the state red ribbon. She also won the individual award in the poultry demonstration. Miss Davis reported on her flower garden and Patricia Smith, her vegetable garden. Mrs. Nola Smith, leader, outlined the program for the year and spoke of the 4-H Achievement dinner being held November 5, and urged all to attend.

The recreational period following the meeting and group singing were under the direction of the hostess. The meeting closed with the 4-H pledge.

Miss Joann Reitz was a guest. Others present were Vickie Davis, Vera Smith, Patricia Smith, and Geraldine Moyer.

A Nominating committee will be elected at the next meeting to be held at the home of Darlene Davis, when she will give a dresser drawer demonstration.

Tea For CC Workers To Be Today

A "kickoff tea" for women workers of the Community Chest drive is being held at 2 o'clock this afternoon. It will be in the B'er Chayim Temple house.

All district chairmen, zone leaders, captains and workers are invited to attend.

Mrs. A. J. Feigus will pour tea and William Buchholtz, general chairman of the drive, is to be the speaker. Cards and material will be distributed.

The women are also invited to the kickoff dinner being held at 6:15 p. m., October 6 in Central YMCA.

St. Patrick's Mothers Club To Hold Supper Party Oct. 26

Officers of the St. Patrick's Mothers Club were installed at the first meeting in the school year, held in the social center. Mrs. John Kienhofer officiated at the installation and presented the officers with corsages.

Mrs. William Buzzard was inducted as president; Mrs. John Gerdeman, vice president; Mrs. Stanley Zorick, recording secretay; and Mrs. Helen Isner, corresponding secretary.

Plans were formulated for a covered dish supper October 26. It is to introduce the first grade mothers to the members, and they will be guests of the club. It will be held in the social center, beginning at 6 p. m.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Jeanne Franchi, retiring president, and the faculty was introduced to the others by Sister Mary Nicholas, new superior. Class mothers were chosen for the year.

Entertainment consisted of a hat dance by Jade Green and a dance and song by Carolyn Decker.

Refreshments were served by the new and retiring officers. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Buzzard. There were 152 members present.

Board-Match To Feature Game Tonight

A team of four "Board a Match" championship is to be played tonight by the Western Maryland Bridge Association. It will be at the Cumberland Country Club, beginning at 8 o'clock.

A. D. Heacox said last evening that the team of four championship is regarded by the leading experts of bridge as being the one real test of tournament bridge. Every board is a separate match and a team can "either win it, lose it or half it."

Because of the interest in this type of play, anyone caring to kibitz is invited to do so.

There are 17 teams entered and 32 boards will be played.

There also will be a special "B Section" for all players not entered in the Team of Four, and all new players with five Master Points or less, will play in this special section.

Mr. Heacox urges every bridge player to take advantage of the special series of lessons being given each Friday evening from 7:30 until 9 in the club room, second floor of Central YMCA. The lessons are being sponsored by the local club and A. J. Feigus is the instructor. Anyone interested may attend the lesson Friday night.

Beef short ribs are a flavorful addition to any meal, especially if they have been slowly browned, then simmered in a spicy barbecue sauce until tender. For those who like a less tangy flavor, braise the short ribs in a small amount of liquid and add whole potatoes, carrots, onions and cabbage wedges to cook with the meat.

Ursuline Seniors To Hold Dance

Ursuline Academy Senior Class is entertaining with a sports dance October 4. It will be held in the parish hall, Fayette Street, and all friends of the students are invited.

It is being held to raise funds to charter a bus for the Ursuline students to attend the LaSalle game in Altoona.

Music will be by Jimmy Andrews and his orchestra, with dancing from 8:30 until 11:30 o'clock. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

UN Club Is Organized, Elects

Margaret Dye was elected president; Robert Hardman vice president; Andrew DeHaven, secretary; Joan Bennett, treasurer, and Joel Jacobson, chaplain.

Rosemary Wotring was elected head of the Membership drive, which opened this week. Others serving with her are Wilma Schry and Rene Swartz.

The club is composed of senior high students of Allegany High School. Miss Margaret Baker, world history teacher, is the student advisor of the club which is composed of 45 members. It was decided to meet the second Monday of each month.

Plans also were discussed to go to Baltimore for United Nations day.

Robert Harmon showed a jungle film and Winfield Adam spoke of his trip to the White House and a speech by Secretary of State Dulles.

The October 12 meeting will be at the home of Joan Bennett, LaVale.

Rosemary Wotring, Rene Swartz and Wilma Schry will be hostesses for the November meeting, which will be held at the latter's home in LaVale.

Paper Presented By Carroll On Repair Of Water Mains

Nine city employes attended a meeting of the Western Area Mutual Support Water and Sewage Works Plan in Hagerstown Tuesday and one presented a paper before the group.

Approximately 50 persons from throughout Maryland attended the session. Simon K. Carroll, of the Cumberland Water Department, presented the paper on "Repairing Fractured Water Mains."

The mutual support group has been set up to offer maximum assistance in event of enemy attack or in a natural catastrophe. It is a branch of Civil Defense.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, said high point of the training conference was a suggestion that municipalities survey all sources of water other than the urban distribution lines so that it would be available if enemy bombs destroyed the regular supply.

He said it was also emphasized that all departments involved in the plan should work together, learn the work completely, so each could do the job in an emergency. This, he added, is defense in depth.

A number of details were discussed, among them rationing of water and the contamination of a bomb explosion on water.

In addition to Carroll and Nuzum others attending were Harry Rodenhouser, representing the Street Department; Charles Brotemarkle, Clark Zembower, Samuel Miller, Herbert Stallings, William C. Shipes and Junior Wilson of the Water Department.

Transfer Of Driver Tests Suggested

Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long has asked State Police to conduct driver tests in the vicinity of Fort Hill Stadium instead of the State Armory which is located in the congested South Centre Street area.

In a letter to Major Ruxton Ridgeley, executive officer of the Maryland State Police, Long asked that Ridgeley discuss the move with Col. Elmer Munshower, superintendent of the State Police and the Maryland Motor Vehicle Department. He pointed out that the Fort Hill area has wide streets and traffic is less congested.

Welfare Head Urges Program For Delinquents

The director of the Maryland State Department of Public Welfare visited here Tuesday and discussed with local welfare officials problems of a statewide nature and the department's plan for working with juvenile delinquents.

Mrs. Elinor M. Westerfeld, director of the Allegany County Welfare Board, said Waxter spent most of the day with members of the local staff, board members and others connected with welfare work here discussing state plans and future legislation.

Waxter explained that the proposed state program on juvenile delinquency is a three-pronged one including emphasis on better personal supervision in training schools, after care supervision programs through the county if the county is interested and trying to do more at the community level to spot children who appear heading for trouble.

Waxter is well-versed in problems presented by juveniles. Prior to his appointment as director he had been Juvenile Court judge in Baltimore for six year.

Waxter also made visits to three families who receive public assistance from the county board in an effort to gain better knowledge of the local program.

Cpl. Rhodes Re-enlists For 6 Years In Army

Cpl. William H. Rhodes, one of three Cumberland soldiers freed in the Korean prisoner of war exchange, will be sworn into the Army today at Fort Meade for a new six-year hitch.

The 31-year-old repatriate, son of Mrs. Mary Jane Rhodes of Benjamin Banneker Homes on Frederick Street, wants to be sent back to the Far East Command.

Cpl. Rhodes plans to make a career of the Army. He has been in service off and on for six years, dating back to October 2, 1942. One enlistment ended in 1946 due to illness in the family, and he signed up again in 1950.

The corporal had been a prisoner of the Communists more than two years. He was captured in April, 1951.

Deadline Is Set

Monday is the deadline to register as a baby sitter with the Recreation Department, Miss Helen C. Gilmore, secretary, announces.

After that date, lists of applications will be checked and placed on permanent record.

One-Fourth Of Retail Dollar Spent For Food Here

Food is big business in Cumberland. In point of sales volume, local retail stores selling food are attracting a bigger chunk of the household dollar than any other retail group.

Further back in the quest for the dollar are stores selling automotive equipment and supplies, which includes farm machinery and bicycles as well as cars and boats, the furniture-household-radio stores, general merchandise establishments, including department stores, and drug stores.

The lowdown on how the dollar is spread, and for what, is given in Sales Management's recent copyrighted survey.

Expenditures for food in Cumberland during the past year reached the formidable figure of $15,237,000, which marked a rise over the 1951 volume, $14,830,000. It was divided in various proportions among the butcher shops, grocery stores, and fish markets.

It represented food buying per family of $1,350, a figure obtained by dividing the total outlay by the number of families. This was a spending pattern that spelled good living.

By way of comparison, the average amount spent for food throughout the country as a whole during the year was only $879 per family. The families in the South Atlantic States spent an average of $770.

Among the leading reasons given for the relatively large outlays for food are the increase in the birth rate, with twice as many second babies as there were in 1940, the increase in longevity, the rise in prices and an increase in earnings that made bigger spending possible.

The food stores in Cumberland snared 25 cents of each retail dollar spent locally. This compares with 24 cents nationally and the same figure in the South Atlantic States.

Much of the remainder of the dollar went to stores selling the other types of merchandise covered by the survey.

The automotive equipment and supplies establishments accounted for $9,057,000 in the year, or almost 15 cents. General merchandise stores did $7,689,000, equal to 12 cents. In places dealing in furniture, household equipment, radio and television, the volume done was $4,287,000, or seven cents. Drug store sales totaled $1,932,000, another 3 cents.

In Hagerstown food purchases totaled $14,274,000 a rise from $13,794,000. It represented $1,220 per family. The Hagerstown figure as also 25 percent of the retail dollar.

Other business in Hagerstown includes: Automobile $9,034,000; general $6,465,000; furniture $4,114,000 and drug stores $1,746,000.

ON THE COST OF MEDICAL CARE

Many of the current prolonged discussions on the high cost of medical care are without foundation. Although it is true that drugs and medical services cost more now than they did ten years ago, the rise in cost has not been out of proportion to the increase in the prices of other commodities and services.

The cost of a physician's call is no greater than that of a plumber or an electrician. The cost of the medicine he prescribes is no higher than the cost of a valve, a faucet, or an electrical outlet.

Moreover, it must be remembered that money cannot buy good health. It is priceless. No finer, no more economical, no more efficient system of medical care has ever been devised than that which this nation now enjoys.

Along The Potomac

by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON—The cost of living has hit a new record, and it appears time to find out why the public is paying more for food and farmers are receiving less for it.

Unless the trend changes this fall, I intend to ask members of the House Agriculture Committee to look into this problem.

It isn't a new problem, but everyone had hoped it would clear up by now. During the last part of the Truman administration, the farm parity ratio, based on what farmers have to pay for the things they buy compared with what they received for their crops, fell 18 points. Under the Eisenhower administration it has fallen less than two points.

Figures just computed by the Department of Labor show the cost of living is the highest ever. Part of the new increase is chargeable to the ending of rent controls, and the opinion I hear from most people is that a slight increase in rent is well worth getting rid of interference of federal authorities.

Meat prices, however, notably beef and veal, are still going up and are making a significant contribution to the high cost of living. It is amazing that this occurs while we hear so many justified complaints from cattle farmers that their market prices are so poor.

Somewhere between the housewife at the meat counter and the farmer at the cattle market a good part of the price of every pound of beef is being absorbed. If this is justified by higher packing or transportation costs or some other factor, the public is entitled to know. If it is not justified, the House Agriculture Committee should study possible legislation to correct the trouble.

If we can solve this problem in keeping with the principles of free enterprise and our traditional system of government, our new session of Congress beginning in January will make a very great contribution to the welfare of our citizens.

Two-hundred-fifty persons came to the meeting we arranged last week in Sherwood High School at Sandy Spring with a Post Office Department representative to discuss proposed changes in mail service affecting upper Montgomery County. I made extensive notes on the public reaction to each problem, and as soon as possible will make my report to the department.

Monday I will spend the day in Garrett County . . . Tuesday I'll be at the Rotary Club meeting in Cumberland . . . Wednesday morning at the presentation of historic documents to Montgomery Blair High School by the Silver Spring Exchange Club . . . Thursday at the Frederick Fair, and Friday back at the Capitol to greet 400 Student Council leaders who will tour the Capitol and White House during their state convention.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(Distributed By INS)

Don't like to remind you we have a peace conference on the thirty-eighth parallel in October. Unless we can get another armistice.

Peace to old Doctor Rhee is like the time Niagara Falls froze over. The unpremeditated silence made all Buffalonians sit up in bed and ask, "What's that?"

If his health continues under the stress of serenity and the corrosive sublimate of amity we can expect Syngman on the Yalu. He will be there with freshly polished objections.

He will be there with his portfolio loaded with negative grape and cannister. He will be there primed to the teeth with plans for a snappy old age.

He will be there with his shatterproof bifocals and an impediment in his nod.

We have to hand ourselves credit for being the best dressed diplomats in the hair-shirt department. We pick out tougher help than the guy who hired the minatour for a baby-watcher.

Saar Gripes

Just 25 years ago we suggested an impartial commission to break the index fingers off European military statues.

There is Napoleon pointing north. Bismark pointing south and Nelson throwing in a couple of thumbs. There will never be peace with Equestrian bookmarks and bronze fingers to keep revenge fermenting in heroic silhouettes.

France is never going to trust Germany so long as their coat-tails brush the ground. And the translated disgust is mutual.

France first suggested the European army and then cooled off like fanned soup.

Germany trusts France slightly but reserves the right to bite off its own political asparagus tips. The French and English whipped up a 900-year-old argument over two channel islands that aren't big enough to bivouac a frog at low tide.

Biggest impediment in the hammocking of Adenauer and Bidault are the Saar gripes. France wants that guttural territory for its retalitory stockpile. It's loaded with coal, steel, tanks, shells and everything that will hurt a man.

Adenauer doesn't want to write off the Saar because the Eastern German frontier is going bait to the Commies.

Baltimore is back in the major leagues of baseball after more than half a century, if you can except the brief invasion the short-lived Federal League made there in 1914.

The St. Louis Browns' claim to the title of "big leaguers" is as suspect as was that of the Baltimore Feds. But the Browns will do well there. The Boston Braves were a pretty listless lot until wildly acclaimed by big-league-hungry Milwaukee. In an era of fading baseball attendances, the Braves broke the National League record.

The old Baltimore Feds drew quite well; so much better than did Baltimore's minor league Orioles that Owner Jack Dunn had to raise capital in a hurry. He first offered three of his young players to Connie Mack, but Mack didn't like the price, $8,500 for the lot. Joe Lannin of the Red Sox accepted the three, and the cheapest of the three (with a price tag of $2,900) was a lad named George Herman Ruth.

Along The Potomac

by Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde

WASHINGTON—The cost of living has hit a new record, and it appears time to find out why the public is paying more for food and farmers are receiving less for it.

Unless the trend changes this fall, I intend to ask members of the House Agriculture Committee to look into this problem.

It isn't a new problem, but everyone had hoped it would clear up by now. During the last part of the Truman administration, the farm parity ratio, based on what farmers have to pay for the things they buy compared with what they received for their crops, fell 18 points. Under the Eisenhower administration it has fallen less than two points.

Figures just computed by the Department of Labor show the cost of living is the highest ever. Part of the new increase is chargeable to the ending of rent controls, and the opinion I hear from most people is that a slight increase in rent is well worth getting rid of interference of federal authorities.

Meat prices, however, notably beef and veal, are still going up and are making a significant contribution to the high cost of living. It is amazing that this occurs while we hear so many justified complaints from cattle farmers that their market prices are so poor.

Somewhere between the housewife at the meat counter and the farmer at the cattle market a good part of the price of every pound of beef is being absorbed. If this is justified by higher packing or transportation costs or some other factor, the public is entitled to know. If it is not justified, the House Agriculture Committee should study possible legislation to correct the trouble.

If we can solve this problem in keeping with the principles of free enterprise and our traditional system of government, our new session of Congress beginning in January will make a very great contribution to the welfare of our citizens.

Two-hundred-fifty persons came to the meeting we arranged last week in Sherwood High School at Sandy Spring with a Post Office Department representative to discuss proposed changes in mail service affecting upper Montgomery County. I made extensive notes on the public reaction to each problem, and as soon as possible will make my report to the department.

Monday I will spend the day in Garrett County . . . Tuesday I'll be at the Rotary Club meeting in Cumberland . . . Wednesday morning at the presentation of historic documents to Montgomery Blair High School by the Silver Spring Exchange Club . . . Thursday at the Frederick Fair, and Friday back at the Capitol to greet 400 Student Council leaders who will tour the Capitol and White House during their state convention.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(Distributed By INS)

Don't like to remind you we have a peace conference on the thirty-eighth parallel in October. Unless we can get another armistice.

Peace to old Doctor Rhee is like the time Niagara Falls froze over. The unpremeditated silence made all Buffalonians sit up in bed and ask, "What's that?"

If his health continues under the stress of serenity and the corrosive sublimate of amity we can expect Syngman on the Yalu. He will be there with freshly polished objections.

He will be there with his portfolio loaded with negative grape and cannister. He will be there primed to the teeth with plans for a snappy old age.

He will be there with his shatterproof bifocals and an impediment in his nod.

We have to hand ourselves credit for being the best dressed diplomats in the hair-shirt department. We pick out tougher help than the guy who hired the minatour for a baby-watcher.

Saar Gripes

Just 25 years ago we suggested an impartial commission to break the index fingers off European military statues.

There is Napoleon pointing north, Bismark pointing south and Nelson throwing in a couple of thumbs. There will never be peace with Equestrian bookmarks and bronze fingers to keep revenge fermenting in heroic silhouettes.

France is never going to trust Germany so long as their coat-tails brush the ground. And the translated disgust is mutual.

France first suggested the European army and then cooled off like fanned soup.

Germany trusts France slightly but reserves the right to bite off its own political asparagus tips. The French and English whipped up a 900-year-old argument over two channel islands that aren't big enough to bivouac a frog at low tide.

Biggest impediment in the hammocking of Adenauer and Bidault are the Saar gripes. France wants that guttural territory for its retalitory stockpile. It's loaded with coal, steel, tanks, shells and everything that will hurt a man.

Adenauer doesn't want to write off the Saar because the Eastern German frontier is going bait to the Commies.

Md. Death Toll Shows Increase First 8 Months

46 Persons Die During August

During the month of August 1953, the State of Maryland experienced a total of 46 traffic deaths—bringing the figure of persons killed in auto accidents for the eight-month period to 345—this represents a four per cent increase when compared with last year's figure for the same period, which was 332.

Twelve of the persons who were killed by motor vehicles were pedestrians. These deaths represented approximately 26 per cent of the August traffic fatalities.

One thousand two hundred ninety-six persons were injured in traffic accidents during the month of August in the state. This total represents an average of 42 personal injuries each day as the result of traffic accidents.

Two hundred fifty of the persons injured by motor vehicles were pedestrians.

One person was killed every 16 hours, and one was injured every 34 minutes.

Seven hundred sixty traffic accidents occurred during the hours of daylight in the counties of Maryland and 894 traffic accidents occurred during the hours of darkness in the counties during the month of August.

Six hundred fifty-five traffic accidents occurred during the hours of daylight in Baltimore City and 615 traffic accidents occurred during the hours of darkness during August.

Nine traffic deaths occurred during the hours of daylight in the counties of Maryland and 31 traffic deaths occurred during the hours of darkness in the counties during August, while Baltimore City experienced 2 traffic deaths during the hours of daylight and 4 traffic deaths during the hours of darkness.

Collisions of motor vehicles with motor vehicles killed 15 persons during August, and collisions of motor vehicles with fixed objects killed 14 persons during the same period.

Colonel Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of the Maryland State Police, commenting on the high traffic accident rate in Maryland, stated:

"Safety is everybody's business. Every operator must be imbued with the proper driving attitude; and the hazardous driver must be removed from our streets and highways if we ever expect to reduce the rising number of motor vehicle accidents."

Md. Death Toll Shows Increase First 8 Months

46 Persons Die During August

During the month of August 1953, the State of Maryland experienced a total of 46 traffic deaths—bringing the figure of persons killed in auto accidents for the eight-month period to 345—this represents a four per cent increase when compared with last year's figure for the same period, which was 332.

Twelve of the persons who were killed by motor vehicles were pedestrians. These deaths represented approximately 26 per cent of the August traffic fatalities.

One thousand two hundred ninety-six persons were injured in traffic accidents during the month of August in the state. This total represents an average of 42 personal injuries each day as the result of traffic accidents.

Two hundred fifty of the persons injured by motor vehicles were pedestrians.

One person was killed every 16 hours, and one was injured every 34 minutes.

Seven hundred sixty traffic accidents occurred during the hours of daylight in the counties of Maryland and 894 traffic accidents occurred during the hours of darkness in the counties during the month of August.

Six hundred fifty-five traffic accidents occurred during the hours of daylight in Baltimore City and 615 traffic accidents occurred during the hours of darkness during August.

Nine traffic deaths occurred during the hours of daylight in the counties of Maryland and 31 traffic deaths occurred during the hours of darkness in the counties during August, while Baltimore City experienced 2 traffic deaths during the hours of daylight and 4 traffic deaths during the hours of darkness.

Collisions of motor vehicles with motor vehicles killed 15 persons during August, and collisions of motor vehicles with fixed objects killed 14 persons during the same period.

Colonel Elmer F. Munshower, superintendent of the Maryland State Police, commenting on the high traffic accident rate in Maryland, stated:

"Safety is everybody's business. Every operator must be imbued with the proper driving attitude; and the hazardous driver must be removed from our streets and highways if we ever expect to reduce the rising number of motor vehicle accidents."

State PTA President Speaks At Annual Fellowship Dinner Of County Council

"Schools are the hope of the future," Joseph Hunter, state president of the Parent-Teachers, declared in speaking on "Let's Talk Sense about our Maryland Schools," at the annual Fellowship dinner of the Allegany County Council of Parents-Teachers last evening in the dining room of Frostburg State Teachers College. Hunter also outlined the history of the public schools.

Dr. Adam Baer presided and was presented the president's pin.

Twenty four of the 27 schools of the county were represented by the principal or president of the PTA.

Representing groups interested in education were Miss Lillian C. Compton, president of the college; Richard Rizer, for the Board of Education; Paul Cooper, director of county cafeterias; Mrs. Gladys Eaton, supervisor of cafeterias; Valgene Routch, music supervisor for the county; Mrs. Eleanor Tennent, president of the Association of Childhood Education International; Benjamin Elkins, president of the Future Teachers of America; Mrs. Albert Cook and Mrs. Stanley Buckley, from the county school board; Dr. Harold Reese, in charge of the education department of the college, Miss Winifred Green, Miss Jane Botsford, supervisors of elementary education; Mrs. Earl Lee, Garrett County PTA; James Orr, county commissioner; Lester Reed, Estel Kelly, Noel Speir Cook, Horace Whitworth and Charles See members of the county delegation to the General Assembly.

Entertainment featured group singing and selections by the Cumberland Quartet, composed of Dr. W. Royce Hodges, Cletus Hartsock, Kenneth Beck and Robert Moreland, accompanied by Mrs. Beck. The invocation was given by Miss Compton and Dr. Baer introduced Mrs. George Dunlap, general chairman; Mrs. Baer, chairman of reservations; Mrs. Buckley and Miss Green, invitations; Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, tables; Mrs. Ralph Isiminger, hospitality, and Mrs. Lester McGill, publicity. The different county councils served as hostesses for each table. Approximately 100 members and guests attended.

A representative to the annual convention will be elected at the regular business meeting at 8 p. m. October 5 at the Eckhart School.

Yankees Blast Dodgers 9-5 To Capture Series Opener

Erskine Fails For Brooklyn, Martin Stars

Billy Hits Bases Full Triple; Five Homers Hit In Long Contest

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP) — The proud New York Yankees battered Brooklyn's ace 20-game winner and three relief pitchers to beat the power-happy Dodgers at their own game today, 9-5, in the opening game of their bid for a record fifth straight world baseball championship.

69,374 See Game

The Yanks startled a stadium crowd of 69,374 by blasting Carl Erskine for four runs in the first inning. After the Dodgers finally fought back to tie in the seventh, they again applied the pressure to the shaky Dodger pitching staff.

Joe Collins, benched for Johnny Mize during a hitless '52 Series, snapped the tie with a 360-foot home run smash off a post in the lower right field seats in the Yankee seventh.

Sain drove in two with a double to the auxiliary score board in right and Collins knocked in another with a single in the three-run eighth inning that ruined Dodger hopes.

It was a day of frustration for the Dodgers who never have won a Series. Reeling after the first inning blast, they finally managed to knock out a fast-tiring Reynolds in the sixth only to see the game go out the window when their own pitchers failed. Twelve Brooks were stranded, only two short of the Series record.

Jim Hughes, who allowed only one run in four innings after taking over from Erskine, was the only effective Dodger pitcher. After he went out for pinch-hitter George Shuba in the sixth, Manager Chuck Dressen couldn't find a stopper.

Martin Hits Triple

Billy Martin hit a three-run triple with the bases loaded off Erskine in the first and added a pair of singles to lead the Yankee attack. Collins and Yogi Berra provided the home run punch.

Junior Gilliam, Gil Hodges and Shuba ripped into Reynold's pitches for home runs before Manager Casey Stengel brought in the tobacco chawin' Sain. Curve-ball Johnny allowed only one more run and five hits over the last four and two thirds innings to earn the victory.

Although Reynolds failed in his attempt to tie Red Ruffing's all-time mark of seven Series victories, he struck out six men.

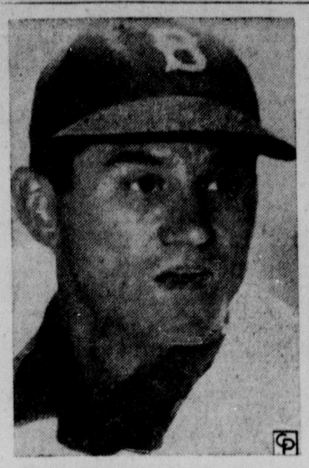
Berra Stops Threat

Successive singles by Roy Campanella, Hodges and Furillo drove home Campy with the tying run in the seventh. But that was all.

Twice Dressen tried to advance the runners with sacrifice bunts but both Cox and Clem Labine, the third pitcher, forced runners at third on Berra's alert play. Gilliam fouled out to leave two on base.

The free-hitting game lasted three hours and 10 minutes, only nine minutes short of the record for a nine-inning game, and the gross receipts of $465,267.00 and the net of $387,574.74 were highs, due to the price increases. The old record was $378,778.73 at Cleveland Oct. 10, 1948 in a game watched by 86,288 fans.

(Play-by-play on Page 12)



SEEK SECOND GAME—Preacher Roe, lean lefthanded ace of the Brooklyn Dodgers (left) will face another southpaw, Eddie Lopat (right) of the New York Yankees as the two teams battle for the second game of the 1953 World Series this afternoon at Yankee Stadium. The World Champion Yankees were victorious in the opener, 9-5.

Moorefield Host To Romney In PVC Engagement

Pioneers To Seek Fourth Win In Row

Moorefield High's Yellowjackets will host the Romney Pioneers in one of the top Potomac Valley Conference clashes this week when the two teams meet Friday afternoon on the Hardy County field.

Coach Dick McElwee's Pioneers will be striving for their fourth straight triumph this season when they invade the premises of the Jackets. Only one of Romney's three wins is a PVC encounter, a 28-7 decision over Franklin.

Moorefield, victorious once and tied twice, is also unbeaten and sports a one win, one tie record in the conference.

Coach Jonathan Paugh's Moorefield aggregation, which lost to the Pioneers last year by a 45-6 score when the Pioneers finished second behind Keyser for the loop crown, actually holds a 12-8 edge over Romney in past games won. Three games have ended in deadlocks between the two school teams.

Romney has bowled over Berkeley Springs, 22-6, Charles Town 41-12, and Franklin. Moorefield defeated Thomas 25-7 and tied Green Bank 12-12 and Petersburg 0-0.

County Shuffleboard Matches Set Tonight

Eight County Shuffleboard League matches are scheduled tonight as the second week of the 1953-54 season gets underway. Only three of the 16 teams in the circuit escaped with unblemished records on opening night last week. They are the Amvets, Cumberland Knights of Columbus and Fisher and Robinette.

Tonight's games pit Cas Taylor's at Goodfellowship Club; Stadium Inn at Cumberland Amvets; Hann's Tavern at Cumberland VFW; Fisher and Robinette at Golden Nugget;: Frostburg K of C at Mt. Savage VFW; Hi Dee Club at Frostburg Legion; Woodmen of the World at Purple Heart and Mike Miller's at Cumberland K of C.

Catamount Foe Fields Heavy Team Saturday

Geo. Washington JVs Meet Potomac State

KEYSER, Sept. 30—The George Washington Junior Varsity, which furnishes the opposition for the victory-starved Potomac Catamounts this Saturday, could field a team with tremendous weight.

Wallace Furr and David Liddick, tackles, are listed at 260 and 250 respectively and two other linemen with plenty of avoirdupois are William Ames, 230 and Ed Sakach tipping the beam at 225. James McDaniel 210 and Gerard Rey 190 ends and Paul DeBiase weighing 200 at center would hold the weight of the line up to 230 and dwarf anything the Catamounts could field. With several backs listed near the 200 mark to go with such a tremendous line, it can well be seen that G. W. does not expect to be kicked around in the Southern Conference during the next few years.

Coach Dana Lough has been making some changes in the lineup this week in an attempt to add some weight to the Catamount team for this game. Bob Emery and Bob Barber have been working at ends and Demko has been moved from tackle to center. Ed Egan has been moved from fullback to quarterback and Ross Mastrean another fullback has been running at halfback. Coach Lough has not found a passing combination that clicks, but feels that the team must go to the air to make a showing in this game.

Football fans of this area will have the opportunity Saturday to see some of the future stars of the Southern Conference perform. The inside information seems to agree that G. W. expects to give Maryland and West Virginia plenty of competition in the near future for football greatness in this area.

Saturday's game is being sponsored by the Upper Potomac Shrine Club and the advance sale of tickets indicates a very large crowd will attend. The kick-off will be at 2 o'clock, and the officials will be registered Southern Conference whistle tooters appointed from the Washington area.

Beall Jayvees Edge LaSalle

4th Quarter Score Wins Game, 7 To 0

FROSTBURG, Sept. 30 — A fourth-quarter touchdown by Bob Stevenson on a four-yard end run enabled the Beall High Jayvees to edge the LaValle High Junior Varsity here today 7-0.

In the opening game for both Jayvee squads the two teams appeared to be battling to a scoreless tie before an 18-yard pass from Paul Wilson to Andy Felker set up the Beall score. Stevenson then circled his own right end for the touchdown.

Another pass from Wilson to Felker produced the extra points.

Both teams were evenly matched and each ended the contest with five first downs.

Kenneth Smith, commercial instructor at Beall, is the coach for the Frostburg Jayvees while Bob Hall is handling the reins for the Explorers Junior Varsity. The lineups:

Pos.	Beall (7)	LaSalle (0)

Ottawa Team Signs Tackle Roy Smith

OTTAWA, Sept. 30 (AP)—Ottawa Rough Riders today signed Roy Smith, a 225-pound tackle who starred with University of Tennessee before trying out with the Cleveland Browns this year. The Riders will drop Jack Gearding, former Xavier University tackle who was playing his second year here.

Lennox Named Best Lineman Of The Week

LaSalle's Center Was Star Against Keyser Eleven

Ronald Lennox, 160-pound senior center of the LaSalle High School Explorers, won the third nomination for Lineman of the Week by the Knights of Columbus selection committee.

Lennox was outstanding both on offense and defense in his play against the Keyser High Golden Tornado last Friday in Fort Hill stadium when the Explorers defeated the West Virginians 19-6.

A fine block by the scrappy pivotman enabled Denny Shuck to break loose for a 38-yard touchdown run and his excellent line-backing stopped the Keyser attack cold.

Lennox thus becomes the second LaSalle lineman selected for the K of C honor, joining teammate Phil Geatz who was nominated several weeks ago. Lennox and Geatz, along with George Reynolds of Allegany, have been chosen the best linemen this season. They will be eligible for the Player of the Year award at the conclusion of the season.

Also named for outstanding play this year have been three backs, Denny Shuck of LaSalle, Jim Hoffman of Allegany and Bob Andrews of Fort Hill. They too will vie for the Player of the Year title.

The selection committee also judged the play of Ricky Harris, guard, and Leo Franklin, tackle, for the Explorers as worthy of mention in making the nomination.

Terps Take Easy Individual Workouts

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 30 (AP)—Maryland's football squad took it easy today, stressing individual work and passing as it prepped for its game at Clemson Saturday.

Coach Jim Tatum had put the squad through two hard workouts Monday and Tuesday. Tomorrow will be another light day and the last practice session before the Terrapins leave Friday for Clemson.

Truman Picks Bums To Win The Series

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 30 (INS) — Former President Harry S. Truman today picked the Brooklyn Dodgers to beat the New York Yankees in the world series.

"The Yankees are getting to be a habit," he said in a pre-series statement, "it's about time somebody did something about it."

Bill Talbert Chosen Captain Of U. S. Davis Cup Net Team

Doubles Ace Will Be Non-Player

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—William F. (Bill) Talbert, one of the finest doubles players ever developed in American tennis and one of the game's outstanding strategists, was chosen today as non-playing captain of the United States Davis Cup team which will play in Australia in December.

Talbert will lead a four-man team composed of Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, Victor Seixas of Philadelphia, Hamilton Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., and Robert M. Perry of Los Angeles.

They will play the winner of the Belgium-India match at Brisbane, Australia, Dec. 19-21 and then, if successful, the Australian team at Melbourne, Dec. 28-30, in the challenge round.

The selection of the 35-year-old New Yorker as non-playing captain apparently resolves a dilemma in which the United States Lawn Tennis Association found itself when Trabert demanded Talbert as his doubles partner, terming him the best doubles player in the world. This way the 1953 U. S. singles champion will at least have the benefit of Talbert's coaching and advice.

The four man team was described by the Davis Cup Committee, of which Lawrence A. Baker of New York is chairman, as a combination of seasoned and younger players.

Women Shufflers Elect Officers

Mrs. Vi Gibson was elected president of the Allegany County Women's Shuffleboard League last night at a meeting held at the Woodmen of the World club rooms.

Other officers for the 1953-54 season will be Dailey Rice, vice president; Alice Sions, secretary; Lena Belfoure, treasurer; and Alice Wertz, publicity.

Nine teams have indicated they will start the season next Wednesday and the loop officers are seeking additional teams to round out the circuit. New teams interested contact Mrs. Gibson, 2799-R, or Mrs. Sions, 4731. VFW, Moose and Stadium Inn dropped from the league.

Returning teams are Hi Dee, Purple Heart, Pocahontas, Golden Nugget, Clingerman, WOW, Cas Taylors, Cresap Tavern and American Legion of Frostburg.

Stevenson Wins Beall Player Of Week Award

Bob Stevenson, senior right tackle of the Beall High Mountaineers, was selected as the Player of the Week for the Frostburg school in the game against Allegany's Campers Saturday.

Stevenson, second player to be nominated under the award set up by the Beall High Boosters Club, joins Bob Zinn, quarterback, as recipient of a trophy enscribed with name, date and deed.

The husky lineman was outstanding defensively against the Campers as Beall lost 28-0, stopping the AHS running attack several times with fine tackling and blocking.

Yankees Blast Dodgers 9-5 To Capture Series Opener

Billy Hits Bases Full Triple; Five Homers Hit In Long Contest

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP) — The proud New York Yankees battered Brooklyn's ace 20-game winner and three relief pitchers to beat the power-happy Dodgers at their own game today, 9-5, in the opening game of their bid for a record fifth straight world baseball championship.

69,374 See Game

The Yanks startled a stadium crowd of 69,374 by blasting Carl Erskine for four runs in the first inning. After the Dodgers finally fought back to tie in the seventh, they again applied the pressure to the shaky Dodger pitching staff.

Joe Collins, benched for Johnny Mize during a hitless '52 Series, snapped the tie with a 360-foot home run smash off a post in the lower right field seats in the Yankee seventh.

Sain drove in two with a double to the auxiliary score board in right and Collins knocked in another with a single in the three-run eighth inning that ruined Dodger hopes.

It was a day of frustration for the Dodgers who never have won a Series. Reeling after the first inning blast, they finally managed to knock out a fast-tiring Reynolds in the sixth only to see the game go out the window when their own pitchers failed. Twelve Brooks were stranded, only two short of the Series record.

Jim Hughes, who allowed only one run in four innings after taking over from Erskine, was the only effective Dodger pitcher. After he went out for pinch-hitter George Shuba in the sixth, Manager Chuck Dressen couldn't find a stopper.

Martin Hits Triple

Billy Martin hit a three-run triple with the bases loaded off Erskine in the first and added a pair of singles to lead the Yankee attack. Collins and Yogi Berra provided the home run punch.

Junior Gilliam, Gil Hodges and Shuba ripped into Reynold's pitches for home runs before Manager Casey Stengel brought in the tobacco chawin' Sain. Curve-ball Johnny allowed only one more run and five hits over the last four and two thirds innings to earn the victory.

Although Reynolds failed in his attempt to tie Red Ruffing's all-time mark of seven Series victories, he struck out six men.

Berra Stops Threat

Successive singles by Roy Campanella, Hodges and Furillo drove home Campy with the tying run in the seventh. But that was all.

Twice Dressen tried to advance the runners with sacrifice bunts but both Cox and Clem Labine, the third pitcher, forced runners at third on Berra's alert play. Gilliam fouled out to leave two on base.

The free-hitting game lasted three hours and 10 minutes, only nine minutes short of the record for a nine-inning game, and the gross receipts of $465,267.00 and the net of $387,574.74 were highs, due to the price increases. The old record was $378,778.73 at Cleveland Oct. 10, 1948 in a game watched by 86,288 fans.

(Play-by-play on Page 12)

SEEK SECOND GAME—Preacher Roe, lean lefthanded ace of the Brooklyn Dodgers (left) will face another southpaw, Eddie Lopat (right) of the New York Yankees as the two teams battle for the second game of the 1953 World Series this afternoon at Yankee Stadium. The World Champion Yankees were victorious in the opener, 9-5.

Bratton, who is gunning for a return shot at the welter title held by Kid Gavilan, weighed 150½ to Wilson 148¾.

Moorefield Host To Romney In PVC Engagement

Pioneers To Seek Fourth Win In Row

Moorefield High's Yellowjackets will host the Romney Pioneers in one of the top Potomac Valley Conference clashes this week when the two teams meet Friday afternoon on the Hardy County field.

Coach Dick McElwee's Pioneers will be striving for their fourth straight triumph this season when they invade the premises of the Jackets. Only one of Romney's three wins is a PVC encounter, a 28-7 decision over Franklin.

Moorefield, victorious once and tied twice, is also unbeaten and sports a one win, one tie record in the conference.

Coach Jonathan Paugh's Moorefield aggregation, which lost to the Pioneers last year by a 45-6 score when the Pioneers finished second behind Keyser for the loop crown, actually holds a 12-8 edge over Romney in past games won. Three games have ended in deadlocks between the two school teams.

Romney has bowled over Berkeley Springs, 22-6, Charles Town 41-12, and Franklin. Moorefield defeated Thomas 25-7 and tied Green Bank 12-12 and Petersburg 0-0.

County Shuffleboard Matches Set Tonight

Eight County Shuffleboard League matches are scheduled tonight as the second week of the 1953-54 season gets underway. Only three of the 16 teams in the circuit escaped with unblemished records on opening night last week. They are the Amvets, Cumberland Knights of Columbus and Fisher and Robinette.

Tonight's games pit Cas Taylor's at Goodfellowship Club; Stadium Inn at Cumberland Amvets; Hann's Tavern at Cumberland VFW; Fisher and Robinette at Golden Nugget;: Frostburg K of C at Mt. Savage VFW; Hi Dee Club at Frostburg Legion; Woodmen of the World at Purple Heart and Mike Miller's at Cumberland K of C.

Catamount Foe Fields Heavy Team Saturday

Geo. Washington JVs Meet Potomac State

KEYSER, Sept. 30—The George Washington Junior Varsity, which furnishes the opposition for the victory-starved Potomac Catamounts this Saturday, could field a team with tremendous weight.

Wallace Furr and David Liddick, tackles, are listed at 260 and 250 respectively and two other linemen with plenty of avoirdupois are William Ames, 230 and Ed Sakach tipping the beam at 225. James McDaniel 210 and Gerard Rey 190 ends and Paul DeBiase weighing 200 at center would hold the weight of the line up to 230 and dwarf anything the Catamounts could field. With several backs listed near the 200 mark to go with such a tremendous line, it can well be seen that G. W. does not expect to be kicked around in the Southern Conference during the next few years.

Coach Dana Lough has been making some changes in the lineup this week in an attempt to add some weight to the Catamount team for this game. Bob Emery and Bob Barber have been working at ends and Demko has been moved from tackle to center. Ed Egan has been moved from fullback to quarterback and Ross Mastrean another fullback has been running at halfback. Coach Lough has not found a passing combination that clicks, but feels that the team must go to the air to make a showing in this game.

Football fans of this area will have the opportunity Saturday to see some of the future stars of the Southern Conference perform. The inside information seems to agree that G. W. expects to give Maryland and West Virginia plenty of competition in the near future for football greatness in this area.

Saturday's game is being sponsored by the Upper Potomac Shrine Club and the advance sale of tickets indicates a very large crowd will attend. The kick-off will be at 2 o'clock, and the officials will be registered Southern Conference whistle tooters appointed from the Washington area.

State Doesn't Plan To Cancel Hunting Season

No Immediate Danger In Woods

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP) — A Maryland game official said today the state has no plans at this time to cancel hunting seasons as West Virginia has done because of the danger of forest fires.

West Virginia's order banning hunting in all 55 counties and closing all forests in the state came today from Conservation Director Carl J. Johnson. The order was issued the day before the scheduled opening tomorrow of the seasons on squirrels, turkeys and grouse. Earlier, only 11 counties had been affected.

Johnson said a mounting danger of forest fires prompted the order.

A spokesman for the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission said there was no such danger in Maryland woodlands. Talbott Denmead, assistant public relations director for the game commission, said the forests are "very green" with more than a month and a half to go before the state's upland bird season opens.

On Oct. 5, the hunting of squirrel, jack snipe and wood cocks becomes legal in Maryland and wild turkeys will be legal game in Washington, Allegany and Garrett Counties.

The season on upland birds, quail, ruffled grouse, ring neck pheasant and rabbits opens Nov. 15.

West Virginia officials emphasized the order against hunting applies anywhere in the state, not just in forests.

The order becomes legally effective at 1 p.m. tomorrow but the department hopes sportsmen won't make use of those few hours of legal hunting.

Navy Coach Makes Changes In Lineup

Erdelatz also dropped two tackles, Pat McCool and Clark Gammell, and a guard, Leonard Benzi, back to the Jayvees.

Given a chance to take their places are Jim Royer, 208-pound sophomore guard from Woodlyn, Pa., and Frank Bendrick, 200-pound tackle from Minersville, Pa.

Leonard Is Released

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs today released Emil "Dutch" Leonard 43-year-old pitcher who had been with the National League club since 1949.

Bright Suffers Shoulder Injury

Former Drake Star Plays With Calgary

CALGARY, Sept. 30 (AP) — Hard-luck Johnny Bright, all-star fullback in his 1952 debut in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, has been lost to the tail-end Calgary Stampeders for the rest of this season.

In Monday night's game here, Bright suffered a shoulder dislocation. The brittle Bright, dogged by injuries ever since coming to Calgary, said this might mean the end of his football career.

The big Negro from Drake University was hampered by a shoulder injury in the first part of the 1952 season and an appendectomy sidelined him two weeks in the late season. He still finished as the WIFU's leading ground gainer.

Dodger Fans Donate Blood

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP) — Dodger fans bled profusely today as they watched the Yankees' World Series victory on a TV screen at the Brooklyn Red Cross blood donor center.

Moaned Chauffeur Abraham Hollenick as he rose from a donor's cot:

Dukes To Play For Milk Fund

BILL . . . . WILL TELL YOU WHY A MOTOR TUNE-UP IS NEEDED EVERY 5000 MILES!

BILL WILGUS, Service Manager

HERE'S WHY . . . .

You're probably driving a mighty fine car . . . but like anything mechanical, its hard-working parts are bound to wear and get out of adjustment. That's why a good check-up and adjustment is necessary about every 5000 miles, to restore full power and efficiency. It, too, is low cost insurance against wear and unnecessary depreciation. Now, after months of hard driving in all kinds of weather, is the time to put your car in shape.

State Doesn't Plan To Cancel Hunting Season

No Immediate Danger In Woods

BALTIMORE, Sept. 30 (AP) — A Maryland game official said today the state has no plans at this time to cancel hunting seasons as West Virginia has done because of the danger of forest fires.

West Virginia's order banning hunting in all 55 counties and closing all forests in the state came today from Conservation Director Carl J. Johnson. The order was issued the day before the scheduled opening tomorrow of the seasons on squirrels, turkeys and grouse. Earlier, only 11 counties had been affected.

Johnson said a mounting danger of forest fires prompted the order.

A spokesman for the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Commission said there was no such danger in Maryland woodlands. Talbott Denmead, assistant public relations director for the game commission, said the forests are "very green" with more than a month and a half to go before the state's upland bird season opens.

On Oct. 5, the hunting of squirrel, jack snipe and wood cocks becomes legal in Maryland and wild turkeys will be legal game in Washington, Allegany and Garrett Counties.

The season on upland birds, quail, ruffled grouse, ring neck pheasant and rabbits opens Nov. 15.

West Virginia officials emphasized the order against hunting applies anywhere in the state, not just in forests.

The order becomes legally effective at 1 p.m. tomorrow but the department hopes sportsmen won't make use of those few hours of legal hunting.

Navy Coach Makes Changes In Lineup

Erdelatz also dropped two tackles, Pat McCool and Clark Gammell, and a guard, Leonard Benzi, back to the Jayvees.

Given a chance to take their places are Jim Royer, 208-pound sophomore guard from Woodlyn, Pa., and Frank Bendrick, 200-pound tackle from Minersville, Pa.

Bright Suffers Shoulder Injury

Former Drake Star Plays With Calgary

CALGARY, Sept. 30 (AP) — Hard-luck Johnny Bright, all-star fullback in his 1952 debut in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, has been lost to the tail-end Calgary Stampeders for the rest of this season.

In Monday night's game here, Bright suffered a shoulder dislocation. The brittle Bright, dogged by injuries ever since coming to Calgary, said this might mean the end of his football career.

The big Negro from Drake University was hampered by a shoulder injury in the first part of the 1952 season and an appendectomy sidelined him two weeks in the late season. He still finished as the WIFU's leading ground gainer.

Dodger Fans Donate Blood

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP) — Dodger fans bled profusely today as they watched the Yankees' World Series victory on a TV screen at the Brooklyn Red Cross blood donor center.

Moaned Chauffeur Abraham Hollenick as he rose from a donor's cot:

Dukes To Play For Milk Fund

Play-By-Play Of First Game

First Inning Dodgers

Gilliam singled. Reese lifted a soft fly to Bauer. Snider went out on a high chopper to Martin. Robinson bounced out.

No runs, one hit, no errors, one left

First Inning Yankees

McDougald popped out to Gilliam. Collins walked. Bauer hit a triple scoring Collins. Berra went down swinging. Mantle walked. Woodling walked and loaded the bases. Martin tripled clearing the bases. Rizzuto rapped to Cox who threw to Hodges for the out.

Four runs, two hits, no errors, one left.

Second Inning Dodgers

Reynolds hit Campanella on the right wrist and he took his base apparently uninjured. Hodges flied to Woodling. Furillo struck out. Cox doubled sending Campanella to third. Wayne Belardi, went in to hit for Erskine and Belardi went down swinging.

No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Second Inning Yanks

Jim Hughes, a right hander, took the mound for the Dodgers. Reynolds struck out. McDougald bounced out. Reese got Collins' pop up.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Third Inning Dodgers

Third Inning Yankees

Bauer struck out. Berra struck out. Mantle singled. Mantle was cut down attempting to steal, Campanella to Reese.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Fourth Inning Dodgers

Campanella popped to Rizzuto. Reynolds sneaked over a third called strike on Hodges. Furillo walked. Cox flied to Bauer.

Fourth Inning Yankees

Woodling flied to Snider. Martin dropped bunt and beat Hughes' throw to first. The throw bounded past Hodges into right field, enabling Martin to reach second. When Furillo's return throw bounced past third baseman Billy Cox, Martin advanced to third. Rizzuto bounced to Reese, as Martin held third. Reynolds walked. McDougald rolled to Reese who flipped to Gilliam, forcing Reynolds at second.

No runs, one hit, two errors, two left.

Fifth Inning Dodgers

Hughes took a third called strike. Gilliam hammered a home run into the lower right field stands. Bauer raced into the right field corner for Reese's bid for an extra base blow. Robinson walked. Campanella flied to Woodling.

One run, one hit, no errors, two left.

Fifth Inning Yankees

Collins flied to Snider. Bauer lofted to Furillo. Berra slammed a home run into the lower right field stands. Gilliam stopped Mantle's grass cutter to retire the batter.

One run, one hit, no errors, none left.

Sixth Inning Dodgers

Hodges blasted a long home run into the lower left field stands. Cox singled. George Shuba batted for Hughes. Shuba lined a pinch-hit home run into the lower right field stands. Reynolds was replaced by Johnny Sain. Martin got Gilliam's roller in time to throw him out. Reese walked. Snider singled. McDougald got Robinson's roller and threw him out at first.

Three runs, four hits, no errors, two left.

Sixth Inning Yankees

Clem Labine, a righthander, came in to pitch for Brooklyn. Woodling singled. Martin bounced Gilliam, whose throw to Reese forced Woodling at second. Rizzuto swung and missed at a low curve. Campanella's accurate throw to Gilliam nipped Martin. Labine slapped down Rizzuto's hot shot and threw him out.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Seventh Inning Dodgers

Campanella singled. Hodges also singled, Campanella racing to third. Furillo singled scoring Campanella. Berra pounced on Cox's bunt and caught Hodges at third. Labine also dropped a bunt in front of the plate and Furillo was out at third in an identical play, Berra to McDougald. Berra took Gilliam's foul.

One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

Seventh Innings Yankees

Sain looked at three called strikes. Snider got McDougald's long fly. Collins cracked a home run to put the Yankees ahead 6 to 5. Bauer singled. Berra singled. Bauer stopping at second. Ben Wade, a big righthander, replaced Labine.

Mantle struck out.

One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

Eighth Inning Dodgers

Reese flied to Woodling. Snider bounced out to Collins. Robinson flied to Woodling.

No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Eighth Inning Yankees

Woodling bounced out. Martin singled. Martin stole second. Rizzuto walked. Sain doubled and Martin and Rizzuto scored. McDougald lined to Furillo. Collins singled scoring Sain with the third run of the inning. Bauer fanned.

Three runs, three hits, no errors, one left.

Ninth Inning Dodgers

HERE'S WHY . . . .

You're probably driving a mighty fine car . . . but like anything mechanical, its hard-working parts are bound to wear and get out of adjustment. That's why a good check-up and adjustment is necessary about every 5000 miles, to restore full power and efficiency. It, too, is low cost insurance against wear and unnecessary depreciation. Now

Homemakers Hear Talk On National Meet

Achievement Day Set October 15

FROSTBURG — An account of the National Convention of Homemakers held at Boston was given by Mrs. Edward Lewis, Cresaptown, at the first fall meeting of the Frostburg Homemakers Club recently. The 4H Club girls entertained with a group of songs.

Recognition and appreciation of the work done on the Theme Booth at the Fair was given Mrs. Grace Mont and her committee, Mrs. Mabel Schumaker, Mrs. Ruth Morgan, Mrs. Robert Hager, Mrs. Joseph Kohout and Mrs. Robert Wiebrecht. Mrs. Schumaker reported on the awards won by articles on display. The club voted to recommend that insurance be taken in the future to protect articles exhibited at the fair.

Mrs. Harry Morgan gave a dresser demonstration, Mrs. Esther Kachline reported on a new synthetic carpet material, and Mrs. Kenneth Babcock gave a short talk on the book "This I Believe" by Edward R. Murrow.

A nomination committee composed of Mrs. Harry Morgan, Mrs. LaVern Kerr, Miss Edna Spitznas, Mrs. Royal Skidmore, and Miss Elizabeth Workman was elected. Visitors were Miss Joanne Reitz, the new County Home Extension agent, Miss Maude Bean, Cumberland, Mrs. Perry Myers, Mrs. Alfred Fritz, Mrs. Josephine Jones and Mrs. Flora Logsdon.

Achievement Day will be held October 15 at Centre Street Methodist Church in Cumberland. Reservations for the luncheon may be made with Mrs. Adam Baer by October 10.

Hostesses for the October meeting, which will be a Halloween Party, will be Mrs. Royal Skidmore, chairman, Mrs. Henry Shaffer, Mrs. Frances Plummer, Mrs. Richard Johnson, Mrs. Gladys Harrington and Mrs. Thomas Powell. Members are asked to bring a costume wrapped in a bundle to be exchanged and worn by someone else.

McCoole Seeks Help For Area Fire Victims

Household Furniture Asked By Association

McCOOLE — The recently organized United Community Relief Association, formed by residents of the McCoole area are trying to provide household furnishings for the Roman Mills family, whose home was destroyed by fire about two weeks ago near Danville, five miles north of McCoole. The family lost all of its possessions.

The relief association has aided them with clothing for the wife and four girls, aged nine months, nine, 13 and 15 years.

The family has a home to go into, but has no furniture and appeals are made for beds, bedding, and other household furniture. They will move into the home as soon as they have furnishings.

The home was destroyed in the evening. Due to lack of water the Cresaptown Fire Company was unable to save the place, which was burning fiercely when firemen arrived.

The relief association is headed by Charles Llewellyn and William Wilson, co-chairman, and Mrs. Gladys Harrison, secretary, all of McCoole.

The association will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m., in the McCoole Community Church.

Parking Center Is Being Prepared

Petersburg High Planning College Day Program

Event Scheduled For October 9

PETERSBURG, W. Va.—Plans are nearly completed for the college day program to be held on the Petersburg High School campus October 9, according to T. H. Sites, principal of the school.

Petersburg is one of nineteen high schools in the northern part of the state which is co-operating with the West Virginia Guidance Association in sponsoring college day.

College day is a day when members of the senior and junior classes and parents may meet representatives from high schools of learning in West Virginia to discuss and make preparations for college attendance.

At least eight colleges will send faculty representatives to Petersburg to take part in the program, which is being initiated this year. Similar meetings will be held at Wardensville, Moorefield and Franklin.

Schools sending representatives will be Potomac State, West Virginia University, Bethany, Marshall, Salem, Alderson-Broaddus, Greenbrier and West Virginia Wesleyan.

PTA To Sponsor Halloween Event

LONACONING — Central Elementary Parent-Teacher Association executive committee has set the date for the Halloween celebration for Friday, October 30.

The Halloween parade will be held that afternoon for the elementary pupils to masquerade and be in the line of march for awarding of prizes.

A social will be held in the evening at the school, and it is planned to hold it open to the community. A grand march will be staged and there will be a square dance.

On Tuesday, October 20, the P. T. A. will meet and committees for the Halloween celebration will be named as well as appointment of Home Room Mothers and PTA committees.

St. George's Church Plans Fall Bazaar

MT. SAVAGE—The women of St. George's Episcopal Church will hold their fall supper and bazaar in the Parish House Thursday, November 12. Supper will be served from 5 to 7 and a Lion's Ladies Night will be featured at 6:30.

There will be booths of various sorts including home made candies, baked goods, fancy goods, white elephants, parcel post and novelties. Attractions for youngsters are planned and entertainment for all the patrons will be arranged.

The committee is headed by Mrs. Stewart Church and Mrs. Stoner Beggs.

Will Mark Birthday

PIEDMONT — A joint birthday party of Kelly-Mansfield Post 52 and the Auxiliary of the American Legion will be held at the Post Home Tuesday, October 13, at 8 p. m. Refreshments will be served.

Homemakers Hear Talk On National Meet

Achievement Day Set October 15

FROSTBURG — An account of the National Convention of Homemakers held at Boston was given by Mrs. Edward Lewis, Cresaptown, at the first fall meeting of the Frostburg Homemakers Club recently. The 4H Club girls entertained with a group of songs.

Recognition and appreciation of the work done on the Theme Booth at the Fair was given Mrs. Grace Mont and her committee, Mrs. Mabel Schumaker, Mrs. Ruth Morgan, Mrs. Robert Hager, Mrs. Joseph Kohout and Mrs. Robert Wiebrecht, Mrs. Schumaker reported on the awards won by articles on display. The club voted to recommend that insurance be taken in the future to protect articles exhibited at the fair.

Mrs. Harry Morgan gave a dresser demonstration, Mrs. Esther Kachline reported on a new synthetic carpet material, and Mrs. Kenneth Babcock gave a short talk on the book "This I Believe" by Edward R. Murrow.

A nomination committee composed of Mrs. Harry Morgan, Mrs. LaVern Kerr, Miss Edna Spitznas, Mrs. Royal Skidmore, and Miss Elizabeth Workman was elected. Visitors were Miss Joanne Reitz, the new County Home Extension agent, Miss Maude Bean, Cumberland, Mrs. Perry Myers, Mrs. Alfred Fritz, Mrs. Josephine Jones and Mrs. Flora Logsdon.

Achievement Day will be held October 15 at Centre Street Methodist Church in Cumberland. Reservations for the luncheon may be made with Mrs. Adam Baer by October 10.

Hostesses for the October meeting, which will be a Halloween Party, will be Mrs. Royal Skidmore, chairman, Mrs. Henry Shaffer, Mrs. Frances Plummer, Mrs. Richard Johnson, Mrs. Gladys Harrington and Mrs. Thomas Powell. Members are asked to bring a costume wrapped in a bundle to be exchanged and worn by someone else.

McCoole Seeks Help For Area Fire Victims

Household Furniture Asked By Association

McCOOLE — The recently organized United Community Relief Association, formed by residents of the McCoole area are trying to provide household furnishings for the Roman Mills family, whose home was destroyed by fire about two weeks ago near Danville, five miles north of McCoole. The family lost all of its possessions.

The relief association has aided them with clothing for the wife and four girls, aged nine months, nine, 13 and 15 years.

The family has a home to go into, but has no furniture and appeals are made for beds, bedding, and other household furniture. They will move into the home as soon as they have furnishings.

The home was destroyed in the evening. Due to lack of water the Cresaptown Fire Company was unable to save the place, which was burning fiercely when firemen arrived.

The relief association is headed by Charles Llewellyn and William Wilson, co-chairman, and Mrs. Gladys Harrison, secretary, all of McCoole.

The association will meet Monday at 7:30 p. m., in the McCoole Community Church.

Parking Center Is Being Prepared

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 30 (INS)—Big news from Herb "Papa" Yates before he takes off for Europe next week!

In the ffrst deal made by Republic under the new independent financing plan, Virginia Van Upp will produce, direct and write the script of her original story, "The Big Whisper."

For the past 18 months, Virginia has been in Western Berlin making propaganda films for the United States government and this is her first fiction story. It's about the Allied underground.

An important factor in this film is that it will have the full cooperation of Chancellor Adenauer, whose recent election triumph was an Allied victory over the Communists. Many escapees from the Russsian zone will work as actors in the picture.

With two pictures in Rome under his belt, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Ulysses," Anthony Quinn flies to Hollywood to star in Mickey Spillane's "The Long Wait," a dive from the classics to a whodunit if I ever heard of one.

I hear Joan Crawford has been offered $80,000 for one week's work as one of the four heroines in the Spillane thriller.

Despite the feud between Spillane and Producer Victor Saville, there's not much Mickey can do as Saville has four of his stories tied up with complete say-so.

Wonderful to hear Clark Gable's voice over the transatlantic telephone. Did I say hear? We had great trouble being understood, but I did hear from him that he's in a little town called Maastricht, on the border of Germany and Belgium.

He leaves Maastricht Friday for the Hague, where he will be joined by Lana Turner and Victor Mature.

P. S.: Of course Lana's bridegroom, Lex Barker, will be with her. They arrive at the Hague Thursday.

Jean Simmons stopped by to see me. She was very excited. Her sister, whom she hadn't seen for three years, Mrs. Edna Paxson, and her three children arrived in town.

Said Jean, "She told us to meet her at the 9 o'clock train and there are a lot of 9 o'clock trains so we just had to meet every train that came in at that hour.

She's going to be here three weeks and then she's going to motor through California," said Jean.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Clifton Webb's car was wrecked without his being in it. It was being shipped here via the Caribbean from England and a storm hit the boat.

Susan Zanuck tests with Leonard Goldstein for a picture. Susan has always wanted to act and my guess is she'll be able to do it if given a chance.

Lorraine Cugat, back in town, at the Sportsman's Lodge with Bill Treadwell, writer. She timed her arrival to practically coincide with her ex, Xavier Cugat's opening at Ciro's Oct. 6.

Renee Hall, of the dance team of Wilbur and Renee, is recovering from major surgery at Temple Hospital.

Any time now Esther Williams' baby is expected. She has reservations at Santa Monica Hospital.

My old friend, Robert Vignola, is very, very low. He's at Queen of the Angels Hospital, too sick to see even those close to him. In his day Bob was one of the greatest directors.

When Nunnally Johnson returns he'll direct "The Wandering Jew," which very secretly 20th Century-Fox is preparing to put into production.

Jerry Lewis has postponed his visit to the Mayo Clinic until after he completes "Hazel Flagg," but he has been warned if he doesn't take care of his knee it may become permanently stiff.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Astronomers have recently discovered that all of the stellar systems beyond the earth's own galaxy, the Milky Way, are twice as far away as previously believed.

Among costume suits, the "little-overcoat" jacket is a leading style for smartness and practicality.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The costume suit, the darling of fashion, has a diversity of line never equalled. It provides a bonanza in jacket variations that is the natural outgrowth of the narrow-skirted silhouette. The importance of the fashion is attested to by the fact that the costume suit is featured by both dress and suit sections.

There is wise practicality behind such favoritism, for in many parts of the nation, a warm suit is wearable from now until spring, regardless of what it's owner's activities may be. And with our "weather-conditioned" cars, even in colder climes a suit consisting of a heavy skirt and "little-overcoat" jacket is adequate. Often these jackets can double as a separate coat over other skirts or woolen dresses, rounding out the wardrobe and giving it variety.

Fur Trims

Frequently this style is fur-trimmed. One parade in a recent fashion show was of zibeline softly styled and discreetly touched with leopard at neck and cuffs. A very handsome costume, indeed.

A dressy model, equal to many a party, had a lame blouse with a high, little collar of mink. The suit itself was of exquisite black broadcloth. The banded neck of the jacket displayed the mink trim of the blouse to give the suit a luxurious finish.

The newest jacket in costume suits is the tunic, a line that fits beautifully into the feeling of elegance that characterizes this season.

Definitely in the minority but so right for some figures is the costume suit with the tiny, bust-length jacket. It is linked with the tulip silhouette or has as its inspiration either the empire or directoire lines. Some of these tiny jackets are bloused or cupped. Others are molded more closely to the figure.

Eigh-Fashion Touches

Basque-fitted jackets that end just below the waistline, fitted jackets in hip-length, weskits with or without sleeves are all represented. Among the prestige suits there are a few bloused and belted jackets of definite high-fashion.

Especially on the suits of black broadcloth and velvet or their combinations, you will see innovations such as fur, satin and jewel touches. Ascots and removable collars of fur, jeweled decorations of many types, are often found on the suits that are largely of the "after-five" variety.

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career—every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. It tells you how to make that important "good impression" to get your job . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 30 (INS)—Big news from Herb "Papa" Yates before he takes off for Europe next week!

In the ffrst deal made by Republic under the new independent financing plan, Virginia Van Upp will produce, direct and write the script of her original story, "The Big Whisper."

For the past 18 months, Virginia has been in Western Berlin making propaganda films for the United States government and this is her first fiction story. It's about the Allied underground.

An important factor in this film is that it will have the full cooperation of Chancellor Adenauer, whose recent election triumph was an Allied victory over the Communists. Many escapees from the Russsian zone will work as actors in the picture.

With two pictures in Rome under his belt, "Cavalleria Rusticana" and "Ulysses," Anthony Quinn flies to Hollywood to star in Mickey Spillane's "The Long Wait," a dive from the classics to a whodunit if I ever heard of one.

I hear Joan Crawford has been offered $80,000 for one week's work as one of the four heroines in the Spillane thriller.

Despite the feud between Spillane and Producer Victor Saville, there's not much Mickey can do as Saville has four of his stories tied up with complete say-so.

Wonderful to hear Clark Gable's voice over the transatlantic telephone. Did I say hear? We had great trouble being understood, but I did hear from him that he's in a little town called Maastricht, on the border of Germany and Belgium.

He leaves Maastricht Friday for the Hague, where he will be joined by Lana Turner and Victor Mature.

P. S.: Of course Lana's bridegroom, Lex Barker, will be with her. They arrive at the Hague Thursday.

Jean Simmons stopped by to see me. She was very excited. Her sister, whom she hadn't seen for three years, Mrs. Edna Paxson, and her three children arrived in town.

Said Jean, "She told us to meet her at the 9 o'clock train and there are a lot of 9 o'clock trains so we just had to meet every train that came in at that hour.

She's going to be here three weeks and then she's going to motor through California," said Jean.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Clifton Webb's car was wrecked without his being in it. It was being shipped here via the Caribbean from England and a storm hit the boat.

Susan Zanuck tests with Leonard Goldstein for a picture. Susan has always wanted to act and my guess is she'll be able to do it if given a chance.

Lorraine Cugat, back in town, at the Sportsman's Lodge with Bill Treadwell, writer. She timed her arrival to practically coincide with her ex, Xavier Cugat's opening at Ciro's Oct. 6.

Renee Hall, of the dance team of Wilbur and Renee, is recovering from major surgery at Temple Hospital.

Any time now Esther Williams' baby is expected. She has reservations at Santa Monica Hospital.

My old friend, Robert Vignola, is very, very low. He's at Queen of the Angels Hospital, too sick to see even those close to him. In his day Bob was one of the greatest directors.

When Nunnally Johnson returns he'll direct "The Wandering Jew," which very secretly 20th Century-Fox is preparing to put into production.

Jerry Lewis has postponed his visit to the Mayo Clinic until after he completes "Hazel Flagg," but he has been warned if he doesn't take care of his knee it may become permanently stiff.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Astronomers have recently discovered that all of the stellar systems beyond the earth's own galaxy, the Milky Way, are twice as far away as previously believed.

Among costume suits, the "little-overcoat" jacket is a leading style for smartness and practicality.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The costume suit, the darling of fashion, has a diversity of line never equalled. It provides a bonanza in jacket variations that is the natural outgrowth of the narrow-skirted silhouette. The importance of the fashion is attested to by the fact that the costume suit is featured by both dress and suit sections.

There is wise practicality behind such favoritism, for in many parts of the nation, a warm suit is wearable from now until spring, regardless of what it's owner's activities may be. And with our "weather-conditioned" cars, even in colder climes a suit consisting of a heavy skirt and "little-overcoat" jacket is adequate. Often these jackets can double as a separate coat over other skirts or woolen dresses, rounding out the wardrobe and giving it variety.

Fur Trims

Frequently this style is fur-trimmed. One parade in a recent fashion show was of zibeline softly styled and discreetly touched with leopard at neck and cuffs. A very handsome costume, indeed.

A dressy model, equal to many a party, had a lame blouse with a high, little collar of mink. The suit itself was of exquisite black broadcloth. The banded neck of the jacket displayed the mink trim of the blouse to give the suit a luxurious finish.

The newest jacket in costume suits is the tunic, a line that fits beautifully into the feeling of elegance that characterizes this season.

Definitely in the minority but so right for some figures is the costume suit with the tiny, bust-length jacket. It is linked with the tulip silhouette or has as its inspiration either the empire or directoire lines. Some of these tiny jackets are bloused or cupped. Others are molded more closely to the figure.

High-Fashion Touches

Basque-fitted jackets that end just below the waistline, fitted jackets in hip-length, weskits with or without sleeves are all represented. Among the prestige suits there are a few bloused and belted jackets of definite high-fashion.

Especially on the suits of black broadcloth and velvet or their combinations, you will see innovations such as fur, satin and jewel touches. Ascots and removable collars of fur, jeweled decorations of many types, are often found on the suits that are largely of the "after-five" variety.

YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career—every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. It tells you how to make that important "good impression"—to get your job . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. Save time — uncertainty — needless worry through these short cut steps in charm that lead to YOUR SUCCESS. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed return envelope, for a copy of the booklet, YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER.

Tomorrow: Choosing your best suit.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, (INS)—The tenderest and least rehearsed remark I've ever heard on TV, or almost anywhere else, came the other night from the lips and heart of a fine girl named June Lockhart, star of Ann Gillis' "Who Said That?"

Miss Lockhart, daughter of veteran Actor Gene Lockhart, and wife of a young New York doctor, recently had a baby girl—her first child. This was her return to the panel show, and Moderator Walter Kiernan, inquiring about the baby, said, ". . . But who gives the baby its four a. m. bottle?"

The young mother, with the face and disposition of an angel, looked back patiently at Walter, across a void of TV lights and paraphrenalia, and said with sweet simplicity:

Eddie Lopat, the Yankees southpaw, has a jocular suggestion that should answer the standard complaint of owners of World Series games: That the clubs don't make enough out of the series, because most series end too quickly. They receive only a small percentage of the gates of the first four games (where the lion's share goes to the players). A club can easily lose money if its team wins the series in four straight.

"Simple," Eddie said, "give the first three games to the owners, instead of the last three, and let the players have the last four, instead of the first four. Chances are you'd never see anything but 7-game series."

In vivid contrast to the holiday air that surrounds the World Series is this excerpt from a letter received recently by Boys Town Director Msgr. Nicholas Wegner from a chaplain attached to the Seventh Army headquarters in Berlin:

"I drove through 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain by private car on the way to Berlin and noticed the abomination and desolation of the villages under the Soviet rule. Even the names of the towns are now written in Russian. They evidently intend to protect these people forever against us of the West.

"It was a pathetic scene to see the young girls crushing stone on the Autobahn and see the faces of the little children who would like to wave their hands but did not dare. I wanted to stop to hand out a little chocolate but we had orders not to stop and were given a limited time to reach Berlin. . . . At the other end, the Russian officer had my name and also the exact time I departed the western zone."

Literary note:

The incredible Bobo Newsom, through with pitching baseballs for assorted masters after 29½ years of active playing, announced at Shor's the other night that I had

SIGNAL SAVES 2 TRICKS

ORDINARILY a signal properly given by one defender to the other can influence the ensuing play to the extent of a trick, perhaps the crucial one which means the difference between beating the contract and seeing it made. In many situations, however, the right signal can mean a difference of two tricks, and of course it may cause a wider gap than that.

	♠ K Q J 10 4 ♥ 7 4 2 ♦ A 8 ♣ 7 5 2
♠ A 7 3 2 ♥ J 9 6 5 ♦ 7 3 2 ♣ 10 8	N W E S	♠ 9 8 5 ♥ 10 8 ♦ K Q 9 6 ♣ Q 9 6 3
	♠ 6 ♥ A K Q 3 ♦ J 10 5 4 ♣ A K J 4

(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♥	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♣	Pass	2 ♠	Pass
2 NT	Pass	3 NT

East won the natural lead of the diamond 7 with the Q and, seeing the situation in dummy, was particularly glad his partner had opened that suit. The diamond A was the dummy's sole re-entry for the spades, so East knocked it out instanter with his return of the 6. Then he slipped. When the spade K was called from the board, East put on his lowest card, the 3, and South of course the 6.

If you know your signals, as West did, you can see how East's play made the contract for South. West is familiar with the convention, universal among fine players, that his partner should tell him when to play his blocking A in such a suit—by announcing how many cards he held. If East had exactly three—no other number—his correct play would be his bottom card. With any other number, he must play high on the first trick and low on the next.

In this case, if East had put on his 8 or 9, West would have read him for not three, therefore four, thus assigning a singleton to South. West therefore would have come right in with his A on the first spade. With East's bottom spade, however, betokening a holding of three, West placed two with South, so held up the A. South then shifted to a club, winning the finesse, then gave up a diamond with the J to the K. When East returned the heart 10, South then ran his game, giving him three tricks each in hearts and clubs, two in diamonds and the decisive one in spades.

If East had played high on the first spade, West after winning would have returned a diamond. South then could not have got into dummy to try the club finesse. So he would have been limited to two tricks in that suit and would have been down two, the number of tricks which East presented him by not signaling correctly to West. Even if he used a throw-in play, he would have been down one.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, (INS)—The tenderest and least rehearsed remark I've ever heard on TV, or almost anywhere else, came the other night from the lips and heart of a fine girl named June Lockhart, star of Ann Gillis' "Who Said That?"

Miss Lockhart, daughter of veteran Actor Gene Lockhart, and wife of a young New York doctor, recently had a baby girl—her first child. This was her return to the panel show, and Moderator Walter Kiernan, inquiring about the baby, said, ". . . But who gives the baby its four a. m. bottle?"

The young mother, with the face and disposition of an angel, looked back patiently at Walter, across a void of TV lights and paraphrenalia, and said with sweet simplicity:

"There is no bottle."

Eddie Lopat, the Yankees southpaw, has a jocular suggestion that should answer the standard complaint of owners of World Series games: That the clubs don't make enough out of the series, because most series end too quickly. They receive only a small percentage of the gates of the first four games (where the lion's share goes to the players). A club can easily lose money if its team wins the series in four straight.

"Simple," Eddie said, "give the first three games to the owners, instead of the last three, and let the players have the last four, instead of the first four. Chances are you'd never see anything but 7-game series."

In vivid contrast to the holiday air that surrounds the World Series is this excerpt from a letter received recently by Boys Town Director Msgr. Nicholas Wegner from a chaplain attached to the Seventh Army headquarters in Berlin:

"I drove through 110 miles behind the Iron Curtain by private car on the way to Berlin and noticed the abomination and desolation of the villages under the Soviet rule. Even the names of the towns are now written in Russian. They evidently intend to protect these people forever against us of the West.

"It was a pathetic scene to see the young girls crushing stone on the Autobahn and see the faces of the little children who would like to wave their hands but did not dare. I wanted to stop to hand out a little chocolate but we had orders not to stop and were given a limited time to reach Berlin. . . . At the other end, the Russian officer had my name and also the exact time I departed the western zone."

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, George E. Hartman, who was killed 9 years ago today, October 1st, 1944.

At home in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, some time, when our work is done,
With joy we will meet you there.

In the book of life there are pages
Filled with memories fond and true,
And those most dear throughout the years
Are the beautiful memories of you.

Sadly missed by his parents
Mr. & Mrs. C. W. Hartman,
Brothers and sisters.

Did you know luxury could be so cheap

1950 CHRYSLER Royal 4-door. This beautiful blue sedan was a one owner car and was traded in on a new Chrysler. This car has always been garaged and the finish is like new. The motor and all mechanical parts are in the best of condition. The equipment included 8 tube radio, all weather heater and defroster, 4 speed forward fluidmatic transmission, back-up lights, signal lights, electric piwers, undercoating and air foam seats with clean seat covers. The interior spotless. Just the car you would be proud to own. Priced at only

1950 CHRYSLER Windsor 4 Dr. Sdn. Here is one of the best "6" Chrysler built in '50. It is really a beauty with plenty of chrome and gleaming light grey paint. The one owner really kept this one in condition with regular check-ups and garaged every night. The interior is spotless and you'll have all the safe driving devices. Signal lights, 4 speed fluidamatic transmission with step down passing gear. You will be comfortable with the all weather heater, defroster, and 8 tube radio. The 5 tires still have deep grooved tread This is another Potomac Motors below book value special at only

In Memoriam

In loving remembrance of our dear son and brother, George E. Hartman, who was killed 9 years ago today, October 1st, 1944.

At home in the beautiful hills of God,
By the valley of rest so fair,
Some day, some time, when our work is done,
With joy we will meet you there.

In the book of life there are pages
Filled with memories fond and true,
And those most dear throughout the years
Are the beautiful memories of you.

Sadly missed by his parents
Mr. & Mrs. C. W. Hartman,
Brothers and sisters.

Did you know luxury could be so cheap

1950 CHRYSLER Royal 4-door. This beautiful blue sedan was a one owner car and was traded in on a new Chrysler. This car has always been garaged and the finish is like new. The motor and all mechanical parts are in the best of condition. The equipment included 8 tube radio, all weather heater and defroster, 4 speed forward fluidmatic transmission, back-up lights, signal lights, electric piwers, undercoating and air foam seats with clean seat covers. The interior spotless. Just the car you would be proud to own. Priced at only

1950 CHRYSLER Windsor 4 Dr. Sdn. Here is one of the best "6" Chrysler built in '50. It is really a beauty with plenty of chrome and gleaming light grey paint. The one owner really kept this one in condition with regular check-ups and garaged every night. The interior is spotless and you'll have all the safe driving devices. Signal lights, 4 speed fluidamatic transmission with step down passing gear. You will be comfortable with the all weather heater, defroster, and 8 tube radio. The 5 tires still have deep grooved tread This is another Potomac Motors below book value special at only

NEW YORK, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Stock Market declined moderately and quietly today in the midst of fireworks set off by buying of individual issues affected by favorable corporate news.

Attendance and trading volume in Wall Street were affected by the world series.

Gains and losses went to between 1 and 2 points with the accent on lower prices almost two to one.

American Telephone gained a point at 154½ in active trading with blocks as large as 1,500 shares changing hands.

The stock was down ⅛ when the Federal Communications Commission in Washington authorized an 8 per cent increase in interstate long distance telephone rates. It immediately stepped ahead to close at its best price.

Bullard, machine tool maker, was the day's most active issue up 2⅛ at 25⅝ with 26,400 shares traded.

Heyden Chemical shot ahead 3 points at 17½ in a mystifying manner within the first two hours of trading. Then the company disclosed it was developing a new wide spectrum anti-biotic. Heyden closed up 1¼ at 15¾ as the second most active issue.

Lee rubber gained 2⅞ at 54⅞ after directors declared an extra of 50 cents, a regular of 75 cents, and a 5 per cent stock dividend, a total that brought the fiscal year 50 cents ahead of the previous period.

September Ends With 99-Degree Record Smasher

Farmers Need Rain For Wheat Seeding

Yesterday was the second time this month that unusually hot temperatures shattered records in Allegany County. In the first three days of September, thermometers climbed to 100, 101 and 102 degrees to smash records of over 50 years' standing.

Residents thought it was all over until Tuesday when clear skies and burning sunshine pushed mercury up to 96 degrees, cracking a record for the last part of the month.

New Record Set

Yesterday Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, began writing new figures in his record tablet as the 99-degree high topped all figures on record for September 30. The highest figure prior to yesterday was a 92-degree reading on September 30, 1929. Other highs for the latter section of September are 95 degrees on September 25, 1930, and 94 degrees on September 27, 1930.

If residents were doubtful about the 99-degree figure yesterday, it probably was due to the low humidity which made the sizzling heat bearable. At 6 p. m. humidity was measured as a dry 26 per cent, even lower than when the 100-degree readings were experienced earlier in the month.

With the first day of October today, the Weather Bureau predicts not as warm and fair, with low this morning between 50 and 56 degrees.

Highs in nearby communities yesterday were: Orleans Road, 98; Blazer, 88; Elkins, W. Va., 88; Thomas, W. Va., 78; Deal, Pa., 86; Connellsville, Pa., 86.

At the same time, the hot, dry weather isn't doing farmers any good, according to R. F. McHenry, county agent.

McHenry said rain is needed badly in Allegany County. Most of the crops have already been harvested, McHenry said, and now orchardists are picking the apple crop. He explained that apples this year will run smaller in size because of the dry weather which is also drying pastures and farm lands.

Farmers Need Rain

County farmers have most of the corn crop harvested, and they are now making ready to plant the wheat seed. McHenry said farmers especially need rain now for the wheat seeding since moisture is needed to germinate the seeds.

Farmers have had a dry summer this year, he added, and the only good rain experienced was the heavy downpour last month which came down so fast that it ran off before it had a chance to soak into the ground.

A spokesman for the Game and Inland Fish Commission said yesterday there is no forest fire threat in Maryland at the present time and the commission has no plans to cancel hunting seasons.

Although forestry officials were not available for comment late last night, observers indicated that Allegany County, near the dry West Virginia counties, is in a dry stage.

The Maryland Commission spokesman made his statement after West Virginia announced a ban on eight Eastern Panhandle counties because of extreme forest fire danger.

Talbott Denmead, assistant public relations director for the game commission, said there was no such danger in Maryland woodlands.

State Forests Green

He said the forests are "very green" with more than a month and a half to go before the state's upland bird season opens.

Hunting for squirrel, jack snipe and woodcocks becomes legal October 5 throughout Maryland, and wild turkeys will be legal game in Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties on the same date.

The season on upland birds, quail, ruffed grouse, ring-neck pheasant and rabbits opens November 15.

The ban in neighboring West Virginia prohibits hunters as well as picnickers and all others from entering the woods after 6 p. m. yesterday.

It will be effective until further notice in Pendleton, Grant, Mineral, Hardy, Hampshire, Morgan, Berkeley and Jefferson counties in the Panhandle, as well as in Greenbrier, Pocahontas and Monroe counties of Southeastern West Virginia.

News In Brief

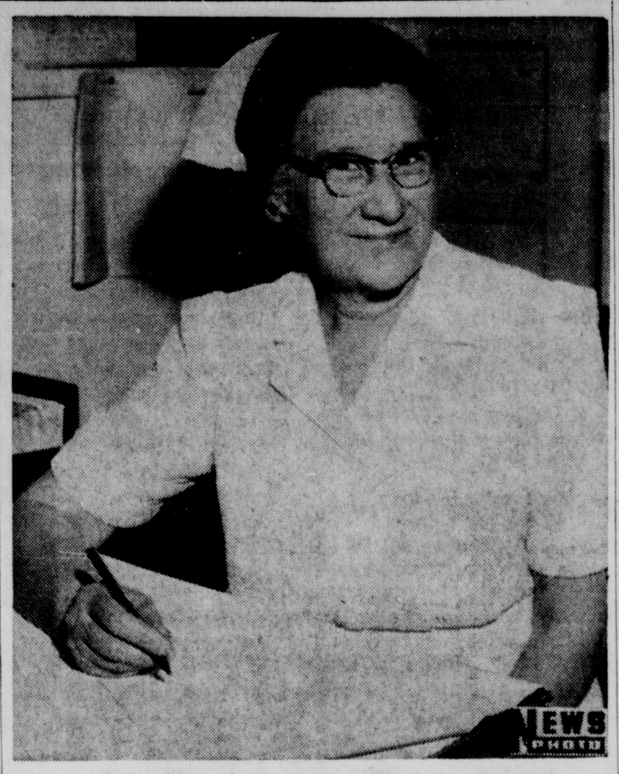
Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde will be in his office in the Post Office Building next Tuesday from 10 a. m. to noon to consult with persons in this area.

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Rotary Club will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Central YMCA. Committee chairmen will attend.

The executive board of the Parent-Teacher Association of Johnson Heights School will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at the school.

Rev. Amoss To Speak

The Kiwanis Club will observe "Churches' Christian Education Week" at its meeting at 12:15 p. m. today at Central YMCA, with Rev. Howard Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, as speaker.



Kelly Nurse Retires

Miss Lillie M. Barger, 724 Oldtown Road, retired yesterday after serving on the nursing staff of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for the past 27 years. Since World War II, Miss Barger has been working on the first shift in the First Aid room of the local rubber plant.

Miss Lillie M. Barger Ends Career As Kelly Plant Nurse

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN

Almost three decades of service to humanity as nurse at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company ended yesterday for Miss Lillie M. Barger, 725 Oldtown Road.

Miss Barger retired yesterday afternoon after 27 years of service as a nurse at the Kelly plant.

She joined the Kelly nursing staff on April 23, 1926, and served for a number of years as the Kelly visiting nurse. Since World War II days, she has been stationed in the First Aid room on the first shift.

A native of Cumberland and a daughter of the late J. N. and Margaret Barger, she was educated in local schools. Miss Barger graduated from the Kings Daughters School of Nursing, Martinsburg, W. Va., in 1922.

Miss Barger admits that her life, spent almost entirely in service to humanity, has left little time for hobbies to be enjoyed during her retirement.

Present plans call for some visiting and a more active part in the activities at Grace Methodist Church.

Judge Defers Sentence In Shooting Case

Miss Teresa Hamburg Enters Plea Of Guilty

The sentencing of a 22-year-old local domestic who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assault with intent to kill her employer was deferred yesterday morning by Associate Judge George Henderson.

William H. Geppert, attorney for Miss Teresa Hamburg, of Virginia Avenue, had filed a petition to have the case tried on criminal information with his client waiving indictment by the grand jury.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher reviewed the case and entered a statement by Miss Hamburg in which she admitted having fired a shot from a .32 calibre pistol at E. J. Bognar on the evening of September 11 as he entered his home.

Had To Leave Early

Questioning revealed that the Hamburg woman was working under the agreement that she absent herself from the Bognar home before Bognar came home in the evenings.

On the evening the shooting occurred, the Hamburg woman admitted she was working there late and heard Bognar's car enter the driveway of his Camden Avenue residence. Her statement included the fact that she then went to the basement of the home and secured the pistol from its hiding place and met Bognar when he entered.

One shot, it was revealed, was fired from a distance of about arm's length. No explanation could be given as to why Bognar escaped injury at such point-blank range, although the girl admitted that she was unfamiliar with firearms and had never fired a gun before.

Bognar's Gun

Testimony revealed the gun had been purchased by Bognar for protection after his liquor store had been robbed several years ago. He claimed it had disappeared before he had moved to his present address and had identified it only after it was in the possession of the state's attorney's office.

The defendant admitted having removed the pistol from the Bognar home and keeping it for some time at her Virginia Avenue residence. It was returned, she stated, and then placed in the basement hiding place.

Miss Hamburg stated that she kept on working at the Bognar home at the insistence of Mrs. Bognar, even though Bognar had written a letter of dismissal to her. On the night the shooting occurred, Miss Hamburg's statement disclosed she was remaining to meet a young son of Mrs. Bognar by a previous marriage and escort him to his grandmother's home in the South End.

According to her attorney, Miss Hamburg could give no reason why she had attempted to shoot her employer.

Bognar On Stand

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bognar were called to testify on several points and it was after hearing them that Judge Henderson said he would defer sentence until he was sure in his mind on several points. The Hamburg woman was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's office until time of sentence.

Geppert, in his opening statement, had asked for a suspended sentence for his client, stating that she had never been in trouble before, that a new place of employment had been obtained for her and that a local minister had offered his services in any way possible.

Building Totals $46,950 In Sept.

Building permits issued in September totaled $46,950, the Building Engineer's Office reported yesterday.

The permits included 14 for new construction — valued at $44,500, and eight for additions and improvements totaling $2,450.

The September permits were up about $10,000 from August's $56,125, and brought the 1953 total to $430,315.

The permits included six dwellings, two garages, a used car lot office, radio repair shop, garage and storage building, garage and apartment, one apartment building and a storage building.

Yesterday, the Esso Standard Company secured a permit for alterations and additions to the Esso building at North Mechanic and Market streets. The work will include a 30-by-30-foot addition to the present building.

Catholic War Vets Will Meet Tonight

Members of Victor Tambolleo Post 1712, Catholic War Veterans, will meet at 8:15 p. m. today at the home of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, to make final plans for a Communion breakfast in SS. Peter and Paul Social Center October 18.

The breakfast, according to Peter J. Carpenti, commander, will follow 8:15 a. m. Mass.

Principal speaker will be Father Jude, OFM, Cap, and toastmaster will be Frederick A. Puderbaugh, local attorney. State officers from Baltimore are expected to attend.

Registration Is High For Md. Courses

A large number of Allegany County school teachers have registered with the county Board of Education for three different courses being offered by the University of Maryland, according to Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

Yesterday a total of 42 teachers registered for the Adolescent — Characteristics and Problems course which will have its first meeting on Wednesday at 4:30 p. m. in the Board of Education building. This course will be taught by Dr. Mary Carl, of the university faculty.

Some 47 teachers have enrolled in the Aptitude and Aptitude Testing course which will have its first meeting on Wednesday beginning at 7 p. m. This is also being taught by Dr. Carl, who noted that a considerable number of the enrollees of the courses are now working toward a master's or doctor's degree at the University.

The third course, Shakespeare, with an enrollment of about 18 teachers met for the first time Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. and is being taught by Dr. Rudd Fleming.

The weekly classes will be held through the end of January and each meeting lasts two hours.

Justice Taney Will Be Paid Homage By KC

Memorial Service Set At Frederick

On October 11 Chief Justice Taney Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, will pay homage to Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney, for whom the local Assembly was named, with memorial services at his grave in St. John's Cemetery, Frederick.

A large delegation of Fourth Degree Knights, dressed in full regalia, and their ladies will join in the pilgrimage to Frederick. The memorial service will begin with a low Mass at 11:30 a. m. in St. John's Catholic Church.

Following the Mass, there will be a parade to the cemetery by way of Market and Third streets with Thomas F. Conlon Sr. as marshal. In the line of march will be a police escort, firing squad, color guard, Frederick High School Band, officers and mambers of Taney Assembly, and officers and members of other assemblies of Maryland.

Memorial services will be conducted by Rev. Herbert R. Jordan, assistant pastor of St. John's Church. There will be the firing squad and the presenting of swords by Sir Knights of the Assemblies, placing of the wreath on the grave by Arthur F. Young, faithful navigator of the Taney Assembly.

Later, Taps will be sounded and an address by Sir Knight W. Jerome Offutt, city attorney of Frederick, will be followed by the National Anthem played by the high school band. The parade then will return to the school grounds and disband.

A luncheon will be held at the Hotel Frederick for members and their wives. An address will be made by Associate Judge Edward S. Delaplaine of the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

Sir Knight William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, will be toastmaster and an address of welcome will be given by Donald Brice, mayor of Frederick.

Taney, famed as an able lawyer and a fearless judge, administered the oath to Abraham Lincoln when he became President of the United States.

This is one of Taney Assembly's patriotic and Catholic Action affairs of the year and will be attended by members from Hagerstown, Frederick and Baltimore as well as from Western Maryland.

267 Marriage Licenses Issued In September

A slight decrease in the number of marriage licenses issued last month at the Allegany County Court House was noted in comparison to September of 1952.

During September of this year a total of 267 licenses were issued as compared to 275 issued during the same month of last year. And the total for the first nine months of this year also showed a decline over 1952.

Last month residents of the Tri-State area, New York, Ohio, Virginia, Vermont, Georgia, North Dakota and Indiana came to Cumberland for their marriage licenses.

Housing Quality In County Among Highest In State

Census Bureau Releases Figures

Allegany County has fewer substandard homes than any other Western Maryland county, the Maryland State Planning Commission reported yesterday.

The Commission, basing its figures on the recently completed U. S. Census of Housing for 1950, said this county's average dwelling quality was fifth highest among the state's 23 counties.

As of the date of the census, 39.1 per cent of Allegany County's homes were rated as substandard.

Since then, however, many dilapidated houses have been torn down, and two big housing projects — Jane Frazier Village and Benjamin Banneker Homes — have been completed.

Metropolitan Montgomery County had the lowest percentage of substandard units, with a percentage figure of 11.6. Prince George's had 15.6, Baltimore County, 19.4, and Anne Arundel, 36.9, Baltimore City had 19.8 per cent.

A home is considered below standard if it is generally dilapidated, or if it does not have an indoor flush toilet and bath for the exclusive use of the unit, and hot running water.

Some 10,112 Allegany County homes were rated as substandard, as compared to 15,719 units which were up to par.

Elsewhere in Western Maryland, substandard percentages were: Garrett, 67.2; Washington, 44.3; Frederick, 48.9, and Carroll, 49.2.

Harford County's percentage equalled Allegany County's mark of 39.1, Garrett and Queen Anne's both had 67.2, and Somerset was highest in the state with 77.6 per cent of all dwellings listed as substandard.

Ridgeley Post Will Be Host To Caravan

Parade, Luncheon, Meeting Scheduled

Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion of Ridgeley will be host Sunday to the fourth annual West Virginia Tenth District Motor Caravan which will be making its initial visit to Ridgeley.

The caravan is expected to arrive here at noon and will be met at the intersection of Knobley Street and West Virginia Route 28 by the Ridgeley post. The caravan, made up of 16 posts in the district, will motor to Ridgeley with State Police escort.

From the meeting place a parade will follow from Route 28 to Blocker Street to Mineral Street to Knobley Street to Second Street to the Ridgeley post home, where it will disband.

Included in the review will be the drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Fulton Myers Post 153, American Legion, and color guards for the 16 posts in the Tenth District.

A prize will be awarded to the most outstanding color guard. Judges for the event will be William E. Bittinger, Garland Magruder and C. J. Phillips.

Legion officials said a luncheon will be served at the Knobley Mountain Post Home from noon to 1:30 p. m. About 300 Legionnaires and Auxiliary unit members are expected to attend.

A business meeting is scheduled for 2 p. m. at the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club. Many West Virginia state Legion officials are expected to attend the session, local officials said.

Ridgeley post officers last night also announced that the local post will hold a public shrimp feed at the Legion Home on October 23, and a Halloween dance is planned at the post home from 9 p. m. to midnight October 30.

Autumn Glory Time To Open In Garrett Co. Next Week

Gov. McKeldin To Inaugurate Celebration

OAKLAND, Md., Sept. 30 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin will be here next Monday to inaugurate "Autumn Glory Time," an occasion drummed up to lengthen Western Maryland's vacation season.

The Governor and Mrs. McKeldin will be guests of the Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce. That's one of the organizations collaborating to promote autumn attractions in the Garrett County mountains and recreation areas.

He will take a look at the country's first tree farm, 10 miles from Oakland near the Potomac River. While there he will present a plaque and citation to Virgil Steyer, owner of the farm on which state foresters will apply proven conservation methods to stimulate the growth of trees.

The dedication also calls for wood sawing and chopping, rail splitting and horse-pulling contests.

The date, Oct. 5, opens a two-week period labeled "Autumn Glory Time" by county groups and the State Department of Information. The Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council and Garrett County Turkey Growers Association also are lending a hand.

The Mountain Top chamber has chosen Miss Mary Edith Glodfelty, high school student from Accident, to boost the project with television and other appearances. Her father, Kermit Glodfelty, is president of the turkeymen's association.

This will be the third year for "Autumn Glory Time." Director Earle R. Poorbaugh of the information department said it already has extended the Western Maryland vacation season six weeks.

He said there will be special turkey dinners, turkey shoots and folk dancing, especially on Oct. 11 when excursion trains run from Baltimore and Washington to Oakland.

Dr. Russell Cook Honored By National Dental Group

Dr. J. Russell Cook, The Dingle, was awarded the highest honor in American dentistry this week when the American College of Dentists elevated him to the degree of fellow of the College.

The well-known Cumberland dentist received the honor at the 94th annual sessions of the American Dental Association Sunday night in Cleveland, Ohio.

The college, an honorary organization, conferred degrees on a total of 158 dentists in the United States, Canada, France and Australia. Some 10,000 dentists attended the national association's meeting.

Dr. Cook, who has been in practice here for 30 years, took his bachelor's degree at St. John's College in Annapolis, then completed his studies at the University of Maryland Dental School in Baltimore.

He entered practice here in 1923.

He is a past president of the Allegany - Garrett County Dental Association and of the Maryland Dental Society, and is a member of the board of directors of the Second National Bank.

Also attending the convention in Cleveland were Dr. Albert C. Cook, Dr. John Gorman and Dr. Milton S. Granet, local dentists.

Schmutz Moves To New Office

The Carl F. Schmutz Agency for Fire and Casualty Insurance and Real Estate has moved into new quarters at 16 South Liberty Street.

Schmutz, who has been in the insurance business for the past 33 years, has maintained an office on the second floor of the McCleave Building, corner of Baltimore and Liberty streets since 1929.

The modern office, which has 931 feet of floor space, is completely air-conditioned, has fluorescent lighting, modern office equipment and three tone walls. The first-floor quarters are predominantly trimmed in mahogany including a reception corner with modern furniture in the front of the office.

Adding to the beauty of the two-story brick building is a stone offset in the front which contains flowers and shrubbery. Schmutz is a member of the Maryland Association of Insurance Agents, the Cumberland Real Estate Board, and is past president of the Allegany-Garrett County Insurance Association.

Four longtime employes, Elizabeth McCullough, Perry Rosenmerkel, William C. Harrison and Joseph Kotschenreuther, are still with the company at its new location.

Good Engineering Can Curb Disastrous Fires In Homes

Good engineering would have prevented half of the fires that attacked 336,000 homes in the United States in 1952, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said in announcing plans for Fire Prevention Week here October 4-10.

The chief explained that by "good engineering" he was referring to the avoidance of four structural hazards that the National Fire Protection Association says cause at least half of all home fires. Now, when home owners are spending billions to bring their homes up-to-date, said Parker, is the time to make our homes structurally fire-safe.

Heating plants—Make sure the heating plant is properly installed with adequate safeguards. Enclose the heating plant in fire-resistant walls. Cover the joists above the furnace with plaster, gypsum board, asbestos or some similar fire-resistant material.

Chimneys—Have a mason check the chimney to be sure it is properly built and in good condition. The chimney should rest on the ground upon a good foundation. Don't allow wood work to be in contact with the chimney. Be sure the chimney is free-standing, not supported by or lending support to the house. Clean the heating plant and the chimney at least once a year.

Roofs—Make sure the roof is of a spark-resistant material. When you remodel, recover a weather-worn combustible wood shingle roof with asphalt shingles or a similar fire-retardant roof covering.

Wiring system—Many existing wiring systems originally were designed for operation of electrical lights and small appliances and are not adequate for dishwashers, ranges, ironers, freezers, and dryers or other large appliances. Make sure the wiring system is of sufficient capacity to take care of present electrical needs. Have plenty of outlets installed and properly located to eliminate long extension cords.

"Let's not forget that 12,535 people died in fire in 1952," he said, "and more than half of them in their own homes. Elimination of these four structural hazards, plus a little care, will save most of these lives."

September Ends With 99-Degree Record Smasher

Farmers Need Rain For Wheat Seeding

Old Man Weather entered another chapter in September's record book yesterday as mercury soared to an official 99 degrees in Cumberland.

Yesterday was the second time this month that unusually hot temperatures shattered records in Allegany County. In the first three days of September, thermometers climbed to 100, 101 and 102 degrees to smash records of over 50 years' standing.

Residents thought it was all over until Tuesday when clear skies and burning sunshine pushed mercury up to 96 degrees, cracking a record for the last part of the month.

New Record Set

Yesterday Robert R. Golden, weather observer at Constitution Park, began writing new figures in his record tablet as the 99-degree high topped all figures on record for September 30. The highest figure prior to yesterday was a 92-degree reading on September 30, 1929. Other highs for the latter section of September are 95 degrees on September 25, 1930, and 94 degrees on September 27, 1930.

If residents were doubtful about the 99-degree figure yesterday, it probably was due to the low humidity which made the sizzling heat bearable. At 6 p. m. humidity was measured as a dry 26 per cent, even lower than when the 100-degree readings were experienced earlier in the month.

With the first day of October today, the Weather Bureau predicts not as warm and fair, with low this morning between 50 and 56 degrees.

Highs in nearby communities yesterday were: Orleans Road, 98; Blazer, 88; Elkins, W. Va., 88; Thomas, W. Va., 78; Deal, Pa., 86; Connellsville, Pa., 86.

At the same time, the hot, dry weather isn't doing farmers any good, according to R. F. McHenry, county agent.

McHenry said rain is needed badly in Allegany County. Most of the crops have already been harvested, McHenry said, and now orchardists are picking the apple crop. He explained that apples this year will run smaller in size because of the dry weather which is also drying pastures and farm lands.

Farmers Need Rain

County farmers have most of the corn crop harvested, and they are now making ready to plant the wheat seed. McHenry said farmers especially need rain now for the wheat seeding since moisture is needed to germinate the seeds.

Farmers have had a dry summer this year, he added, and the only good rain experienced was the heavy downpour last month which came down so fast that it ran off before it had a chance to soak into the ground.

A spokesman for the Game and Inland Fish Commission said yesterday there is no forest fire threat in Maryland at the present time and the commission has no plans to cancel hunting seasons.

Although forestry officials were not available for comment late last night, observers indicated that Allegany County, near the dry West Virginia counties, is in a dry stage.

The Maryland Commission spokesman made his statement after West Virginia announced a ban on eight Eastern Panhandle counties because of extreme forest fire danger.

Talbott Denmead, assistant public relations director for the game commission, said there was no such danger in Maryland woodlands.

State Forests Green

He said the forests are "very green" with more than a month and a half to go before the state's upland bird season opens.

Hunting for squirrel, jack snipe and woodcocks becomes legal October 5 throughout Maryland, and wild turkeys will be legal game in Washington, Allegany and Garrett counties on the same date.

The season on upland birds, quail, ruffed grouse, ring-neck pheasant and rabbits opens November 15.

The ban in neighboring West Virginia prohibits hunters as well as picnickers and all others from entering the woods after 6 p. m. yesterday.

It will be effective until further notice in Pendleton, Grant, Mineral, Hardy, Hampshire, Morgan, Berkeley and Jefferson counties in the Panhandle, as well as in Greenbrier, Pocahontas and Monroe counties of Southeastern West Virginia.

News In Brief

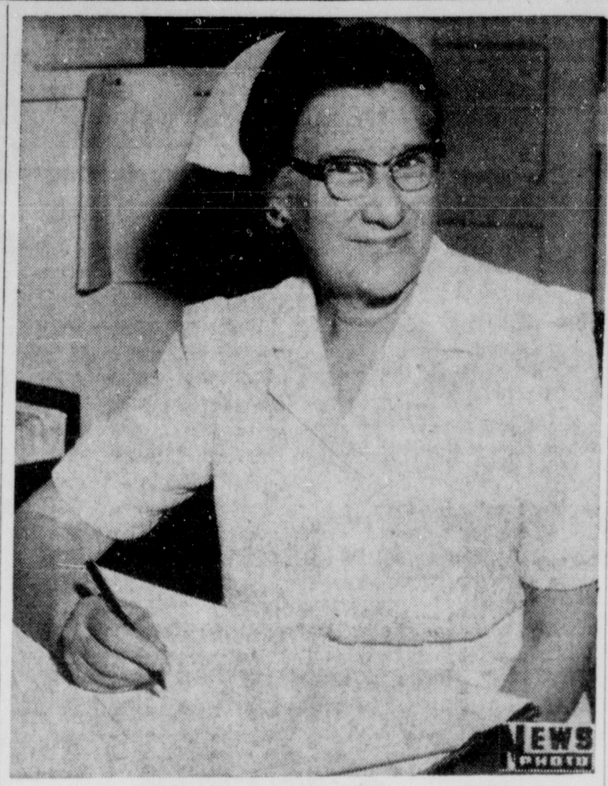
Rep. DeWitt S. Hyde will be in his office in the Post Office Building next Tuesday from 10 a. m. to noon to consult with persons in this area.

The Board of Directors of the Cumberland Rotary Club will meet tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in Central YMCA. Committee chairmen will attend.

The executive board of the Parent-Teacher Association of Johnson Heights School will meet today at 7:30 p. m. at the school.

Rev. Amoss To Speak

The Kiwanis Club will observe "Churches' Christian Education Week" at its meeting at 12:15 p. m. today at Central YMCA, with Rev. Howard Amoss, pastor of Centre Street Methodist Church, as speaker.



Kelly Nurse Retires

Miss Lillie M. Barger, 724 Oldtown Road, retired yesterday after serving on the nursing staff of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company for the past 27 years. Since World War II, Miss Barger has been working on the first shift in the First Aid room of the local rubber plant.

Miss Lillie M. Barger Ends Career As Kelly Plant Nurse

By C. WESLEY BLACKBURN

Almost three decades of service to humanity as nurse at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company ended yesterday for Miss Lillie M. Barger, 725 Oldtown Road.

Miss Barger retired yesterday afternoon after 27 years of service as a nurse at the Kelly plant.

She joined the Kelly nursing staff on April 23, 1926, and served for a number of years as the Kelly visiting nurse. Since World War II days, she has been stationed in the First Aid room on the first shift.

A native of Cumberland and a daughter of the late J. N. and Margaret Barger, she was educated in local schools. Miss Barger graduated from the Kings Daughters School of Nursing, Martinsburg, W. Va., in 1922.

She has also received good wishes this week from hundreds of the members of the staff of the Kelly—which she termed her "second home in Cumberland."

Miss Barger admits that her life, spent almost entirely in service to humanity, has left little time for hobbies to be enjoyed during her retirement.

Present plans call for some visiting and a more active part in the activities at Grace Methodist Church.

Judge Defers Sentence In Shooting Case

Miss Teresa Hamburg Enters Plea Of Guilty

The sentencing of a 22-year-old local domestic who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of assault with intent to kill her employer was deferred yesterday morning by Associate Judge George Henderson.

William H. Geppert, attorney for Miss Teresa Hamburg, of Virginia Avenue, had filed a petition to have the case tried on criminal information with his client waiving indictment by the grand jury.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher reviewed the case and entered a statement by Miss Hamburg in which she admitted having fired a shot from a .32 calibre pistol at E. J. Bognar on the evening of September 11 as he entered his home.

Had To Leave Early

Questioning revealed that the Hamburg woman was working under the agreement that she absent herself from the Bognar home before Bognar came home in the evenings.

On the evening the shooting occurred, the Hamburg woman admitted she was working there late and heard Bognar's car enter the driveway of his Camden Avenue residence. Her statement included the fact that she then went to the basement of the home and secured the pistol from its hiding place and met Bognar when he entered.

One shot, it was revealed, was fired from a distance of about arm's length. No explanation could be given as to why Bognar escaped injury at such point-blank range, although the girl admitted that she was unfamiliar with firearms and had never fired a gun before.

Bognar's Gun

Testimony revealed the gun had been purchased by Bognar for protection after his liquor store had been robbed several years ago. He claimed it had disappeared before he had moved to his present address and had identified it only after it was in the possession of the state's attorney's office.

The defendant admitted having removed the pistol from the Bognar home and keeping it for some time at her Virginia Avenue residence. It was returned, she stated, and then placed in the basement hiding place.

Miss Hamburg stated that she kept on working at the Bognar home at the insistence of Mrs. Bognar, even though Bognar had written a letter of dismissal to her. On the night the shooting occurred, Miss Hamburg's statement disclosed she was remaining to meet a young son of Mrs. Bognar by a previous marriage and escort him to his grandmother's home in the South End.

According to her attorney, Miss Hamburg could give no reason why she had attempted to shoot her employer.

Bognar On Stand

Both Mr. and Mrs. Bognar were called to testify on several points and it was after hearing them that Judge Henderson said he would defer sentence until he was sure in his mind on several points. The Hamburg woman was remanded to the custody of the sheriff's office until time of sentence.

Geppert, in his opening statement, had asked for a suspended sentence for his client, stating that she had never been in trouble before, that a new place of employment had been obtained for her and that a local minister had offered his services in any way possible.

Building Totals $46,950 In Sept.

Building permits issued in September totaled $46,950, the Building Engineer's Office reported yesterday.

The permits included 14 for new construction — valued at $44,500, and eight for additions and improvements totaling $2,450.

The September permits were up about $10,000 from August's $36,125, and brought the 1953 total to $430,315.

The permits included six dwellings, two garages, a used car lot office, radio repair shop, garage and storage building, garage and apartment, one apartment building and a storage building.

Yesterday, the Esso Standard Company secured a permit for alterations and additions to the Esso building at North Mechanic and Market streets. The work will include a 30-by-30-foot addition to the present building.

The breakfast, according to Peter J. Carpenti, commander, will follow 8:15 a. m. Mass.

Principal speaker will be Father Jude, OFM, Cap, and toastmaster will be Frederick A. Puderbaugh, local attorney. State officers from Baltimore are expected to attend.

Registration Is High For Md. Courses

A large number of Allegany County school teachers have registered with the county Board of Education for three different courses being offered by the University of Maryland, according to Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

Yesterday a total of 42 teachers registered for the Adolescent — Characteristics and Problems course which will have its first meeting on Wednesday at 4:30 p. m. in the Board of Education building. This course will be taught by Dr. Mary Carl, of the university faculty.

Some 47 teachers have enrolled in the Aptitude and Aptitude Testing course which will have its first meeting on Wednesday beginning at 7 p. m. This is also being taught by Dr. Carl, who noted that a considerable number of the enrollees of the courses are now working toward a master's or doctor's degree at the University.

The third course, Shakespeare, with an enrollment of about 18 teachers met for the first time Tuesday at 6:30 p. m. and is being taught by Dr. Rudd Fleming.

The weekly classes will be held through the end of January and each meeting lasts two hours.

Justice Taney Will Be Paid Homage By KC

Memorial Service Set At Frederick

On October 11 Chief Justice Taney Assembly, Fourth Degree, Knights of Columbus, will pay homage to Chief Justice Roger Brooke Taney, for whom the local Assembly was named, with memorial services at his grave in St. John's Cemetery, Frederick.

A large delegation of Fourth Degree Knights, dressed in full regalia, and their ladies will join in the pilgrimage to Frederick. The memorial service will begin with a low Mass at 11:30 a. m. in St. John's Catholic Church.

Following the Mass, there will be a parade to the cemetery by way of Market and Third streets with Thomas F. Conlon Sr. as marshal. In the line of march will be a police escort, firing squad, color guard, Frederick High School Band, officers and mambers of Taney Assembly, and officers and members of other assemblies of Maryland.

Memorial services will be conducted by Rev. Herbert R. Jordan, assistant pastor of St. John's Church. There will be the firing squad and the presenting of swords by Sir Knights of the Assemblies, placing of the wreath on the grave by Arthur F. Young, faithful navigator of the Taney Assembly.

Later, Taps will be sounded and an address by Sir Knight W. Jerome Offutt, city attorney of Frederick, will be followed by the National Anthem played by the high school band. The parade then will return to the school grounds and disband.

A luncheon will be held at the Hotel Frederick for members and their wives. An address will be made by Associate Judge Edward S. Delaplaine of the Court of Appeals of Maryland.

Sir Knight William C. Walsh, former attorney general of Maryland, will be toastmaster and an address of welcome will be given by Donald Brice, mayor of Frederick.

Taney, famed as an able lawyer and a fearless judge, administered the oath to Abraham Lincoln when he became President of the United States.

This is one of Taney Assembly's patriotic and Catholic Action affairs of the year and will be attended by members from Hagerstown, Frederick and Baltimore as well as from Western Maryland.

267 Marriage Licenses Issued In September

A slight decrease in the number of marriage licenses issued last month at the Allegany County Court House was noted in comparison to September of 1952.

During September of this year a total of 267 licenses were issued as compared to 275 issued during the same month of last year. And the total for the first nine months of this year also showed a decline over 1952.

During the first nine months of 1952 a total of 2,362 licenses were issued in comparison to 2,296 so far this year.

Last month residents of the Tri-State area, New York, Ohio, Virginia, Vermont, Georgia, North Dakota and Indiana came to Cumberland for their marriage licenses.

Housing Quality In County Among Highest In State

Census Bureau Releases Figures

Allegany County has fewer substandard homes than any other Western Maryland county, the Maryland State Planning Commission reported yesterday.

The Commission, basing its figures on the recently completed U. S. Census of Housing for 1950, said this county's average dwelling quality was fifth highest among the state's 23 counties.

As of the date of the census, 39.1 per cent of Allegany County's homes were rated as substandard.

Since then, however, many dilapidated houses have been torn down, and two big housing projects — Jane Frazier Village and Benjamin Banneker Homes — have been completed.

Metropolitan Montgomery County had the lowest percentage of substandard units, with a percentage figure of 11.6. Prince George's had 15.6, Baltimore County, 19.4, and Anne Arundel, 36.9, Baltimore City had 19.8 per cent.

A home is considered below standard if it is generally dilapidated, or if it does not have an indoor flush toilet and bath for the exclusive use of the unit, and hot running water.

Some 10,112 Allegany County homes were rated as substandard, as compared to 15,719 units which were up to par.

Elsewhere in Western Maryland, substandard percentages were: Garrett, 67.2; Washington, 44.3; Frederick, 48.9, and Carroll, 49.2.

Harford County's percentage equalled Allegany County's mark of 39.1, Garrett and Queen Anne's both had 67.2, and Somerset was highest in the state with 77.6 per cent of all dwellings listed as substandard.

Ridgeley Post Will Be Host To Caravan

Parade, Luncheon, Meeting Scheduled

Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion of Ridgeley will be host Sunday to the fourth annual West Virginia Tenth District Motor Caravan which will be making its initial visit to Ridgeley.

The caravan is expected to arrive here at noon and will be met at the intersection of Knobley Street and West Virginia Route 28 by the Ridgeley post. The caravan, made up of 16 posts in the district, will motor to Ridgeley with State Police escort.

From the meeting place a parade will follow from Route 28 to Blocker Street to Mineral Street to Knobley Street to Second Street to the Ridgeley post home, where it will disband.

Included in the review will be the drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Fulton Myers Post 153, American Legion, and color guards for the 16 posts in the Tenth District.

A prize will be awarded to the most outstanding color guard. Judges for the event will be William E. Bittinger, Garland Magruder and C. J. Phillips.

Legion officials said a luncheon will be served at the Knobley Mountain Post Home from noon to 1:30 p. m. About 300 Legionnaires and Auxiliary unit members are expected to attend.

A business meeting is scheduled for 2 p. m. at the Ridgeley Rod and Gun Club. Many West Virginia state Legion officials are expected to attend the session, local officials said.

Ridgeley post officers last night also announced that the local post will hold a public shrimp feed at the Legion Home on October 23, and a Halloween dance is planned at the post home from 9 p. m. to midnight October 30.

Autumn Glory Time To Open In Garrett Co. Next Week

Gov. McKeldin To Inaugurate Celebration

OAKLAND, Md., Sept. 30 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin will be here next Monday to inaugurate "Autumn Glory Time," an occasion drummed up to lengthen Western Maryland's vacation season.

The Governor and Mrs. McKeldin will be guests of the Mountain Top Chamber of Commerce. That's one of the organizations collaborating to promote autumn attractions in the Garrett County mountains and recreation areas.

He will take a look at the country's first tree farm, 10 miles from Oakland near the Potomac River. While there he will present a plaque and citation to Virgil Steyer, owner of the farm on which state foresters will apply proven conservation methods to stimulate the growth of trees.

The dedication also calls for wood sawing and chopping, rail splitting and horse-pulling contests.

The date, Oct. 5, opens a two-week period labeled "Autumn Glory Time" by county groups and the State Department of Information. The Deep Creek Lake Promotion Council and Garrett County Turkey Growers Association also are lending a hand.

The Mountain Top chamber has chosen Miss Mary Edith Glodfelty, high school student from Accident, to boost the project with television and other appearances. Her father, Kermit Glodfelty, is president of the turkeymen's association.

This will be the third year for "Autumn Glory Time." Director Earle R. Poorbaugh of the information department said it already has extended the Western Maryland vacation season six weeks.

He said there will be special turkey dinners, turkey shoots and folk dancing, especially on Oct. 11 when excursion trains run from Baltimore and Washington to Oakland.

Dr. Russell Cook Honored By National Dental Group

Dr. J. Russell Cook, The Dingle, was awarded the highest honor in American dentistry this week when the American College of Dentists elevated him to the degree of fellow of the College.

The well-known Cumberland dentist received the honor at the 94th annual sessions of the American Dental Association Sunday night in Cleveland, Ohio.

The college, an honorary organization, conferred degrees on a total of 158 dentists in the United States, Canada, France and Australia. Some 10,000 dentists attended the national association's meeting.

Dr. Cook, who has been in practice here for 30 years, took his bachelor's degree at St. John's College in Annapolis, then completed his studies at the University of Maryland Dental School in Baltimore.

He entered practice here in 1923.

He is a past president of the Allegany - Garrett County Dental Association and of the Maryland Dental Society, and is a member of the board of directors of the Second National Bank.

Also attending the convention in Cleveland were Dr. Albert C. Cook, Dr. John Gorman and Dr. Milton S. Granet, local dentists.

Two Men's Wills Probated In Court

Wills of two county men who died this month have been admitted to probate in Allegany County Orphans Court.

The will of Frank H. Duckworth, of Barton, who died Saturday at the age of 77, named his nephew, Edward Thomas Klipstein, as executor of his estate.

Duckworth left his dwelling house and lot near Dogwood Flat in Barton to his sister-in-law, Mary P. Klipstein, who also was bequeathed all of the furniture, goods and effects. All the rest of the estate was left in trust to Raymond F. Duckworth, Washington, a nephew, for perpetual care and maintenance of his burial lot in Laurel Hill Cemetery, Barton.

Stanley Edwin Grim, who was 68 when he died September 4, left his entire estate to his widow, Mrs. Bessie B. Grim, 145 East College Avenue, Frostburg. She was named executrix of the estate. The will was dated May 8, 1951.

Schmutz Moves To New Office

The Carl F. Schmutz Agency for Fire and Casualty Insurance and Real Estate has moved into new quarters at 16 South Liberty Street.

Schmutz, who has been in the insurance business for the past 33 years, has maintained an office on the second floor of the McCleave Building, corner of Baltimore and Liberty streets since 1929.

The modern office, which has 931 feet of floor space, is completely air-conditioned, has fluorescent lighting, modern office equipment and three tone walls. The first-floor quarters are predominantly trimmed in mahogany including a reception corner with modern furniture in the front of the office.

Adding to the beauty of the two-story brick building is a stone offset in the front which contains flowers and shrubbery. Schmutz is a member of the Maryland Association of Insurance Agents, the Cumberland Real Estate Board, and is past president of the Allegany-Garrett County Insurance Association.

Four longtime employes, Elizabeth McCullough, Perry Rosenmerkel, William C. Harrison and Joseph Kotschenreuther, are still with the company at its new location.

Good Engineering Can Curb Disastrous Fires In Homes

Good engineering would have prevented half of the fires that attacked 336,000 homes in the United States in 1952, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker said in announcing plans for Fire Prevention Week here October 4-10.

The chief explained that by "good engineering" he was referring to the avoidance of four structural hazards that the National Fire Protection Association says cause at least half of all home fires. Now, when home owners are spending billions to bring their homes up-to-date, said Parker, is the time to make our homes structurally fire-safe.

Chief Parker said the four structural hazards are:

Heating plants—Make sure the heating plant is properly installed with adequate safeguards. Enclose the heating plant in fire-resistant walls. Cover the joists above the furnace with plaster, gypsum board, asbestos or some similar fire-resistant material.

Chimneys—Have a mason check the chimney to be sure it is properly built and in good condition. The chimney should rest on the ground upon a good foundation. Don't allow wood work to be in contact with the chimney. Be sure the chimney is free-standing, not supported by or lending support to the house. Clean the heating plant and the chimney at least once a year.

Roofs—Make sure the roof is of a spark-resistant material. When you remodel, recover a weather-worn combustible wood shingle roof with asphalt shingles or a similar fire-retardant roof covering.

Wiring system—Many existing wiring systems originally were designed for operation of electrical lights and small appliances and are not adequate for dishwashers, ranges, ironers, freezers, and dryers or other large appliances. Make sure the wiring system is of sufficient capacity to take care of present electrical needs. Have plenty of outlets installed and properly located to eliminate long extension cords.

"Let's not forget that 12,535 people died in fire in 1952," he said, "and more than half of them in their own homes. Elimination of these four structural hazards, plus a little care, will save most of these lives."
